

Phoebus And Hermes

DELLOS' stately ruler, and Maia's son, the adroit one,

*Warmly were striving, for both sought the great prize to obtain.
Hermes the lyre demanded, the lyre was claim'd by Apollo,*

*Yet were the hearts of the foes fruitlessly nourish'd by hope.
For on a sudden Ares burst in, with fury decisive,*

*Dashing in twain the gold toy, brandishing wildly his sword.
Hermes, malicious one, laughed beyond measure; yet deep-seated sorrow*

Seized upon Phoebus's heart, seized on the heart of each Muse.

Johann Wolfgang Von Goethe

forth reading that connects prose and poetry the fictional and the lyrical the descriptive and the abstract Poetry excerpts extracts from his residence books novels and essays highlight not only Durrell s complex literary strategies but also the ontological quest of a writer who although never at home with the world he lived in strove to create a life world what semiologists call the Umwelt      English Poetry of the Nineteenth Century Oscar James Campbell,James Francis Augustin Pyre,1929      A Concordance to the Poems of John Keats Michael G. Becker,Robert J. Dilligan,Todd K. Bender,2016-05-05 First published in 1981 A Concordance to the Poems of John Keats intended to provide the user with a volume suitable to the varying and increasingly specialised interests of scholarship This title offers a high degree of inclusiveness that attends to the poems and plays the emended and authoritative headings and virtually all of the variant readings considered substantive in the riches of the Keats manuscript materials This title will be of interest to students of literature      The Complete Poetry of John Keats John Keats,1927
