Farm To Factory Womens Letters 1830 186:

U.S. History As Women's History Linda K. Kerber, Alice Kessler-Harris, Kathryn Kish Sklar, 2000-11-09 This outstanding collection of fifteen original essays represents innovative work by some of the most influential scholars in the field of women's history. Covering a broad sweep of history from colonial to contemporary times and ranging over the fields of legal, social, political, and cultural history, this book according to its editors intrudes into regions of the American historical narrative from which women have been excluded or in which gender relations were not thought to play a part. The book is dedicated to pioneering women's historian Gerda Lerner whose work inspired so many of the contributors and it includes a bibliography of her works. The contributors include Linda K. Kerber on women and the obligations of citizenship; Kathryn Kish Sklar on two political cultures in the Progressive Era; Linda Gordon on women, maternalism, and welfare in the twentieth century; Alice Kessler-Harris on the Social Security Amendments of 1939; Nancy F. Cott on marriage and the public order in the late nineteenth century; Nell Irvin Painter on soul murder as a legacy of slavery; Judith Walzer Leavitt on Typhoid Mary and early twentieth-century public health; Estelle B. Freedman on women's institutions and the career of Miriam Van Waters; William H. Chafe on how the personal translates into the political in the careers of Eleanor Roosevelt and Allard Lowenstein; Jane Sherron De Hart on women, politics, and power in the contemporary United States; Barbara Sicherman on reading; Little Women; Joyce Antler on the Emma Lazarus Federation's efforts to promulgate women's history; Amy Swerdlow on Left feminist peace politics in the cold war; Ruth Rosen on the origins of contemporary American feminism among daughters of the fifties; Darlene Clark Hine on the making of Black Women in America. An Historical Encyclopedia The Sea Captain's Wife: A True Story of Love, Race, and War in the Nineteenth Century Martha Hodes, 2011-02-07 A finalist for the Lincoln Prize, The Sea Captain's Wife comes surprisingly and movingly alive. Tina Jordan, Entertainment Weekly Award-winning historian, Martha Hodes brings us into the extraordinary world of Eunice Connolly. Born white and poor in New England, Eunice moved from countryside to factory city, worked in the mills, then followed her husband to the Deep South. When the Civil War came, Eunice's brothers joined the Union army while her husband fought and died for the Confederacy. Back in New England, a widow and the mother of two, Eunice barely got by as a washerwoman struggling with crushing depression. Four years later, she fell in love with a black sea captain, married him, and moved to his home in the West Indies. Following every lead in a collection of 500 family letters, Hodes traced Eunice's footsteps and met descendants along the way. This story of misfortune and defiance takes up grand themes of American history: opportunity and racism, war and freedom, and illuminates the lives of ordinary people in the past. A Library Journal Best Book of the Year and a selection of the Book of the Month Club, Literary Guild, and Quality Paperback Book Club. Slavery in White and Black Elizabeth Fox-Genovese, Eugene D. Genovese, 2008-10-27 Southern slaveholders proudly pronounced themselves orthodox Christians who accepted responsibility for the welfare of the people who worked for them. They proclaimed that their slaves enjoyed a better and more secure life.

than any laboring class in the world Now did it not follow that the lives of laborers of all races across the world would be immeasurably improved by their enslavement In the Old South but in no other slave society a doctrine emerged among leading clergymen politicians and intellectuals Slavery in the Abstract which declared enslavement the best possible condition for all labor regardless of race They joined the Socialists whom they studied in believing that the free labor system wracked by worsening class warfare was collapsing A vital question to what extent did the people of the several social classes of the South accept so extreme a doctrine That question lies at the heart of this book

Transcribing Class and Gender Carole Srole, 2012-03-19 Examines the historical roots of clerical work and the role that class and gender played in determining professional status

The Roots of Rural Capitalism Christopher Clark, 1990 Between the late colonial period and the Civil War the countryside of the American northeast was largely transformed Rural New England changed from a society of independent farmers relatively isolated from international markets into a capitalist economy closely linked to the national market an economy in which much farming and manufacturing output was produced by wage labor Using the Connecticut Valley as an example The Roots of Rural Capitalism demonstrates how this important change came about Christopher Clark joins the active debate on the transition to capitalism with a fresh interpretation that integrates the insights of previous studies with the results of his detailed research Largely rejecting the assumption of recent scholars that economic change can be explained principally in terms of markets he constructs a broader social history of the rural economy and traces the complex interactions of social structure household strategies gender relations and cultural values that propelled the countryside from one economic system to another Above all he shows that people of rural Massachusetts were not passive victims of changes forced upon them but actively created a new economic world as they tried to secure their livelihoods under changing demographic and economic circumstances The emergence of rural capitalism Clark maintains was not the result of a single transition rather it was an accretion of new institutions and practices that occurred over two generations and in two broad chronological phases It is his singular contribution to demonstrate the coexistence of a family based household economy persisting well into the nineteenth century and the market oriented system of production and exchange that is generally held to have emerged full blown by the eighteenth century He is adept at describing the clash of values sustaining both economies and the ways in which the rural household based economy through a process he calls involution ultimately gave way to a new order His analysis of the distinctive role of rural women in this transition constitutes a strong new element in the study of gender as a factor in the economic social and cultural shifts of the period Sophisticated in argument and engaging in presentation this book will be recognized as a major contribution to the history of capitalism and society in nineteenth century America

The Sea Captain's Wife Martha Elizabeth Hodes, 2006 What a terrific book I could hardly put it down A story of triumph over adversity James McPherson Award winning historian Hodes presents the true extraordinary story of Eunice Connolly a woman whose misfortune and defiance make up the grand themes of American
