Economic Issues Rhetoric And Reality:

Economic Issues Michael Leonard Walden, 1995 This text intended to be of relevance to undergraduates in Economic Principles or Economic Issues courses addresses current economic issues Fact and Fiction in Economics Maki, 2002-12-12 There is an embarrassing polarization of opinions about the status of economics as an academic discipline as reflected in epithets such as the Dismal Science and the Queen of the Social Sciences This collection brings together some of the leading figures in the methodology and philosophy of economics to provide a thoughtful and balanced overview of the current state of debate about the nature and limits of economic knowledge Authors with partly rival and partly complementary perspectives examine how abstract models work and how they might connect with the real world they look at the special nature of the facts about the economy and they direct attention towards the academic institutions themselves and how they shape economic research These issues are thus analysed from the point of view of methodology semantics ontology rhetoric sociology and economics of science Human Rights Year Book 2010 Pravin H. Parekh, 2010 Intellectual Path Dependence in Economics Altug Yalcintas, 2016-03-10 Is economics always self corrective Do erroneous theorems permanently disappear from the market of economic ideas Intellectual Path Dependence in Economics argues that errors in economics are not always corrected Although economists are often critical and open minded unfit explanations are nonetheless able to reproduce themselves The problem is that theorems sometimes survive the intellectual challenges in the market of economic ideas even when they are falsified or invalidated by criticism and an abundance of counter evidence A key question which often gets little or no attention is why do economists not reject theories when they have been refuted by evidence and falsified by philosophical reasoning This book explores the answer to this question by examining the phenomenon of intellectual path dependence in the history of economic thought It argues that the key reason why economists do not reject refuted theories is the epistemic costs of starting to use new theories Epistemic costs are primarily the costs of scarcity of the most valued element in academic production time Epistemic scarcity overwhelmingly dominates the evolution of scientific research in such a way that when researchers start off a new research project they allocate time between replicable and unreplicable research This book is essential reading for anyone interested in the methodology philosophy and history of economics Reason and Reality in the Methodologies of Economics Glenn Fox, 1997 This highly original new book examines the scientific status of economics from the perspective of practising economists It studies how they evaluate their theories the relationship between those theories and the phenomena they are intended to represent and the philosophy methodology and scientific credentials of economics It examines the tension between economics as the logic of rational choice and as a predictive science that is reason and reality respectively It surveys the five most influential schools of thought in the methodology of economics with special emphasis on theory appraisal logical positivism instrumentalism a priorism scientific realism and rhetorical analysis Professor Fox assesses the extent to which economists have followed the precepts and consequences of their methodological position He extends the discussion to consider the purpose of such economic inquiry the scope of application and the appropriate structure of economic theory as the legitimate sources of economic knowledge In conclusion he argues that a resolution of existing and emerging methodological controversies in economics must begin with a better understanding of the various voices within the discipline Intended as an introduction to the major schools of thought in economics this book will be of interest to students and scholars of economics philosophy and economic methodology

Information and Communication in Economics Robert E. Babe,2012-12-06 Although there is a burgeoning interest among economists in information economics much of the literature adopts a reductionist conceptualization of information defining it exclusively as reduction in uncertainty exploring the implications of imperfect information on markets This neoclassical treatment obscures major interrelations between economic and communicatory processes Drawing on a range of distinguished scholarship from both the economic and communication studies disciplines Information and Communication in Economics explores the implications for economic analysis and our understanding of economic processes of employing a more complete conceptualization of information information as locus of power information as evolutionary agent and media systems as devices for control

