Ecology And History The Greening Of The West Since 188:

Nature Peter Coates, 1998 Beginning with Roman times Coates lifts the veil off nature and reveals the ideological and material factors that have influenced human perceptions of attitudes toward and uses of nature notably religion and ethics science technology economics gender and ethnicity Resource Publication ,1980 Annotated Bibliography for Aquatic Resource Management of the Upper Colorado River Ecosystem ,1980 The development of water and other natural resources in the Upper Colorado River Basin will continue to have an impact on the ecology of this unique ecosystem Numerous water development projects have been completed on the river others are in progress and still others are contemplated to provide water necessary for municipalities irrigated agriculture and energy production Although much information is already available on this river it is widely scattered in the published literature and unpublished reports of various state and federal agencies This annotated bibliography contains 1 109 published or readily available unpublished references that should be useful in decisions regarding effective management of the Upper Colorado River Basin Selected key words were assigned to all references and indexed for ease of locating references on particular subjects The Biology of Sea Turtles, Volume II Peter L. Lutz, John A. Musick, Jeanette Wyneken, 2002-12-17 The success of the first volume of The Biology of Sea Turtles revealed a need for broad but comprehensive reviews of major recent advances in sea turtle biology Biology of Sea Turtles Volume II emphasizes practical aspects of biology that relate to sea turtle management and to changes in marine and coastal ecosystems These topics i Resource Publication - United States, Fish and Wildlife Service ,1975 Annotated Bibliography for Aquatic Resource Management of the Upper Colorado River Ecosystem Richard S. Wydoski, 1980 The Ribbon of Green Robert H. Webb, S. A. Leake, Raymond M. Turner, 2007 Woody wetlands constitute a relatively small but extremely important part of the landscape in the southwestern United States These riparian habitats support more than one third of the region's vascular plant species are home to a variety of wildlife and provide essential havens for dozens of migratory animals Because of their limited size and disproportionately high biological value the goal of protecting wetland environments frequently takes priority over nearly all other habitat types In The Ribbon of Green hydrologists Robert H Webb and Stanley A Leake and botanist Raymond M Turner examine the factors that affect the stability of woody riparian vegetation one of the largest components of riparian areas Such factors include the diversion of surface water flood control and the excessive use of groundwater Combining repeat photography with historical context and information on species composition they document more than 140 years of change Contrary to the common assumption of widespread losses of this type of ecosystem the authors show that vegetation has increased on many river reaches as a result of flood control favorable climatic conditions and large winter floods that encourage ecosystem disturbance germination and the establishment of species in newly generated openings Bringing well documented and accessible insights to the ecological study of wetlands this book will influence our perception of change in riparian ecosystems and how riparian restoration is practiced in the Southwest and it will serve as an important reference in courses on plant ecology riparian ecology and ecosystem management
