international agricultural development A co publication with John Wiley Sons Ltd UK Sustainable Agricultural Development John M. Antle, Srabashi Ray, 2020-02-24 This book provides a non technical accessible primer on sustainable agricultural development and its relationship to sustainable development based on three analytical pillars The first is to understand agriculture as complex physical biological human systems Second is the economic perspective of understanding tradeoffs and synergies among the economic environmental and social dimensions of these systems at farm regional and global scales Third is the understanding of these agricultural systems as the supply side of one sector of a growing economy interacting through markets and policies with other sectors at local national and global scales The first part of the book introduces the concept of sustainability and develops an analytical framework based on tradeoffs quantified using impact indicators in the economic environmental and social domains linking this framework to the role of agriculture in economic growth and development Next the authors introduce the reader to the sustainability challenges of major agroecosystems in the developing and industrialized worlds The concluding chapter discusses the design and implementation of sustainable development pathways through the expression of consumers desire for sustainably produced foods on the demand side of the food system and through policies on the supply side such as new more sustainable technologies environmental regulation and payments for ecosystem services Handbook of Agricultural Economics Robert E. Evenson, Prabhu Pingali, 2007-06-28 Volume 3 of this series of the Handbooks in Economics follows on from the previous two volumes by focusing on the fundamental concepts of agricultural economics The first part of the volume examines the developments in human resources and technology mastery The second part follows on by considering the processes and impact of invention and innovation in this field The effects of market forces are examined in the third part and the volume concludes by analysing the economics of our changing natural resources including the past effects of climate change Overall this volume forms a comprehensive and accessible survey of the field of agricultural economics and is recommended reading for anyone with an interest either academic or professional in this area Part of the renowned Handbooks in Economics series Contributors are leaders of their areas International in scope and comprehensive in coverage Agricultural Development and Economic Transformation John W. Mellor, 2017-10-17 This book examines the role of agriculture in the economic transformation of developing low and middle income countries and explores means for accelerating agricultural growth and poverty reduction In this volume Mellor measures by household class the employment impact of alternative agricultural growth rates and land tenure systems and impact on cereal consumption and food security The book provides detailed analysis of each element of agricultural modernization emphasizing the central role of government in accelerated growth in private sector dominated agriculture The book differs from the bulk of current conventional wisdom in its placement of the non poor small commercial farmer at the center of growth and explains how growth translates into poverty reduction This new book is a follow up to Mellor s classic prize winning text The Economics of Agricultural Development Listed as a Best Books of 2017 Economics by

Financial Times Agriculture and Economic Development Subrata Ghatak, K. A. Ingersent, 1984 Structure and characteristics of agriculture in LDCs Role of agriculture in economic development Theory of rent and the concept of surplus Agriculture in dualistic development models Resource use efficiency and technical change in peasant agriculture Supply response Institutional constraints on agricultural development and remedial policies Population and food supplies Agriculture and international trade Planning agricultural development Agricultural Development in the World Periphery Vicente Pinilla, Henry Willebald, 2018-02-06 This book brings together analysis on the conditions of agricultural sectors in countries and regions of the world's peripheries from a wide variety of international contributors The contributors to this volume proffer an understanding of the processes of agricultural transformations and their interaction with the overall economies of Africa Asia and Latin America Looking at the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the onset of modern economic growth the book studies the relationship between agriculture and other economic sectors exploring the use of resources land labour capital and the influence of institutional and technological factors in the long run performance of agricultural activities Pinilla and Willebald challenge the notion that agriculture played a negligible role in promoting economic development in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries when the impulse towards industrialization in the developing world was more impactful

Conditions of Agricultural Growth Ester Boserup, 2013-11-05 Investigating the process of agrarian change this book analyzes costs and productivity under the main systems of primitive agriculture The conclusion is that technical economic and social changes are unlikely to take place within primitive agriculture unless the rural community concerned is exposed to the pressure of population growth a conclusion that is in sharp contrast to generally accepted ideas The themes in the book are central to the discussion of the problems of population explosion and the world's undernourished peoples

