Farming The Frontier:

Farming the Frontier James R. Gibson, 2011-11-01 In its rich detail this book provides the first comprehensive history of the agricultural development of the Oregon Country Based on extensive research in Hudson's Bay Company documents missionary records and military and private papers this book traces the crucial transition of the Pacific Northwest from a fur trading outpost to an agricultural settlement a process which also saw the shift from British to American jurisdiction in the area The Farmer's Frontier, 1959 The Farmer's Last Frontier, Agriculture, 1860-1897 Fred Albert Shannon, 1945 The literature of the subject p 379 414 Beekmantown, New York Philip L. White, 2011-03-15 This volume reports in detail how a particular portion of the American wilderness developed into a settled farming community To fully comprehend the history of the American people in the early national period an understanding of this transformation from forest to community and the pattern of life within such communities where the vast majority of the people live is essential Three major conclusions emerge from Philip L White's study of Beekmantown New York First the economic advantages of the frontier attracted a first generation of settlers relatively high in social and economic status but the disappearance of frontier conditions brought a second generation of settlers appreciably lower in status Second White rejects the romantic notion that the frontier fostered equality and argues instead that the frontier's economic opportunities fostered inequality Finally in contrast to revisionist arguments he affirms that in Beekmantown the Jacksonian period does indeed warrant characterization as the era of the common man This book represents a model in community history the narrative is full of human interest the scholarship is prodigious the applications are universal Farming the Frontier Carolyn Podruchny, McGill University. Department of Geography, 1990 The farmers' frontier, 1865-1900 Gilbert Courtland Fite, 1966 Writing Off the Rural West Parkland Institute, 2001-09 This collection reveals the situation in rural Canada in a new light but more than that it shows us that the ability to renew our rural communities remains within our grasp if we have the will to do so BOOK JACKET

Farming Inside Invisible Worlds Hugh Campbell, 2020-09-03 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by the University of Otago New Zealand Farming Inside Invisible Worlds argues that the farm is a key player in the creation and stabilisation of political economic and ecological power particularly in colonised landscapes like New Zealand America and Australia This open access book reviews and rejects the way that farms are characterised in orthodox economics and agricultural science and then shows how re-centring the farm using the theoretical idea of political ontology can transform the way we understand the power of farming Starting with the colonial history of farms in New Zealand Hugh Campbell goes on to describe the rise of modernist farming and its often hidden political racial and ecological effects He concludes with an examination of alternative ways to farm in New Zealand showing how the prior histories of colonisation and modernisation reveal important ways to farm differently in post colonial worlds Hugh Campbell's book has wide ranging implications for understanding the role farms play in both our food systems and landscapes and is an exciting new addition to food studies

Where Cultures Meet David J. Weber,Jane M. Rausch,1997-08-01 In Where Cultures Meet editors Weber and Rausch have collected twenty essays that explore how the frontier experience has helped create Latin American national identities and institutions Using frontier to mean more than border Weber and Rausch regard frontiers as the geographic zones of interaction between distinct cultures Each essay in the volume illuminates the reciprocal influences of the pioneer culture and the frontier culture as they contend with each other and their physical environment The transformative power of frontiers gives them special interest for historians and anthropologists Delving into the frontier experience below the Rio Grande Where Cultures Meet is an important collection for anyone seeking to understand fully Latin American history and culture Access? ,1987 Insect and Hydroponic Farming in Africa Dorte Verner,Nanna Roos,Afton Halloran,Glenn Surabian,Maximillian Ashwill,Saleema Vellani,Yasuo Konishi,2021-12-16 Interestingly some relief from today's woes may come from ancient human practices While current agri food production models rely on abundant supplies of water energy and arable land and generate significant greenhouse gas emissions in addition to forest and biodiversity loss past practices point toward more affordable and sustainable paths Different forms of insect farming and soilless crop farming or hydroponics have existed for centuries In this report the authors make a persuasive case that frontier agriculture particularly insect and hydroponic farming can complement conventional agriculture Both technologies reuse society's agricultural and organic industrial waste to produce nutritious food and animal feed without continuing to deplete the planet's land and water resources thereby converting the world's wasteful linear food economy into a sustainable circular food economy As the report shows insect and hydroponic farming can create jobs diversify livelihoods improve nutrition and provide many other benefits in African and fragile conflict affected countries Together with other investments in climate smart agriculture such as trees on farms alternate wetting and drying rice systems conservation agriculture and sustainable livestock these technologies are part of a promising menu of solutions that can help countries move their land food water and agriculture systems toward greater sustainability and reduced emissions This is a key consideration as the World Bank renews its commitment to support countries climate action plans This book is the Bank's first attempt to look at insect and hydroponic farming as possible solutions to the world's climate and food and nutrition security crisis and may represent a new chapter in the Bank's evolving efforts to help feed and sustain the planet Gateways to Empire Daniel J. Weeks,2019-07-15 In Gateways to Empire Quebec and New Amsterdam to 1664 historian Daniel Weeks has provided the first comprehensive comparative study of the North American fur trading colonies New France and New Netherland While neither colony profited very much if at all from the fur trade though many individuals' fortunes were undoubtedly made Weeks finds that New France which far outpaced New Netherland in this trade grew more slowly and had greater difficulty sustaining itself As he demonstrates in Gateways to Empire other factors including New Netherland's openness to religious and ethnic diversity and wider connections to the Atlantic World allowed it to become more economically secure than its rival north of the St Lawrence And yet in both cases the principal towns of these European colonies Quebec and New Amsterdam moved beyond their initial purposes as hubs for trade with the indigenous peoples to become gateways to European settlement In this New Amsterdam by the late 1640s was singularly successful so that it rapidly fostered the production of new European towns in its hinterlands organizing the landscape for settlement and also for trade within the European dominated Atlantic World system
