Finding Utopia:

DIY Utopia Amber Day, 2016-12-22 At first glance contemporary popular culture filled with bleak images of the future seems to have given up on the possibility of positive collective change Below the surface however alternative culture is rife with artist led projects activist movements and subcultural communities of interest that seek to spark the collective imagination and to encourage hunger for alternatives More playfully self conscious than past utopian movements today s are often whimsical or ironic but are still entirely earnest Artists invite us to re author city maps or archive individual ideas for the future while maker collectives urge us to rethink our relationship to consumer goods All seem to have grown out of a similar do it yourself ethos and alternative culture One of the central conflicts informing these case studies is that while it remains immensely difficult to envision anything outside of the current system of consumer capitalism there is nevertheless a powerful desire to take it apart in piecemeal ways We see the longing for new social and political narratives new forms of communion and sociability and new imaginings of the possible longings that are currently unmet by mainstream culture but that are taking expression in myriad ways at the local level Taken as a whole this collection examines what our grand ideals and playful daydreams tell us about ourselves

Finding Meaning Ofra Mayseless, Pninit Russo-Netzer, 2021-10 This book implements a conceptual framework for examining the post modern sociocultural Israeli scene that facilitates and triggers a search for meaning among its contemporary citizens It combines theory data and illustrative case studies to unravel a variety of significant and fundamental manifestations of this quest as it is seen under existential duress

Their Majesty Joe Parslow, 2024-08-27 This book explores drag performance in London since 2009 via the pubs bars and clubs that make LGBTQ communities thrive It studies the complex relationship between drag performance LGBTQ venues and queer communities In exploring drag performance the book develops a greater understanding of the connection between drag performance and queer communities in particular exploring how drag might facilitate queer communities and offer queer modes of survival and resistance for queer people Through this the book describes a contemporary moment in which drag performance is increasingly popular and increasingly important at a time when homophobic and transphobic violence is prevalent and LGBTQ venues are often under threat of closure Understanding the increased increasing mainstream popularity of drag the book examines drag performance that is connected to and resists mainstream attention in order to account for its complexity in London and beyond This book takes the author s engagement with and love for drag and exerts a critical political and queer pull in order to develop new terrains of queer studies and queer performance studies

Navigating Imaginary Worlds Mark J.P. Wolf, 2025-06-16 This edited anthology offers a collection of essays that each look at various types of wayfinding Together they explore a variety of wayfinding tools and techniques and their applications as well as ways of keeping track of the construction of worlds too With transmedial worlds extending over multiple media multiple authors and sometimes even multiple decades of creation a wealth of different issues can arise worlds need to direct audience members into how to organize them conceptually Edited by Mark J P Wolf and featuring contributions from a distinguished set of authors from interdisciplinary backgrounds this book enriches the theory history and practice of world building through the exploration of navigation The essays have many overlapping concerns and together they provide the reader with a range of discussions regarding wayfinding and the many ways it intersects with world building and world experiencing activities Thus rather than just analyzing worlds themselves the anthology also asks the reader to consider analyzing the act of world building itself This collection will be of interest to students and scholars in a variety of fields including Subcreation Studies Transmedia Studies Popular Culture Comparative Media Studies Video Game Studies Film Studies and Interdisciplinary Literary Studies      Finding Resilience Brian Walker, 2019-03-01 Floods fires famines epidemics and disasters of all kinds are on the increase and as their frequency rises so does the call for greater resilience But what does that mean The word is used differently in psychology ecology economics and engineering and runs the risk of becoming meaningless jargon This would be most unfortunate because if we are to successfully navigate very real and dangerous global trends it is resilience that needs to be understood and fostered Finding Resilience is international in scope and unravels how ecosystems societies and people cope with disturbance and adversity An authoritative but plain English account which is based on the experiences of researchers the fascinating stories from around the world reveal what resilience is how it works in different kinds of systems how it is expressed and how it can be gained and lost      Invisible Seasides Tony Blackshaw, 2025-08-01 Invisible Seasides positions the seaside as a lens for understanding lived utopia pinned in a certain place an immovable feature in a landscape where our hopes and fears continue to unfold Wide ranging in theme it brings a double perspective past and present to bear on how we understand contemporary seaside experience Presenting a magical paradox of the modern seaside this book traces the development of a cultural phenomenon from the mid 1800s to the present day In the process it modifies the accepted narrative about its rise and fall reappraising our understanding of the end of a Mass Utopia and shining new light on the diversity of post utopias that have emerged in its afterlife Fusing social theory social history and leisure studies its thesis adroitly envisions the diverse density of the seaside through a critical lens making the unfamiliar familiar and vice versa providing us with an exemplar for a different way of thinking sociologically which will be used by scholars from a range of different subject fields to encourage fresh reflection on social continuity and change      Alphabetical Finding List Princeton University. Library, 1921      Finding the Place Kees Fens, 2021-11-01 This is a collection of essays on major English literary figures by the leading Dutch critic Kees Fens Although most of them are on nineteenth and twentieth century literature dealing with among others Newman Hopkins Wilde Shaw and Greene authors from earlier periods such as Thomas More and George Herbert are not excluded Kees Fens holds that great cultural achievements are creative responses to a large diversity of traditions The most important of these constitute the cultural heritage that is preserved and passed on in education religion reading and writing For Fens culture is first and foremost a continuity of experience starting in one's youth when one goes to school and to church. In assimilating the tradition one learns that all aspects of life are culturally significant for better or worse. Creativity is the urge to continue to learn on all occasions. What one learns is that one's knowledge necessarily remains incomplete. Fens has a sharp eye for inconsistencies and paradoxes in authors as well as in their work. He responds to these with humour since in his view they illustrate a permanent striving for perfection. What a great author leaves behind is his language. Language is saturated with many kinds of traditions; an author uses language to reshape the traditions he wants to perfect. A great author becomes a great teacher when he makes his readers experience his own need for perfection.

