God And Realism:

God and Realism Peter Byrne, 2017-07-05 Peter Byrne's study of God and realism offers a critical survey of issues surrounding the realist interpretation of theism and theology. Byrne presents a general argument for interpreting the intent of talk about God in a realist fashion and argues that judging the intent of theistic discourse should be the primary object of concern in the philosophy of religion. He considers a number of important ideas and thinkers supporting global anti-realism and finds them all wanting. After the refutation of global anti-realism, Byrne considers a number of important arguments in favour of the notion that there is something specific to talk about God which invites an anti-realist interpretation of it. Here he looks at verificationism, the writings of Don Cupitt, forms of radical feminist theory and the ideas of D. Z. Phillips. The book concludes with a discussion of whether theology as a discursive academic discipline can be interpreted realistically. Offering a comprehensive survey of the topic and of the leading literature in the field, this book presents key arguments for exploring issues brought to bear upon the realism debate. Students and scholars of philosophy of religion, philosophy of language, metaphysics, theory of knowledge and theology will find this an invaluable new contribution to the field. Realism and

Christian Faith Andrew Moore, 2003-03-27 The question of realism—that is, whether God exists independently of human beings—is central to much contemporary theology and church life. It is also an important topic in the philosophy of religion. This book discusses the relationship between realism and Christian faith in a thorough and systematic way and uses the resources of both philosophy and theology to argue for a Christocentric narrative realism. Many previous defences of realism have attempted to model Christian belief on scientific theory, but Moore argues that this comparison is misleading and inadequate on both theological and philosophical grounds. In dialogue with speech act theory and critiques of realism by both non-realists and Wittgensteinians, a new account of the meaningfulness of Christian language is proposed. Moore uses this to develop a regulative conception of realism according to which God's independent reality is shown principally in Christ and then through Christian practices and the lives of Christians. Is the Kingdom of God Realism? Eli Stanley Jones, 2018

Incarnational Realism Travis E. Ables, 2013-07-18 In the last half of the 20th century a consensus emerged that Christian theology in the Western tradition had failed to produce a viable doctrine of the Holy Spirit and that Augustine's trinitarian theology bore the blame for much of that failure. This book offers a fresh rereading of Western trinitarian theology to better understand the logic of its pneumatology. Ables studies the pneumatologies of Augustine and Karl Barth and argues that the vision of the doctrine of the Spirit in these theologians should be understood as a way of talking about participating in the mystery of God as a performance of the life of Christ. He claims that for both theologians, trinitarian doctrine encapsulates the grammar of the divine self-giving in history. The function of pneumatology in particular is to articulate the human reception and enactment of God's self-giving as itself part of the act of God; this self-involving logic is the special grammar of the doctrine of the Holy Spirit. Realism and Religion Michael Scott, 2017-09-29 This book draws together a distinguished group of philosophers and theologians to present new thinking on realism and religion The religious realism antirealism debate concerns the questions of God's independence from human beings the nature of religious truth and our access to religious truths Although both philosophers and theologians have written on these subjects there has been little sustained investigation into these issues akin to that found in comparable areas of research such as ethics or the philosophy of science In addition the absence of any agreed approach to the problem underlines both the need for fresh thought on it and the fruitfulness of this area for further research The editors introduction sets the context of the realism debate traces connections amongst the essays which follow and proposes lines for future development and enquiry The contributors present a variety of contrasting positions on key issues in the religious realism debate and each opens up new and important themes Gordon Kaufman Peter Lipton and Simon Blackburn provide the opening chapters and the context for the collection Alexander Bird John Hare Graham Oppy and Nick Trakakis Merold Westphal and John Webster explore topics that are central to the debate This volume of original essays will both introduce newcomers to the field and suggest new lines of research for those already familiar with it

Realism and Christian Faith Andrew Moore, 2003-03-27 The question of realism that is whether God exists independently of human beings is central to much contemporary theology and church life It is also an important topic in the philosophy of religion This book discusses the relationship between realism and Christian faith in a thorough and systematic way and uses the resources of both philosophy and theology to argue for a Christocentric narrative realism Many previous defences of realism have attempted to model Christian belief on scientific theory but Moore argues that this comparison is misleading and inadequate on both theological and philosophical grounds In dialogue with speech act theory and critiques of realism by both non realists and Wittgensteinians a new account of the meaningfulness of Christian language is proposed Moore uses this to develop a regulative conception of realism according to which God's independent reality is shown principally in Christ and then through Christian practices and the lives of Christians

