Discovering the Global Past William Bruce Wheeler, Franklin Doeringer, Merry E. Wiesner, Kenneth R. Curtis, 2011-03-14 This successful world history reader in the popular DISCOVERING series contains a six part pedagogical framework that guides readers through the process of historical inquiry and explanation Each chapter is organized within the same pedagogical framework The Problem Background The Method The Evidence Questions to Consider and Epilogue The text emphasizes historical study as interpretation rather than memorization of data The Fourth Edition integrates new documents and revised coverage throughout while the comparative chapters contribute to a more thorough and balanced examination of global history

African Voices of the Global Past Trevor R. Getz, 2018-04-17 This book focuses on retelling many of the important episodes in the global past c 1500 present from African points of view It discusses the events and trends of global significance the Atlantic slave system the industrial revolution World Wars I and II and decolonization

Discovering the Global Past: To 1650 Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, 2006 The primary goal of this text is to allow students enrolled in world history courses to do history in the same way as historians do to examine a group of original sources to answer questions about the past The unique structure of this book clusters primary sources around a set of historical questions that students are asked to solve The text also prompts students to actually analyze a wide variety of authentic primary source material to make inferences and to draw conclusions in much the same way that historians do It is designed to accommodate any format of the World History course from the small lecture discussion class at a liberal arts or community college to the large lecture with discussions led by teaching assistants at a sizable university GQ115

The Global Anglophone Anjuli I. Gunaratne, Jeffrey Lawrence, 2025-09-26 This book addresses the rise of the concept of the Global Anglophone in contemporary literary studies both as an intellectual category and as a field designation Moving beyond traditional postcolonial frameworks it investigates how this emerging paradigm is reshaping our understanding of modern English language literature across geographical boundaries Distinguished scholars from diverse regions of the English speaking world reveal how the Global Anglophone has evolved from a subset of postcolonial studies into a comprehensive framework for examining modern literary production in English Through rigorous analysis and argumentation the contributors demonstrate how this conceptual transformation reflects broader changes in academic field structures job markets and our understanding of world literature Essential reading for literary scholars The Global Anglophone interrogates the future of English literary studies while offering valuable insights into the shifting landscape of contemporary academia It challenges conventional categorizations and proposes new ways of understanding the complex relationships among language literature and global cultural exchange The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Interventions Journal of Postcolonial Studies

Anthropology's Global Histories Rainer F. Buschmann, 2008-10-31 Anthropologists and world historians make strange bedfellows Although the latter frequently employ anthropological methods in their

descriptions of cross cultural exchanges the former have raised substantial reservations about global approaches to history Fearing loss of specificity anthropologists object to the effacing qualities of techniques employed by world historians this despite the fact that anthropology itself was a global comparative enterprise in the nineteenth century Rainer Buschmann here seeks to recover some of anthropology s global flavor by viewing its history in Oceania through the notion of the ethnographic frontier the furthestmost limits of the anthropologically known regions of the Pacific The colony of German New Guinea 1884 1914 presents an ideal example of just such a contact zone Colonial administrators there were drawn to approaches partially inspired by anthropology Anthropologists and museum officials exploited this interest by preparing large scale expeditions to German New Guinea Buschmann explores the resulting interactions between German colonial officials resident ethnographic collectors and indigenous peoples arguing that all were instrumental in the formation of anthropological theory He shows how changes in collecting aims and methods helped shift ethnographic study away from its focus on material artifacts to a broader consideration of indigenous culture He also shows how ethnological collecting often a competitive affair could become politicized and connect to national concerns Finally he places the German experience in the broader context of Euro American anthropology Anthropology s Global Histories will interest students and scholars of anthropology history world history and Pacific studies Global Change Research United States. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, 1992 Proceedings of the International Symposium held in Nanning, Guangxi, China. , The ^AOxford Handbook of the Jesuits Ines G. Zupanov, 2019-05-15 Through its missionary pedagogical and scientific accomplishments the Society of Jesus known as the Jesuits became one of the first institutions with a truly global reach in practice and intention The Oxford Handbook of the Jesuits offers a critical assessment of the Order helping to chart new directions for research at a time when there is renewed interest in Jesuit studies In particular the Handbook examines their resilient dynamism and innovative spirit grounded in Catholic theology and Christian spirituality but also profoundly rooted in society and cultural institutions It also explores Jesuit contributions to education the arts politics and theology among others Global History with Chinese Characteristics Manuel Perez-Garcia, 2020-11-02 This open access book considers a pivotal era in Chinese history from a global perspective This book s insight into Chinese and international history offers timely and challenging perspectives on initiatives like Chinese characteristics The New Silk Road and One Belt One Road in broad historical context Global History with Chinese Characteristics analyses the feeble state capacity of Qing China questioning the so called High Qing sh ng q ng era s economic prosperity as the political system was set into a power paradox or supremacy dilemma This is a new thesis introduced by the author demonstrating that interventionist states entail weak governance Macao and Marseille as a new case study aims to compare Mediterranean and South China markets to provide new insights into both modern eras rising trade networks non official institutions and interventionist impulses of autocratic states such as China s Qing and Spain s Bourbon empires The Road to Maxwell's

