Smith,2016-04-15 The single most influential culinary trend of our time is fast food It has spawned an industry that has changed eating the most fundamental of human activities From the first flipping of burgers in tiny shacks in the western United States to the forging of neon signs that spell out Pizza Hut in Cyrillic or Arabic scripts the fast food industry has exploded into dominance becoming one of the leading examples of global corporate success And with this success it has become one of the largest targets of political criticism blamed for widespread obesity cultural erasure oppressive labor practices and environmental destruction on massive scales In this book expert culinary historian Andrew F Smith explores why the fast food industry has been so successful and examines the myriad ethical lines it has crossed to become so As he shows fast food plain and simple devised a perfect retail model one that works everywhere providing highly flavored calories with speed economy and convenience But there is no such thing as a free lunch they say and the costs with fast food have been enormous an assault on proper nutrition a minimum wage labor standard and a powerful pressure on farmers and ranchers to deploy some of the worst agricultural practices in history As Smith shows we have long known about these problems and the fast food industry for nearly all of its existence has been beset with scathing expos s boycotts protests and government interventions which it has sometimes met with real changes but more often with token gestures blame passing and an unrelenting gauntlet of lawyers and lobbyists Fast Food ultimately looks at food as a business an examination of the industry s options and those of consumers and a serious inquiry into what society can do to ameliorate the problems this cheap and tasty product has created Colours of the Soul June McLeod,2012-09-21 Colors are all around us but also within us We not only have our favorite colour our auras have their own color Our chakras have their different colors Tuning in to our colors rebalances our selves with nature and

Food Adulteration and How to Beat It The London Food Commission,2025-06-20 All natural no artificial colours or flavours This was an increasingly familiar claim made for the food we bought in the late 1980s But what about the other ingredients Additives are only one form of adulteration Nitrates excess water pesticide residues too much fat and the newest of them all food irradiation are some of the others The questions they pose for all of us are inescapable as is the overall issue of poor quality food dressed up to be what it is not In this book originally published in 1988 the London Food Commission Britain s independent food watchdog spells out the dangers and suggests solutions It challenges official policy and condemns official secrecy It says why British food is the sick food of Europe It believes that what is needed is a major shake up in Whitehall and the food trades and calls for a new anti adulteration alliance a positive campaign for improved food policy And it backs all arguments with rigorous and detailed evidence Food matters to everyone We deserve the best We will only get it if we demand it This book spelt out what our demands should be Still a big topic of interest today this is an opportunity to look at some early issues surrounding the food we buy and assess how far we ve come Services Marketing: Rao,2011

Hutchings,2011-06-27 Much of man s behaviour is controlled by appearance but the appearance of his food is of paramount importance to his health and well being In day to day survival and marketing situations we can tell whether or not most foods are fit to eat from their optical properties Although vision and colour perception are the means by which we appreciate our surroundings visual acceptance depends on more than just colour It depends on total appearance In the recent past the food technologist has been under pressure to increase his her understanding of first the behaviour of raw materials under processing and second the behaviour and motivation of his her customers in a growing more discriminating and worldwide market The chapters which follow describe the philosophy of total appearance the factors comprising it and its application to the food industry Included are considerations of the evolutionary historical and cultural aspects of food appearance the physics and food chemistry of colour and appearance the principles of sensory appearance assessment and appearance profile analysis as well as instrumental measurement the