Agricultural Development in the Third World Carl K. Eicher, John M. Staatz, 1990 Institutional Economics Perspectives on African Agricultural Development Johann Kirsten, 2009-01-01 Millions of Africans spend their entire lives poor hungry and malnourished and most depend on agriculture for their livelihoods either directly or indirectly Despite its potential to drive economic growth and poverty reduction however African agricultural development has remained disappointing whether because of underinvestment or poor returns to investments This book Institutional Economics Perspectives on African Agricultural Development is inspired by the conviction that effective African agricultural development requires building better institutions It provides an accessible synthesis of new institutional economics theory and research into understanding and improving African agriculture particularly smallholder agriculture Interspersing theory with case studies from a wide range of countries the book addresses such policy issues as how markets for different commodities and services function in different political cultural and economic contexts It not only makes an important contribution to the existing literature but also provides development practitioners policymakers and graduate students working or intending to work in these fields with essential knowledge and tools for addressing these challenges OVERVIEW

Focusing on linkages beyond agriculture Veena Soni,2020-06-19 Academic Paper from the year 2020 in the subject Economics Economic Cycle and Growth language English abstract Those of us who preach the gospel of agriculture with evangelical zeal find the text compelling and convincing We are regularly possessed by the spirit only to look around and see out colleagues in other sectors in country management or even our senior management doubting yawning or subtly edging towards the door We face the implicit query If agriculture can do such great things why have they not yet happened The past decade has been one of agro pessimism The promises that agricultural development seem to hold did not materialise This pessimism seemed to coincide with pessimism about Sub Saharan Africa Especially for Sub Saharan Africa the hope was that economic development would be brought about by agricultural development After the success of the green revolution in Asia the hope was that a similar agricultural miracle would transform African economies But this hope never materialised agricultural productivity did not increase much in SSA and worse the negative effects of the green revolution in Asia became more apparent such as pesticide overuse and subsequent pollution Also in Asia the yield increases tapered off The sceptics put forward several arguments why agriculture is no longer an engine of growth For instance the liberalisation of the 1990s and greater openness to trade has lead to a reduction in the economic potential of the rural sector cheap imported Chinese plastic buckets out compete the locally produced pottery On the other hand it does mean cheaper imported supplies With rapid global technical change and increasingly integrated markets prices fall faster than yields rise So rural incomes fall despite increased productivity if they are net producers The integration of rural with urban areas means that healthy young people move out of agriculture head to town leaving behind the old the sick and the dependent It is often also the men who move to urban areas leaving women in charge of the farm This has resulted in the increased sophistication of agricultural markets and value chains which excludes traditional smallholders who are poorly equipped to meet the demanding product specifications and timeliness of delivery required by expanding supermarkets The natural resource base on which agriculture depends is poor and deteriorating Agricultural Development Policy Roger D. Norton,2005-08-05 Prepared under the aegis of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO this text presents a fresh and comprehensive look at agricultural development policy It provides a clear systematic review of important classes of policy issues in developing countries and discusses the emerging international consensus on viable approaches to the issues The text is unique in its coverage and depth and it Summarises hundreds of references on agricultural development policies Cites policy experiences and applied studies in more than 70 countries Provides guidance for policy makers giving examples of successes and failures Reviews issues related to the formulation of strategies and the requirements for making them successful Develops the conceptual foundations and illustrates policies that have worked and some that have not with explanations Topics covered include agriculture's role in economic development the objectives and strategies of agricultural policy linkages between macroeconomic and agricultural policy policies for the agricultural financial system and agricultural technology development Upper level undergraduates taking courses in Economic Development and International Development and graduates taking courses in Agricultural Development International and Economic Development Natural Resource Management and specialised topics in agriculture will find this text of great interest It also serves as a reference for professionals and researchers in the field of International Development