Demon Meir Hemmo, Orly R. Shenker, 2012-09-20 Time asymmetric phenomena are successfully predicted by statistical mechanics Yet the foundations of this theory are surprisingly shaky Its explanation for the ease of mixing milk with coffee is incomplete and even implies that un mixing them should be just as easy In this book the authors develop a new conceptual foundation for statistical mechanics that addresses this difficulty Explaining the notions of macrostates probability measurement memory and the arrow of time in statistical mechanics they reach the startling conclusion that Maxwell s Demon the famous perpetuum mobile is consistent with the fundamental physical laws Mathematical treatments are avoided where possible and instead the authors use novel diagrams to illustrate the text This is a fascinating book for graduate students and researchers interested in the foundations and philosophy of physics Thinking Differently About Cosmopolitanism Marianna Papastephanou, 2015-11-17 Cosmopolitanism and relevant notions are widely discussed in philosophy of education and educational studies more generally There is a vast literature on the topic that often invites conceptual discussion and requires some work in the direction of crucial clarifications Thinking Differently About Cosmopolitanism argues that a new conception of cosmopolitanism is needed and addresses this need by formulating a conception of cosmopolitanism as an eccentric ethico political ideal Such cosmopolitanism is eccentric in the sense that it decenters the self it cultivates centrifugal virtues and it questions the concern for the globally enriched self In this book Papastephanou lays the foundation for a more refined conception of the topic and provides a fruitful interdisciplinary discussion of its relation to globalization Eurocentricism developmentalism and modernity Global Change and the Earth System Will Steffen, Regina Angelina Sanderson, Peter D. Tyson, Jill Jäger, Pamela A. Matson, Berrien Moore III, Frank Oldfield, Katherine Richardson, Hans-Joachim Schellnhuber, Billie L. Turner, Robert J. Wasson, 2005-12-29 The interactions between environmental change and human societies have a long complex history spanning many millennia but these have changed fundamentally in the last century Human activities are now so pervasive and profound that they are altering the Earth in ways which threaten the very life support system upon which humans depend This book describes what is known about the Earth System and the impact of changes caused by humans It considers the consequences of these changes with respect to the stability of the Earth System and the well being of humankind as well as exploring future paths towards Earth System science in support of global sustainability Time and Globalization Paul Huebener, Susie O'Brien, Tony Porter, Liam Stockdale, Yanqiu Rachel Zhou, 2018-11-09 Both academic and popular representations of globalization critical or celebratory have tended to conceptualize it primarily in spatial terms rather than simultaneously temporal ones However time in both its ideational and material dimensions has played an important role in mediating and shaping the directions courses and outcomes of globalization Focusing on the intersection of time and globalization this book aims to create an interdisciplinary dialogue between the largely separated respective literatures on each of these themes This dialogue will be of both theoretical and empirical significance since many urgent issues of contemporary human affairs from large epochal problems such as climate change to everyday struggles with the dynamics of social acceleration involve a complex interplay between temporality and globalization. A critical understanding of the relationship between time and globalization will not only facilitate innovative thinking about globalization; it will also foster our imagination of alternatives that may lead to more socially just and sustainable futures. This innovative collection illustrates the theoretical benefits of bridging time with globalization and also exemplifies the methodological strengths of engaging in cutting edge interdisciplinary scholarship to better understand the changing economic, social, political, cultural, and ecological dynamics in this globalizing world. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Globalizations.

Global Trade and the Transformation of Consumer Cultures Beverly Lemire, 2018-01-11 The oceanic explorations of the 1490s led to countless material innovations worldwide and caused profound ruptures. Beverly Lemire explores the rise of key commodities across the globe and charts how cosmopolitan consumption emerged as the most distinctive feature of material life after 1500 as people and things became ever more entangled. She shows how wider populations gained access to more new goods than ever before and through industrious labour and smuggling acquired goods that heightened comfort, redefined leisure, and widened access to fashion. Consumption systems shaped by race and occupation also emerged. Lemire reveals how material cosmopolitanism flourished not simply in great port cities like Lima, Istanbul, or Canton but increasingly in rural settlements and coastal enclaves. The book uncovers the social, economic, and cultural forces shaping consumer behaviour as well as the ways in which consumer goods shaped and defined empires and communities.

The City of Blue and White Anne Gerritsen, 2020-05-07 We think of blue and white porcelain as the ultimate global commodity throughout East and Southeast Asia, the Indian Ocean, including the African coasts, the Americas, and Europe. Consumers desired Chinese porcelains. Many of these were made in the kilns in and surrounding Jingdezhen. Found in almost every part of the world, Jingdezhen's porcelains had a far-reaching impact on global consumption, which in turn shaped the local manufacturing processes. The imperial kilns of Jingdezhen produced ceramics for the court, while nearby private kilns manufactured for the global market. In this beautifully illustrated study, Anne Gerritsen asks how this kiln complex could manufacture such quality, quantity, and variety. She explores how objects tell the story of the past, connecting texts with objects, objects with natural resources, and skilled hands with the shapes and designs they produced. Through the manufacture and consumption of Jingdezhen's porcelains, she argues, China participated in the early modern world.

The Power of Scale: A Global History Approach John Bodley, 2015-06-01 Throughout history the natural human inclination to accumulate social power has led to growth and scale increases that benefit the few at the expense of the many John Bodley looks at global history through the lens of power and scale theory and draws on history economics anthropology and sociology to demonstrate how individuals have been the agents of social change not social classes Filled with tables and data to support his argument this book considers how increases in scale necessarily lead to an increasingly small elite gaining disproportionate power making democratic control more difficult to achieve and maintain
