Finitude's Score Avital Ronell, 1994-01-01 Suspending the distinction between headline news and high theory Avital Ronell examines the diverse figures of finitude in our modernity war guerrilla video trauma TV AIDS music divorce sadism electronic tagging rumor Her essays address such questions as How do rumors kill How has video become the conscience of TV How have the police come to be everywhere even where they are not Is peace possible Writing to the community of those who have no community to those who have known the infiniteness of abandonment her work explores the possibility one possibility among many that this time we have gone too far One last word It is possible that we have gone too far This possibility has to be considered if we as a species as a history are going to get anywhere at all Give the Word:

Responses to Werner Hamacher's "95 Theses on Philology" Werner Hamacher, 2019-06-19 Werner Hamacher's witty and elliptical 95 Theses on Philology challenges the humanities and particularly academic philology that assume language to be a given entity rather than an event In Give the Word eleven scholars of literature and philosophy Susan Bernstein Michèle Cohen Halimi Peter Fenves Sean Gurd Daniel Heller Roazen Jan Plug Gerhard Richter Avital Ronell Thomas Schestag Ann Smock and Vincent van Gerven Oei take up the challenge presented by Hamacher's theses At the close Hamacher responds to them in a spirited text that elaborates on the context of his 95 Theses and its rich theoretical and philosophical ramifications The 95 Theses included in this volume makes this collection a rich resource for the study and practice of radical philology Hamacher's philology interrupts and transforms parting with tradition precisely in order to remain faithful to its radical but increasingly occluded core The contributors test Hamacher's break with philology in a variety of ways attempting a philological practice that does not take language as an object of knowledge study or even love Thus in responding to Hamacher's Theses the authors approach language that because it can never be an object of any kind awakens an unfamiliar desire Taken together these essays problematize philological ontology in a movement toward radical reconceptualizations of labor action and historical time The Interval Rebecca Hill, 2014-11-14 The Interval offers the first sustained analysis of the concept grounding Irigaray's thought the constitutive yet incalculable interval of sexual difference In an extension of Irigaray's project Hill takes up her formulation of the interval as a way of rereading Aristotle's concept of topos and Bergson's concept of duration Hill diagnoses a sexed hierarchy at the heart of Aristotle's and Bergson's presentations Yet beyond that phallocentrism she points out how Aristotle's theory of topos as a sensible relation between two bodies that differ in being and Bergson's intuition of duration as an incalculable threshold of becoming are indispensable to the feminist effort to think about sexual difference Reading Irigaray with Aristotle and Bergson Hill argues that the interval cannot be grasped as a space between two identities it must be characterized as the sensible threshold of becoming constitutive of the very identity of beings The interval is the place of the possibility of sexed subjectivity and intersubjectivity the interval is also a threshold of the becoming of sexed forces Glossalalia Julian Wolfreys, 2003 Glossalalia is not a conventional glossary or dictionary

Patrick Greaney, This highly original book takes as its starting point a central question for nineteenth and twentieth century literature and philosophy how to represent the poor Covering the period from the publication of Les Fleurs du Mal in 1857 to the composition of Benjamin s final texts in the 1930s Untimely Beggar investigates the coincidence of two modern literary and philosophical interests representing the poor and representing potential To take account of literature s relation to the poor Patrick Greaney proposes the concept of impoverished writing which withdraws from representing objects and registers the existence of power By reducing itself to the indication of its own potential by impoverishing itself literary language attempts to engage and participate in the power of the poor This focus on impoverished language offers new perspectives on major French and German authors including Marx Nietzsche Mallarm Rilke and Brecht and makes significant contributions to recent debates about power and potential in thinkers such as Agamben Deleuze Foucault Hardt and Negri In doing so Greaney offers significant insights into modernity s intense philosophical and literary interest in socioeconomic poverty

Mechanical Witness Louis-Georges Schwartz, 2009-09-24 Mechanical Witness is the first cultural and legal history charting the changing role and theoretical implications of film and video use as courtroom evidence Schwartz moves from the earliest employment of film in the courts of the 1920s to the notorious 1991 Rodney King video revealing how the courts have developed a reliance on film and video technologies and contributed to the growing influence of visual media as a dominant mode of knowledge formation At the same time film and video in juridical contexts has developed a distinct theoretical legacy The particular qualities of film as evidence both resonate with and contradict existing scholarship focusing on economic social or aesthetic factors which hitherto has defined film's status and cultural contribution In the context of a trial the possible meanings of a film change from its meanings when shown in a movie theater or broadcast on television yet the public and cinema scholars tend to assume that the two are the same Mechanical Witness demonstrates that we must understand evidentiary film and video's institutional specificity if we are to understand the full effects of motion picture technologies on our culture This study sets the terms for a long overdue assessment of how the entertainment industry has shaped our film viewing practices the place of moving picture evidence in the courtroom and the social and cultural consequences of these intertwined histories