The Realist Hope Christopher J. Insole, 2016-02-24 Taking into consideration analytical continental historical post modern and contemporary thinkers Insole provides a powerful defence of a realist construal of religious discourse Insole argues that anti realism tends towards absolutism and hubris Where truth is exhausted by our beliefs about truth there is no conceptual space for doubting those beliefs only a conception of truth as absolute given and accessible can guarantee the very humility sense of fallibility and sensitivity to difference that the anti realist rightly values Cutting through some of the tired and well rehearsed debates in this area Insole provides a fresh perspective on approaches influenced by Wittgenstein Kant and apophatic theology The defence of realism offered is unusual in being both analytically precise and theologically sensitive with a view to some of the wider and less well explored cultural ethical and political implications of the debate

God the Created Benjamin J. Chicka, 2022-02-01 In God the Created Benjamin Chicka develops a method of inquiry and program for theology that he labels pragmatic constructive realism While influenced most heavily by American pragmatism especially that of Charles S

Peirce Chicka s method draws upon a variety of sources ranging from Plato to Karl Popper Paul Tillich and the field of biosemiotics Chicka presents pragmatic constructive realism as a means of moving past binary debates between realism and antirealism in both philosophy and theology and its fruitfulness is displayed by examining the philosophical theologies of John Cobb and Robert Cummings Neville The result of that engagement is a novel hypothesis about God that embraces legitimate criticisms of both process theology Cobb and ground of being theology Neville while integrating insights from both ways of thinking God s transcendence and immanence indeterminacy and determinacy are fully affirmed The entire argument serves as an example of why a fallible and pluralistic form of theology one that embraces and learns from difference instead of trying to eliminate it is important for the future of theology

Naturalism and Realism in Kant's Ethics Frederick Rauscher,2015-11-26 In this comprehensive assessment of Kant s metaethics Frederick Rauscher shows that Kant is a moral idealist rather than a moral realist and argues that Kant s ethics does not require metaphysical commitments that go beyond nature Rauscher frames the argument in the context of Kant s non naturalistic philosophical method and the character of practical reason as action oriented Reason operates entirely within nature and apparently non natural claims God free choice and value are shown to be heuristic and to reflect reason s ordering of nature The book shows how Kant hesitates between a transcendental moral idealism with an empirical moral realism and a complete moral idealism Examining every aspect of Kant s ethics from the categorical imperative to freedom and value this volume argues that Kant s focus on human moral agency explains morality as a part of nature It will appeal to academic researchers and advanced students of Kant German idealism and intellectual history

The Status of Values in New Realism Daniel Luther Evans,1923

D.Z. Phillips' Contemplative Philosophy of Religion Andy F. Sanders,2016-05-13 This collection presents a critical discussion and exploration of the late D Z Phillips contemplative approach in the philosophy of religion What are the main characteristics of this ground breaking approach which is inspired by thinkers like Kierkegaard and Wittgenstein and meant as a serious critical alternative to the mainstream way of doing philosophy of religion What is its aim if it is deliberately avoiding apology and defence of faith How does Phillips approach relate to systematic historical and empirical theology and is it really as neutral as he claims it to be Or is he perhaps a certain kind of theologian What are the implications of his contemplative philosophy for central issues of religious life today such as petitionary prayer the hope of eternal life and radical religious diversity The essays of six distinguished scholars from five different nations critically and sympathetically address these questions and are responded to by Phillips in essays of his own written briefly before his sudden death in July 2006

