Region, Regional Identity and Regionalism in Southeastern Europe Klaus Roth, Ulf Brunnbauer, 2009 The contributions to this second volume focus equally on tangible and intangible dimensions of Southeast European regions They represent the region both as a territorial unit and as a mental construct laden with symbolic meaning The papers demonstrate that regions be it the entire Balkan Peninsula or be it a small area somewhere in the mountains can become palpable visible and audible They can produce culture and they can at the same time be products of culture regions can be constructs of those who inhabit them or of spatial planning from above In any case both the physical and the symbolic regions are a very relevant issue in Southeast Europe serving purposes of spatial ethnic religious or even professional identification or of politically motivated border drawing

A Muslim Woman in Tito's Yugoslavia Munevera Hadžišehović, 2003 Born in a small river town in the largely Muslim province of Sandžak Munevera Hadzisehovic grew up in an area sandwiched between the Orthodox Christian regions of Montenegro and Serbia cut off from other Muslims in Bosnia and Herzegovina Her story takes her reader from the urban culture of the early 1930s through the massacres World War II and the repression of the early Communist regime to the dissolution of Yugoslavia in the early 1990s It sheds light on the history of Yugoslavia from the interwar Kingdom to the breakup of the socialist state In poignant and vivid detail Hadzisehovic paints a picture not only of her own life but of the lives of other Muslims especially women in an era and an area of great change Readers are given a loving yet accurate portrait of Muslim customs pertaining to the household gardens food and dating in short of everyday life Hadzisehovic writes from the inside out starting with her emotions and experiences then moving outward to the facts that concern those interested in this region the role of the Ustashe Chetniks and Germans in World War II the attitude of Serb dominated Yugoslavia toward Muslims and the tragic state of ethnic relations that led to war again in the 1990s Some of Hadzisehovic's experiences and many of her views may be controversial She speaks of Muslim women's reluctance to give up the veil the disadvantages of mixed marriages and the problems caused by Serb and Croat nationalists Her benign view of Italian occupation is in stark contrast to her depiction of bloodthirsty Chetnik irregulars Her analysis of Belgrade's Muslims suggests that class differences were just as important as religious affiliation In this personal yet universal story Hadzisehovic mourns the loss of two worlds the orderly Muslim world of her childhood and the secular multi ethnic world of communist Yugoslavia