Finding a Way Home Owen E. Brady, Derek C. Maus, 2010-02-17. Essays by Owen E. Brady, Kelly C. Connelly, Juan F. Elices, Keith Hughes, Derek C. Maus, Jerrilyn McGregory, Laura Quinn, Francesca Canad Sautman, Daniel Stein, Lisa B. Thompson, Terrence Tucker, and Albert U. Turner Jr. In Finding a Way Home, thirteen essays by scholars from four countries trace Walter Mosley's distinctive approach to representing African American responses to the feeling of homelessness in an inhospitable America. Mosley, b. 1952, writes frequently of characters trying to construct an idea of home and wrest a sense of dignity, belonging, and hope from cultural and communal resources. These essays examine Mosley's queries about the meaning of home in various social and historical contexts. Essayists consider the concept whether it be material, social, cultural, or virtual in all three of Mosley's detective crime fiction series: Easy Rawlins, Socrates Fortlow, and Fearless Jones. His three books of speculative fiction, two of his literary novels, RL's Dream, The Man in My Basement, and in his recent social and political nonfiction Essays, here explore Mosley's modes of expression, his testing of the limitations of genre, his political engagement in prose, his utopian/dystopian analyses, and his uses of parody and vernacular culture. Finding a Way Home provides rich discussions explaining the development of Mosley's work.

Promoting Sustainable Living Justyna Karakiewicz, Audrey Yue, Angela Paladino, 2015-05-01. Current images of sustainability are often designed to instil fear and force change, not because we believe in it but because we fear the consequences of inaction.

Moving away from negative portrayals of sustainability this book identifies the factors that motivate people to aspire towards sustainable living It introduces the notion of sustainability as an object of desire that will allow people not to be scared of the future but rather to dream about it and look forward to a better quality of life Tracing the history of major changes in our society that have dramatically altered our perceptions beliefs and attitudes about sustainability the book analyses the role of communications in persuading people of the benefits of sustainable living It describes our current desires and dreams and explains why we need to change Finally the book suggests what could be done to not only make sustainability an object of desire but also introduce hopes and dreams for a better future into our everyday lives This inspiring and interdisciplinary book provides innovative insights for researchers students and professionals in a range of disciplines in particular environment and sustainability sustainable marketing and advertising and psychology

The Perfect Way. Or, the Finding of Christ Anna Kingsford, Edward Maitland, 2024-04-10 Reprint of the original first published in 1882

Utopias and the Environment Geoffrey Berry, 2017-10-02 Utopias and the Environment explores the way in which the kind of dreaming or re-visioning known as the utopian imaginary takes environmental concerns into account This kind of creative intervention is increasingly important in an era of ecological crisis as we witness the failure of governments worldwide to significantly change industrial civilization from a path of business as usual In this context it is up to the artists in this case authors to imagine new ways of being that respond to this imperative and immediate global issue Concurrently it is also up to critics readers and thinkers everywhere to appraise these narratives of possibility for their complexities and internal conflicts as well as for their promise as we enter this new era of rapid change and adaptation Because creative and critical thinkers must work together towards this goal the idea of the critical utopia coined by Tom Moylan in response to the fiction of the 1970s is now ingrained in the common argot and is one of the key ideas discussed in this book This development in the genre which combines self reflexivity and multiple perspectives within its dreaming represents the postmodern spirit in its most regenerative aspect This book is testament to such hopes and potential realities This book was originally published as a special issue of Green Letters