The Autobiography Effect Dennis Schep, 2019-07-24 Since the advent of post structuralism various authors have problematized the modern conception of autobiography by questioning the status of authorship and interrogating the relation between language and reality Yet even after making autobiography into a theoretical problem many of these authors ended up writing about themselves This paradox stands at the center of this wide ranging study of the form and function of autobiography in the work of authors who have distanced themselves from its modern instantiation Discussing Roland Barthes Jacques Derrida Hélène Cixous and others this book grapples with the question of what it means to write the self when the self is understood as an effect of writing Combining close reading intellectual history and literary theory The Autobiography Effect traces how precisely its theoretically problematic nature made autobiography into a central scene for the negotiation of philosophical positions and anxieties after structuralism

Narrating Life - Experiments with Human and Animal Bodies in Literature, Science and Art, 2016-02-02 Narrating Life explores the relationship between literature science and the arts and the way in which they are informed by the process of narrating life More specifically it asks how do literature science and the arts affect and are affected by the emergence of a critical culture of biopolitics and its rhetorical figurations Its topicality for literary and cultural studies lies therefore in its exploration of the question to what extent could narratives of life or life writing be understood as a special practice through which to access the contemporary discussion about biopolitics with its strategies of immunity mutation and contagion The individual contributions address these questions through focusing on new forms of life writing in traditional and new media science writing and artistic and critical creative practice In doing so they also explore and redraw the boundaries between fictional and factual experimental practices Contributors Amelie Björck Elisabeth Friis Holly Henry Stefan Herbrechter Tom Idema Moritz Ingwersen Cristina Iuli Tanja Nusser Angela Rawlings Manuela Rossini Dorion Sagan Laura Shackelford Amalie Smith Marianne Sommer Steve Tomasula David Wagner Jeff Wallace Dominik Zechner

Watching War Jan Mieszkowski, 2012-08-22 What does it mean to be a spectator to war in an era when the boundaries between witnessing and perpetrating violence have become profoundly blurred Arguing that the contemporary dynamics of military spectatorship took shape in Napoleonic Europe Watching War explores the status of warfare as a spectacle unfolding before a mass audience By showing that the battlefield was a virtual phenomenon long before the invention of photography film or the Internet this book proposes that the unique character of modern conflicts has been a product of imaginary as much as material forces Warfare first became total in the Napoleonic era when battles became too large and violent to be observed firsthand and could only be grasped in the imagination Thenceforth fantasies of what war was or should be proved critical for how wars were fought and experienced As war's reach came to be limited only by the creativity of the mind's eye its campaigns gave rise to expectations that could not be fulfilled As a result war's modern audiences have often found themselves bored more than enthralled by their encounters with combat Mieszkowski takes an interdisciplinary approach to this major ethical and political concern of our time bringing literary and philosophical texts into dialogue with artworks historical documents and classics of photojournalism

The Mother in the Age of Mechanical Reproduction Elissa Marder, 2012 This book analyses the relationship between the body technology and language by focusing on the uncanny figure of the mother in psychoanalysis photography and literature and contends that the concept of human birth is represented through mechanical repetition and technological modes of reproduction rather than as a natural event

Vulnerability in Resistance Judith Butler, Zeynep Gambetti, Leticia Sabsay, 2016-10-13

Vulnerability and resistance have often been seen as opposites with the assumption that vulnerability requires protection and the strengthening of paternalistic power at the expense of collective resistance. Focusing on political movements and cultural practices in different global locations including Turkey, Palestine, France, and the former Yugoslavia, the contributors to Vulnerability in Resistance articulate an understanding of the role of vulnerability in practices of resistance. They consider how vulnerability is constructed, invoked, and mobilized within neoliberal discourse, the politics of war, resistance to authoritarian and securitarian power in LGBTQI struggles, and in the resistance to occupation and colonial violence. The essays offer a feminist account of political agency by exploring occupy movements and street politics, informal groups at checkpoints and barricades, practices of self-defense, hunger strikes, transgressive enactments of solidarity and mourning, infrastructural mobilizations, and aesthetic and erotic interventions into public space that mobilize memory and expose forms of power. Pointing to possible strategies for a feminist politics of transversal engagements and suggesting a politics of bodily resistance that does not disavow forms of vulnerability, the contributors develop a new conception of embodiment and sociality within fields of contemporary power.