The Realism-Antirealism Debate in the Age of Alternative Logics Shahid Rahman,Giuseppe Primiero,Mathieu Marion,2011-09-22 The relation between logic and knowledge has been at the heart of a lively debate since the 1960s On the one hand the epistemic approaches based their formal arguments in the mathematics of Brouwer and intuitionistic logic Following Michael Dummett they started to call themselves antirealists Others persisted with the formal background of the Frege Tarski tradition where Cantorian set theory is linked via model theory to classical logic Jaakko Hintikka tried to unify both traditions by means of what is now known as explicit epistemic logic Under this view epistemic contents are introduced into the object language as operators yielding propositions from propositions rather than as metalogical constraints on the notion of inference The Realism Antirealism debate has thus had three players classical logicians intuitionists and explicit epistemic logicians The editors of the present volume believe that in the age of Alternative Logics where manifold developments in logic happen at a breathtaking pace this debate should be revisited Contributors to this volume happily took on this challenge and responded with new approaches to the debate from both the explicit and the implicit epistemic point of view

Reason in the Service of Faith Paul Helm, 2023-03-01 Paul Helm is a distinguished philosopher with particular interests in the philosophy of religion His work covers some of the most important aspects of the field as it has developed in the last thirty years with particular contributions to metaphysics religious epistemology and philosophical theology In celebration of Helm's life's work Reason in the Service of Faith brings together a range of his essays which reflect these central concerns of his thought Over thirty of Helm's selected essays and four unpublished articles are gathered into five parts Metaphilosophical Issues Action Change and Personal Identity Epistemology God and Creation Providence and Prayer The volume is prefaced with a short editorial introduction and ends with an extensive bibliography of Helm's published works Demonstrating the important connection between Helm's theological and philosophical interests across his body of work this collection is a remarkable resource for scholars of religion philosophy and theology

In Face of Reality Thomas A. James, 2011-04-01 This study of the work of noted liberal theologian Gordon Kaufman tracks his career from his first published book Relativism Knowledge and Faith 1960 through his 2006 book Jesus and Creativity in light of recent conversations about divine action and modern scientific knowledge James interprets Kaufman's mature position as a sophisticated reconstruction of divine activity that makes use of recent scientific theory and its naturalistic assumptions in order to revitalize a theocentric frame of reference rooted in classical theological tradition Though there are costs to be paid in the construction of a theology of radical naturalism particularly with respect to the relation between divine action and the human good Kaufman's program offers a distinctive way forward After developing a critical analysis of the limitations and possibilities of Kaufman's mature position James suggests that a christological reconsideration of the meaning of human flourishing offers the prospect of an even more radically naturalistic and theocentric theology

Critical Realism and Spirituality Mervyn Hartwig, Jamie Morgan, 2013-03-01 Critical Realism and Spirituality contextualizes delineates explores and critiques the turn to spirituality and religion in critical realism which has been under way since the mid 1990s as well as telling its story It provides incisive discussion and analysis of the following broad questions How does critical realism allow and facilitate the resolution of problems in the area of comparative religion Can it help you to justify your own faith or belief What are the implications of the new philosophy of meta Reality for traditional religious studies and how we organize and conduct our lives A range of distinguished critical realists theological critical realists and scholars working with related approaches Roland Benedikter Roy Bhaskar Terry Eagleton Mervyn Hartwig Alister McGrath Markus Molz Jamie Morgan Andrew Wright and others bring their talents to bear on this task While their personal beliefs span the whole spectrum from theism to atheism they are united by the desire to open up a space for dialogue of one kind or another intra faith inter faith and or extra faith promoting mutual understanding respect and the unity and capability for collective emancipatory action on a global scale that humanity is so sorely in need of This book is therefore essential reading for students and academics alike in Religious Studies Theology and Philosophy

Person, Personhood, and the Humanity of Christ Hakbong Kim, 2021-05-19 The quest for an understanding of humanness has been significant As the ways in which we recognize and define our human being have significant impact wide ranging discussions and questions about the human have taken place with significant theoretical and practical implications In Person Personhood and the Humanity of Christ Hakbong Kim explores Thomas F Torrance s critiques of the dualist and individualistic views concerning human beings in the history of philosophy and theology This book sheds important light on Torrance s understanding of humans as persons in relation the trinitarian personhood as the ontological foundation for human personhood and the humanity of Christ as key to the personalization necessary for a new moral ethical and social life This presents a Christocentric anthropology and ethics which focuses on Christ s ongoing reconciling and humanizing ministry for us