Last Hope: Mankind's Final Chance to Prolong Our Species by Finding New Planets to Inhabit Newnobleman, Adin Ballou's Spiritual Journey through Nineteenth-Century New England Bryce Hal Taylor, 2022-12-13 New England Christianity in the nineteenth century produced an almost unending stream of new and old denominations that speckled the landscape Baptists Congregationalists Methodists Universalists Spiritualists Unitarians Restorationists and Calvinists to name a few beckoned each individual to join their growing movements Each professed its truths and some proclaimed theirs was the only path leading to salvation Admired this Christian angst Adin Ballou began his spiritual quest to obtain truth Through Ballou's lengthy spiritual quest from 1820 to 1880 this book examines how denominational histories however important do not explain what a nineteenth century New England Christian became Ballou exemplifies this paradox Always fixed but never settled Once a believer chose a path new phenomena and teachings immediately appeared leaving one's truth claims transient Through the Christian maze of nineteenth century New England Ballou's Christian faith was simply his own      ReFocus: The Films of Sohrab Shahid-Saless Azadeh

Fatehrad,2020-03-18 In this the first English language book to reflect on his work and its implications for creativity in the diasporic conditions of urban displacement a range of international scholars provide a comprehensive account of Shahid Saless's films and production methods      Unreal Objects Kate O'Riordan,2017-07-20 Science and technology are playing increasingly important roles in our lives New projects in development today will fundamentally shape the world around us and manipulate our lived experience But how and why are such important scientific and technological projects chosen and what are the consequences of this process In this book Kate O Riordan answers these crucial question She discovers that many objects such as genomes and genomic projects smart grids de extinction projects and biosensors cannot be granted scientific legitimacy and developed without extraordinary amounts of media public relations celebrity endorsements and private investment As a result of these filters only certain projects take centre stage when it comes to funding and political attention O Riordan calls these unreal objects scientific projects and technologies where utopian visions for the future are combined with investment and materialisation in the here and now This attention to these unreal objects hides many current social issues especially injustices and inequalities At the same time they conjure utopian visions for how life might be improved      Picturing the Woman-Child Morna Laing,2021-01-28 The childlike character of ideal femininity has long been critiqued by feminists from Mary Wollstonecraft to Simone de Beauvoir Yet women continue to be represented as childlike in the western fashion media despite the historical connotations of inferiority This book questions why such images still hold appeal to contemporary women after three or even four waves of feminism Focusing on the period of 1990-2015 Picturing the Woman Child traces the evolution of childlike femininity in British fashion magazines including Vogue i D and Lula Girl of my Dreams These images draw upon a network of references from Kinderwhore and Lolita to Alice in Wonderland and the femme enfant of Surrealism Alongside analysis of fashion photography the book presents the findings of original research into audience reception Inviting contemporary women to comment on images of the woman child provides an insight into the meaning of this figure as well as an evaluation of theory on the female gaze Both scholarly and accessible the book paves the way for future studies on how readers make sense of fashion imagery      Author of the Gust Rick Austinson,2008-10-28 It's a great big open world and the sea calls out with promises of adventure Endless opportunities and boundless wealth seem to linger just beyond the horizon But for some that's still too far Every society has its invisibles those not welcome not one of us It is society's nature to divide itself into many tiers No matter how you arrange them one tier always has to be on the bottom On that tier is Ryo Sansen Ryo is an outcast an invisible in her society and for no reason beyond the fact that she had the audacity to be born So what is a young girl to do in her position Why change the world of course      Outside Theater Stuart A. Day,2017-05-16 Taking a cue from influential French philosopher Jacques Rancière who in The Emancipated Spectator rejects the idea of the passive ignorant duped spectators in need of instruction to become active Stuart A Day's goal in Outside Theater is to highlight written words and performances that exemplify effective strategies past and present to reveal and promote civic engagement to provoke disruptions or to highlight fissures and opportunities in oppressive social structures Through the study of one or two primary models per chapter as well as multiple examples in the introduction and conclusion Day presents Mexican plays from 1905 to 2015 including the 2010 Mexico City performance of Zoot Suit by Chicano playwright Luis Valdez Using these plays Day explores the concept of outside theater where people or groups translate the tools of the theatrical trade to a different stage outside the walls of the theater and play the part of fictional or real life Celestinas matchmakers who unite seemingly disparate entities to promote social awareness and social action by working the borders between life and art Each work in this innovative analysis reveals productive social connections that with the help of crucial artistic alliances contradict the perception that art is somehow secondary to or disconnected from the public sphere of influence and the struggles of everyday life With this book Day shows that Mexican theater can and does bolster civil society and thus the country's fragile democracy