Reality Gendervision Brenda R. Weber,2014-03-03 This essay collection focuses on the gendered dimensions of reality television in both the United States and Great Britain Through close readings of a wide range of reality programming from Finding Sarah and Sister Wives to Ghost Adventures and Deadliest Warrior the contributors think through questions of femininity and masculinity as they relate to the intersections of gender race class and sexuality They connect the genre s combination of real people and surreal experiences of authenticity and artifice to the production of identity and norms of citizenship the commodification of selfhood and the naturalization of regimes of power Whether assessing the Kardashian family brand portrayals of hoarders or big family programs such as 19 Kids and Counting the contributors analyze reality television as a relevant site for the production and performance of gender In the process they illuminate the larger neoliberal and postfeminist contexts in which reality TV is produced promoted watched and experienced Contributors David Greven Dana Heller Su Holmes Deborah Jermyn Misha Kavka Amanda Ann Klein Susan Lepselter Diane Negra Laurie Ouellette Gareth Palmer Kirsten Pike Maria Pramaggiore Kimberly Springer Rebecca Stephens Lindsay Steenberg Brenda R Weber     Applied Economics and the Critical Realist Critique Paul Downward,2005-08-18 This intriguing new book examines and analyses the role of critical realism in economics and specifically how this line of thought can be applied to the real world With contributions from such varying commentators as Sheila Dow Wendy Olsen and Fred Lee this new book is unique in its approach and will be of great interest to both economic methodologists and those involved in applied economic studies     An Arrogant Nation That Creates Its Own Reality: Rogene A. Buchholz,2019-11-13 Americans seem prone to create their own reality in situations that have faced them over the past several years and this arrogance cost the country dearly Three events stand out as prime examples this arrogance The first of these events was the war in Iraq which was based on the false reality that the country possessed weapons of mass destruction and had ties to terrorist organizations The second example was the financial crisis of 2008 which was precipitated by the invention of new and complicated investment vehicles The last example is the current Trump administration which was filled with falsehoods during the campaign and his first years in office such that one could not believe anything that this administration said This book is going to focus on religious reasons for this situation as I believe that it is the Christian religion that is largely at fault for this condition It is religion that has set up most Americans to believe our leaders when they outright lie and claim to know things beyond what the evidence will support and create a false reality that eventually comes crashing down to disrupt American life If our nation is ever going to be great it must quit living in a fantasy world and give up a belief in magic as far as its future is concerned Decisions in government and business must be based on reality as it is and not on what we arrogantly think we can create The two go together as the more we try and create our own reality the less able we are to come to grips with the reality that actually exists The place to start is by recognizing the role the Christian religion has played in this phenomenon and letting go of the fantasies that comprise this religion and live a secular life that finds meaning and purpose in this world rather than in some hereafter We will not successfully deal with all the problems with which we are faced and have a political and economic system that works for everyone until this happens     From Turnbull to Morrison

Mark Evans, Michelle Grattan, Brendan McCaffrie, 2019-08-23 Is trust between the government and Australians broken The country's leading institutions have been ranked among the least trusted in the world at a time when the economy has experienced twenty seven years of economic growth This has all happened since the 2016 federal election under the revolving prime ministerships of Malcolm Turnbull and Scott Morrison's first term Turnbull was the fourth sitting prime minister in a decade to be removed by his own party What role do these politically turbulent times play in this trust deficit Scott Morrison has now been elected by the people What does he and future prime ministers need to do to reboot civic belief in politics How will history judge the contribution of the Turnbull and Morrison administrations In From Turnbull to Morrison well known political journalists including Michelle Grattan George Megalogenis Megan Davis Virginia Haussegger Mark Kenny and Katharine Murphy and leading academics such as Frank Bongiorno Mark Evans Susan Harris Rimmer Anne Tiernan John Warhurst and George Williams examine the institutions the issues and the leaders at the heart of this crisis It is crucial reading for champions of liberal democracy From Turnbull to Morrison The Trust Divide is the thirteenth volume of Australia's longest running study of Australian Commonwealth Government started in 1983 The Rhetoric of Oil in the Twenty-First Century

Heather Graves, David Edward Beard, 2019-04-05 This book examines mass communication and civic participation in the age of oil analyzing the rhetorical and discursive ways that governments and corporations shape public opinion and public policy and activists attempt to reframe public debates to resist corporate framing In the twenty first century oil has become a subject of civic deliberation Environmental concerns have intensified questions of indigenous rights have arisen and private and public investment in energy companies has become open to deliberation International contributors use local events as a starting point to explore larger issues associated with oil dependent societies and cultures This interdisciplinary collection synthesizes work in the energy humanities rhetorical studies and environmental studies to analyze the global discourse of oil from the start of the twentieth century into the era of transnational corporations of the 21st century This book will be a vital text for scholars in communication studies the energy humanities and in environmental studies Case studies are framed accessibly and the theoretical lenses are accessible across disciplines making it ideal for a post graduate and advanced undergraduate audience in these fields
