Fire Ecology of Florida and the Southeastern Coastal Plain Reed F. Noss, 2018-05-15 An overview of the importance of fire to ecosystems in the Southeast with guidance on how to best conduct controlled burns in the region A biodiversity hotspot Florida is home to many ecosystems and species that evolved in the presence of frequent fire In this book Reed Noss discusses the essential role of fire in generating biodiversity and offers best practices for using fire to keep the region s ecosystems healthy and resilient Reviewing several lines of evidence Noss shows that fire has been important to the southeastern Coastal Plain for tens of millions of years He explains how the region s natural fire regimes are connected to its climate high rate of lightning strikes physical chemistry and vegetation But urbanization and active fire suppression have reduced the frequency and extent of fires Noss suggests the practice of controlled burning can and should be improved to protect fire dependent species and natural communities from decline and extinction Noss argues that fire managers should attempt to simulate natural fire regimes when conducting controlled burns Based on what the species of the Southeast likely experienced during their evolutionary histories he makes recommendations about pyrodiversity how often and in what seasons to burn the optimal heterogeneity of burns mechanical treatments such as cutting and roller chopping and the proper use of fuel breaks In doing so Noss is the first to apply the new discipline of evolutionary fire ecology to a specific region This book is a fascinating history of fire ecology in Florida an enlightening look at why fire matters to the region and a necessary resource for conservationists and fire managers in the state and elsewhere Earth Observation of Wildland Fires in Mediterranean Ecosystems Emilio Chuvieco, 2009-09-25 Wildland fires are becoming one of the most critical environmental factors affecting a wide range of ecosystems worldwide In Mediterranean ecosystems including also South Africa California parts of Chile and Australia wildland fires are recurrent phenomena every summer following the seasonal drought As a result of changes in traditional land use practices and the impact of recent climate warming fires have more negative impacts in the last years threatening lives socio economic and ecological values The book describes the ecological context of fires in the Mediterranean ecosystems and provides methods to observe fire danger conditions and fire impacts using Earth Observation and Geographic Information System technologies Fire Sea Margaret Weis, 1992 Fire Control Notes ,1946 Fire Management Notes ,1988 The French revolution Thomas Carlyle, 1897 Critical and miscellaneous essays, collected and republished Thomas Carlyle, 1901 Carbon Accounting and Savanna Fire Management Brett Murphy, Jeremy Russell-Smith, Andrew Edwards, Mick Meyer, CP (Mick) Meyer, 2015-06-15 In the context of Australia s developing carbon economy fire management helps to abate emissions of greenhouse gases and is an important means of generating carbon credits The vast high rainfall savannas of northern Australia are one of the world s most flammable landscapes Management of fires in this region has the potential to assist with meeting emissions reduction targets as well as conserving biodiversity and providing employment for Indigenous people in remote parts of Australia s north This comprehensive volume brings together recent research from northern Australian savannas to provide an internationally relevant case study for applying greenhouse gas accounting methodologies to the practice of fire management. It provides scientific arguments for enlarging the area of fire prone land managed for emissions abatement. The book also charts the progress towards development of a savanna fire bio sequestration methodology. The future of integrated approaches to emissions abatement and bio sequestration is also discussed.

Interstate Commerce Commission, 1930 Forest Fire Laboratory at Riverside and Fire Research in California Carl C. Wilson, James Bernard Davis, 1988

The need for protection from uncontrolled fire in California was identified by Abbott Kinney, Chairman of the State Board of Forestry, more than 75 years before the construction of the Riverside Forest Fire Laboratory. With the organization of the USDA Forest Service, the need for an effective fire protection organization became apparent. In response, a somewhat fragmented research program got under way in the 1910s. Although the research was successful in reducing fire damage under most conditions, severe fire years still made it clear that a strong cohesive fire research effort headquartered at an adequate laboratory was necessary. However, the Fire Laboratory did not just happen. It was the result of considerable organized public and private support. During the 50 years prior to the dedication of the Laboratory and the 25 years since, there has been an effort to balance a pragmatic approach toward dealing directly with the fire manager and also maintaining scientific excellence. There are currently six research projects at the Laboratory with emphases on fire management and the beneficial use of fire, forest recreation, effects of air pollution on forest ecosystem, and watershed management.
