Working With Nature Carl F. Jordan, 2013-10-31 First Published in 1998 This important work looks at an alternative approach to resource production systems taking the view that many environmental problems associated with conventional resource management are avoidable if we work with nature instead of trying to dominate it Jordan argues that achieving sustainability in production systems is best accomplished by encouraging a change in the relationship between humans and nature from one of exploitation through control to one of sustainability through cooperation

The Ancient Footsteps : Rediscovering Our Bond with Nature Dr Rajesh Narayan

Singh , We grew up with stories where rivers were mothers trees were elders and animals were companions But as we became more modern we also became more distant from that world This book is not about guilt it s about love It s a gentle invitation to slow down reconnect and reimagine our place in the natural world Inside this book you ll discover Why rivers are more than just water bodies they re lifelines What forests teach us about peace memory and stillness How the soil beneath us holds wisdom healing and stories A reflection on ancient rituals barefoot traditions and sun salutations Through poetic prose emotional reflection and rooted cultural wisdom this book reminds us that nature is not a resource but a relationship If you ve ever paused under a tree and felt something stir inside you this book is yours Farming with

Nature : Science & Practical Sara J,2007 Transition to Agro-Ecology Jelleke de Nooy van Tol,2016-09-29 Our global agricultural and food system is broken and needs to transition to one that is more sustainable and beneficial to the worlds population This seems hard in the face of the linked challenges of climate change natural resource depletion and worldwide economic and social upheaval At the same time farmer led social movements are growing and there is increasing recognition that agroecology and food sovereignty are key solutions for both nutritious food security and climate change adaptation This book takes you along in the transition to agroecology which is already happening worldwide The author shows us the as of yet dispersed but growing movement of many smallholder farmers projects programs research and policy agendas that are making the change Since the daily news prevents us from noticing Jelleke shows us the most beautiful and intriguing examples of ground breaking people and projects She gives you the keys for transition She makes us look back from 2030 What have we done by then you and I your friends and colleagues investors and politiciansto have arrived in a changed food secure world where agroecology is the new normal This book is a must read for researchers politicians students and consumers alike The Law and Ecology of Pesticides and Pest Management Mary Jane Angelo,2016-03-03 Although concerns over the ecological impacts of pesticides gave rise to the environmental movement of the late 1960s and 1970s since that time pesticide use and its effects have been largely ignored by the law and by legal scholars This book addresses this omission by providing a unique and serious treatment of the significance of pesticide issues in environmental law and takes an ecological perspective on the legal issues Dealing with a wide range of questions relating to pests and pesticides the book focuses primarily on agricultural pesticide use as the largest contaminator in the US It also examines the legacy of past pesticide use and analyzes how recent developments in ecological science can inform the law and increase our understanding of ecology Interdisciplinary in its approach the book will be of interest to academics lawyers scientists and environmental and agricultural professionals Plant Growth-Promoting Microorganisms for Sustainable Agricultural Production Everlon Cid

Walker, Abdelkader Al Ghouz, 2020-09-07 This edited volume represents the research results of two international conferences organized and sponsored by the Annemarie Schimmel Kolleg Environmental Approaches in Pre Modern Middle Eastern Studies and Material Culture Methods in the Middle Islamic Periods The following work consists of three parts which correspond to the themes of the aforementioned conferences Contributions to Environmental History and Material Culture

