Numerous drugs administered either generally or locally have shown a cataractogenic action. From a pathogenic point of view a distinction must be made between drugs which modify the transparency of the lens due to accumulation of mercuric silver gold salts etc from those influencing its metabolism. Among the latter Triparanol antimitotic drugs various phenothiazinic derivatives corticosteroids and certain miotics cause the most significant damage. It is necessary to indicate the most frequent reports which evidence a relationship between a prolonged oestroprogestinic therapy and alterations of the lens transparency. The authors also indicate pathogenic mechanisms which probably cause iatrogenic cataracts.

Retinal Pigment Epithelium and Macular Diseases Gabriel Coscas, Felice Cardillo Piccolino, 2012-12-06 This volume of Documenta Ophthalmologica Proceedings Series collects the scientific papers presented at the 2nd International Symposium on Retinal Pigment Epithelium and the 4th Meeting of the European Macula Group held in Genoa May 29 June 1 1996. The Symposium on Retinal Pigment Epithelium was promoted by the University Eye Clinic of Genoa as the natural continuation of the first Symposium held with great success in Genoa in 1988. The previous Meetings of the European Macula Group were held in Coimbra 1988 Crete 1989 and Athens 1994. I was greatly pleased and honoured to host the fourth congress of this distinguished Society and I am grateful to Gabriel Coscas Jose Cunha Vaz and George Theodossiadis founders of the Society for selecting Genoa on this occasion. The two meetings integrated well in an unicum and brought together an exceptional number of outstanding retinal specialists coming from all over the world. All the aspects of the current research concerning retinal pigment epithelial and macular diseases were covered. Several interesting presentations regarded new techniques of retinal and choroidal imaging. A full session was dedicated to the latest advances in culture and transplantation of retinal pigment epithelial cells. Age related macular degeneration was a major subject for discussion.
