History Wars and The Classroom Tony Taylor, Robert Guyver, 2012-03-01 The book is entitled History Wars in the Classroom Global Perspectives and examines how ten separate countries have experienced debates and disputes over the contested nature of the subject for example the Black Armband and Whitewash factions in Australia who adopt opposingly celebratory or denigratory views of Australian history especially when evaluating episodes of poor racial relations There are also tensions between traditional patriotic views of history teaching and reformed or new history There are issues of political control of the curriculum and parallel issues of who writes it very topical in England at the moment over two expat big picture historians who work at Harvard and Columbia Niall Ferguson and Simon Schama

Education and Society, 2004

Theorizing Historical Consciousness Peter C. Seixas, 2004-01-01 Our understanding of the past shapes our sense of the present and the future this is historical consciousness While academic history public history and the study of collective memory are thriving enterprises there has been only sparse investigation of historical consciousness itself in a way that relates it to the policy questions it raises in the present With Theorizing Historical Consciousness Peter Seixas has brought together a diverse group of international scholars to address the problem of historical consciousness from the disciplinary perspectives of history historiography philosophy collective memory psychology and history education Historical consciousness has serious implications for international relations reparations claims fiscal initiatives immigration and indeed almost every contentious arena of public policy collective identity and personal experience Current policy debates are laced with mutually incompatible historical analogies and identity politics generate conflicting historical accounts Never has the idea of a straightforward one history that fits all been less workable Theorizing Historical Consciousness sets various theoretical approaches to the study of historical consciousness side by side enabling us to chart the future study of how people understand the past

History's Children Anna Clark, 2008 What is it about Australian history Students dismiss the subject for being boring while politicians and concerned parents fret over their lack of historical knowledge The classroom has become the battleground of the history wars yet no one ever asks the children what they think about Australian history and what they like or don't about learning it Through interviews with around 250 Australian students from a wide variety of schools Anna Clark asks how teachers and students teach and learn Australian history This book is a lively and often surprising read that throws all kinds of challenges to students teachers and indeed politicians