Studies and a third which bridges the gap between the two approaches Practice and Knowledge Transfer The present contributions cover a wide range of such topics as urban pollution local perceptions of weather rural estate economy Sufi understandings of nature and the body and mind houses and socialization text and gardens local know how and interdependence in medieval Syrian agriculture crop selection and the medieval agricultural economy Out of School and Into Nature Suzanne Slade, 2017-03-15 Winner of the 2018 Green Earth Book Award This picture book biography examines the life and career of naturalist and artist Anna Comstock 1854-1930 who defied social conventions and pursued the study of science From the time she was a young girl Anna Comstock was fascinated by the natural world She loved exploring outdoors examining wildlife and learning nature's secrets From watching the teamwork of marching ants to following the constellations in the sky Anna observed it all And her interest only increased as she grew older and went to college at Cornell University There she continued her studies pushing back against those social conventions that implied science was a man's pursuit Eventually Anna became known as a nature expert pioneering a movement to encourage schools to conduct science and nature classes for children outdoors thereby increasing students' interest in nature In following her passion this remarkable woman blazed a trail for female scientists today Speaking with Nature Norman Wirzba, 2024-10-29 From one of the world's leading historians comes the first substantial study of environmentalism set in any country outside the Euro American world By the canons of orthodox social science countries like India are not supposed to have an environmental consciousness They are as it were too poor to be green In this deeply researched book Ramachandra Guha challenges this narrative by revealing a virtually unknown prehistory of the global movement set far outside Europe or America Long before the publication of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring and well before climate change ten remarkable individuals wrote with deep insight about the dangers of environmental abuse from within an Indian context In strikingly contemporary language Rabindranath Tagore Radhakamal Mukerjee J C Kumarappa Patrick Geddes Albert and Gabrielle Howard Mira Verrier Elwin K M Munshi and M Krishnan wrote about the forest and the wild soil and water urbanization and industrialization Positing the idea of what Guha calls livelihood environmentalism in contrast to the full stomach environmentalism of the affluent world these writers activists and scientists played a pioneering role in shaping global conversations about humanity's relationship with nature Spanning more than a century of Indian history and decidedly transnational in reference this book offers rich resources for considering the threat of climate change today Technology versus Ecology: Human Superiority and the Ongoing Conflict with Nature Schultz, Robert A., 2013-09-30 Although human beings are technically part of the ecosystem there still remains a conceptual conflict between technology and nature These concerns highlight the idea of human superiority in which the priority is given to technology versus living in synchronization with nature Technology versus Ecology Human Superiority and the Ongoing Conflict with Nature explores the issues revolving around the conflict between technology versus human beings the concern for the separation of human beings in the ecosystem and the negative consequences that may follow as ecosystems are being damaged This book is a significant reference source for researchers instructors and students interested in the constant evolution of technology and ecology Forces of Nature David Fedman,Eleana J. Kim,Albert L. Park,2023-05-15 Bringing together a multidisciplinary conversation about the entanglement of nature and society in the Korean peninsula Forces of Nature aims to define and develop the field of the Korean environmental humanities At its core the volume works to foreground non human agents that have long been marginalized in Korean studies placing flora fauna mineral deposits and climatic conditions that have hitherto been confined to footnotes front and center In the process the authors blaze new trails through Korea s social and physical landscapes What emerges is a deeper appreciation of the environmental conflicts that have animated life in Korea The authors show how natural processes have continually shaped the course of events on the peninsula how floods droughts famines fires and pests have inexorably impinged on human affairs and how different forces have been mobilized by the state to variously control extract modernize and showcase the Korean landscape Forces of Nature suggestively reveals Korea s physical landscape to be not so much a passive context to Korea s history but an active agent in its transformation and reinvention across centuries With support from the Henry Luce Foundation our goal is to produce all titles in this series both in Open Access for reasons of global accessibility and equity as well as in print editions Land and Environmental Management Through Forestry Abhishek Raj,Manoj Kumar Jhariya,Arnab Banerjee,Sharad Nema,Kiran Bargali,2023-06-16 LAND AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT THROUGH FORESTRY Written and edited by a group of experts in the field this groundbreaking reference work sets the standard for engineers students and professionals working in forestry agriculture ecology and environmental science offering the scientific community a way toward combating climate change and land degradation This outstanding new volume covers the diverse issues of land degradation around the world and its restoration through forestry agroforestry and other practices The editors have integrated many different concepts and applications into a single place from which scientists research scholars academicians and policymakers can benefit New insights in this area are critical as our very existence depends on forest sustainability and land restoration management The work consists of chapters addressing the issues of land degradation deforestation intensive agricultural practices sustainable intensification soil and forest related services land and environmental management and overall sustainability of the ecosystem The contributors address current issues and their management through a holistic and integrated approach presenting the context of land degradation and its problem identifying the potential areas of research in the field of land restoration identifying the land based services and their potential role for ecosystem sustainability creating awareness so that future policies can be framed for the betterment of human civilization and addressing sustainable intensification for land and environmental management and service A standard reference work for the disciplines of forestry agriculture ecology and environmental science it will also be a way forward for combating climate change Useful to academics researchers ecologists environmentalists students capacity builders and policymakers it is a must have for any library Talking with Nature and Journey Into Nature Michael J. Roads, 2003 Michael Roads had always been close to nature but when a river started talking to him he began to doubt his sanity A series of encounters with the natural world followed and Roads began to listen and let go He found himself led stage by stage to a final wisdom remarkable in its simplicity and in its message of hope for humanity This illustrated book a bind up of his two best known works beautifully articulates that message
