Ryan,2014-10-09 This collection of essays articulates theoretical and philosophical arguments and advances practical applications as to why animals ought to matter to social work in and of themselves It serves as a persuasive corrective to the current invisibility of animals in contemporary social work practice and thought

Spirituality in Social Work and Education Janet Groen, Diana Coholic, John R. Graham,2013-01-24 Over the past ten years the fields of social work and education have grappled separately with definitions of spirituality ways to integrate spirituality into the classroom and the rendering of spirituality as a meaningful concept for practitioners students and researchers Social work and education have many commonalities in areas of engagement with children families and communities For the first time this book brings together these two professional disciplines for interdisciplinary discussions that advance our knowledge in the broad area of spirituality The book s three sections reflect broad topic areas created to facilitate dialogue between the contributors all of whom have established expertise in exploring spirituality in education or social work The first section of the book explores the historical and theoretical underpinnings of spirituality in education and social work Examination of our respective heritages uncovers the religious roots within our professions and reveals a present understanding of spirituality that calls for active engagement in challenging oppression and working toward social justice The second section shifts the focus to the pedagogical implications of incorporating spirituality into higher education classrooms The varied level of acceptance and the tensions that come from including spirituality implicitly or explicitly in the programs and coursework in our respective faculties are illuminated by authors in both professions The final section explores issues related to practising and teaching in the field from a spiritually sensitive perspective

Human Behavior and the Social Environment, Macro Level Katherine S. Van Wormer, Fred H. Besthorn, Thomas Keefe, 2007 Each person is a unique individual yet we all are also defined by groups those we belong to and those we are excluded from voluntarily or involuntarily In the second half of the Human Behavior and the Social Environment sequence Katherine van Wormer Fred Besthorn and Thomas Keefe take a stimulating new approach to exploring this macro view of humanity and demonstrating how each component of society from the single person to the sprawling organization is part of a dynamic whole Their collaboration has produced a remarkable volume that will help students recognize and consider interactions between and among individuals and social systems and thereby develop into truly effective social workers Outlines theoretical concepts and practice implications in each chapter Highlights the importance of the natural environment and ecology the community of the earth to human and group behavior Sets forth a refined understanding of the role of spirituality the community of faith in people's lives Focuses on evidence based theory and research Teaches from a global cross cultural perspective highlighting themes of empowerment and social justice Features dynamic readings and personal narratives that highlight each chapter's topic Accompanied by an online instructor's manual with Power Points for lecture presentations chapter summaries key terms suggested classroom activities and a test bank with essay and multiple choice questions Also available is a companion volume Human Behavior and the Social Environment Micro Level which offers an eye opening view of how biological psychological and cultural forces influence individuals behavior

The Ecosocial Transition of Societies Aila-Leena Matthies, Kati Närhi, 2016-10-04 This groundbreaking book both explains and expands the growing debate on ecological environmental social work at the global level In order to achieve this the book strengthens the environmental paradigm in social work and social policy by undertaking further research on theoretical and conceptual clarification as well as distinct reflections on its practical directions Divided into five parts concepts the impact of environmental crises sustainable communities and lifestyles food politics and the profession in transition this work's main objective is to place ecological social work as a part of the more comprehensive and interdisciplinary eco social transition of societies towards sustainability balancing economic and social development with the limited resources of the natural environment By focussing on these five core concepts it shows how social work and social policy contribute to this transition through having a research based approach and orientation on solutions rather than problem analysis The book will be of interest to scholars from a broad range of disciplines including those in social work and social policy sustainability economics agriculture and environmental studies

Promoting Health and Well-being in Social Work Education Beth R. Crisp, Liz Beddoe, 2013-10-18 Social work educators can play an important part in ensuring that the promotion of health and well being is firmly on the social work agenda for service users as well as for students and educators Nevertheless this has not been a priority within social work education and presents a challenge which requires some re thinking in terms of curriculum content pedagogy and how social workers respond to social problems Furthermore if the promotion of health and well being is not considered a priority for social workers this raises important questions about the role and relevance of social work in health and thus poses challenges to social work education both now and in the future This book contains contributions from social work educators from Australia America Canada New Zealand and the UK They reflect on how best to prepare students to put health and well being to the forefront of practice drawing on research on quality of life subjective well being student well being community participation and social connectedness religion and spirituality mindful practices trauma and health inequalities This book is an extended version of a special issue of Social Work Education
