Écritures Littéraires:

Lectures critiques et écritures littéraires Philippe Richard, 2022-08-02 Ce manuel d'études littéraires propose un horizon critique propre à fortifier les capacités de lecture et favoriser leurs travaux de dissertation. Il offre une vraie vision de la littérature grâce à la mise au jour des trois piliers qui soutiennent une œuvre : le monde humain et l'image sous la voûte qui en signe le caractère, le style. Il fait dialoguer extraits analytiques et extraits poétiques. Il se veut un outil pratique où chaque référence est précédée d'explications introductives notant l'enjeu du texte critique et la situation du texte littéraire. Tous les extraits sont accompagnés par les entrées traditionnelles de l'étude universitaire au demeurant mentionnées par le concours de l'école Normale Supérieure : l'œuvre littéraire, ses propriétés, sa valeur, l'œuvre littéraire et l'auteur, l'œuvre littéraire et le lecteur, la représentation littéraire, littérature et morale, littérature et politique, littérature et savoirs. Ce livre se veut donc être un compagnon d'étude dans le champ universitaire et un compagnon de route dans le champ intellectuel. Cet ouvrage s'adresse aux étudiants de classes préparatoires et de licence de lettres.

Repair the World Alexandre Gefen, 2024-08-19 Talk of repair has become ubiquitous in recent years. In the age of trauma, culture, art, and literature have a new purpose to do justice, to console, comfort, and heal. Drawing on works of twenty-first century French language literature, this monograph shows how literature can not only serve as a means of personal development but expand our capacity for empathy, help repair the brokenness implied in victimhood, and redress individual and collective traumas. Centered on a critical reflection on discourses of repair and reparations, it questions the canonical theories on the functions of literature and proposes a new way of writing and reading literary history. Praise: Repair the World is an invigorating and essential call to arms. The modern category of the literary it declares is being outpaced by the contemporary uses of literature as a medium of exorcism, empathy, reparation, testimony, commemoration, existential renewal, and ethical or political connectivity. Neither celebrating nor condemning such uses, Gefen models a much-needed style of criticism: interdisciplinary, pragmatic, relational, that comes to grips with their importance. Rita Felski, the John Stewart Bryan Professor and Professor of English at the University of Virginia, USA. In an era where self-help memoir and autobiography command more than their fair share of publisher's lists in France, it's tempting some fifty years after post-structuralism's heyday to ascribe an impending death of literature to a taste for narcissistic exhibitionism in French literary culture. But why bemoan the waning relevance of the question what is literature asks Alexandre Gefen when evidence abounds in the new century that literary writing increasingly posits itself as a restorative, reparative act. In the best instances, authors who give form to embodied experience imaginatively forge with their readers empathetic bonds of the sort that secular and religious institutions long sustained. Repair the World is not only a capacious study of writers who hail from surprisingly broad sectors of French society, from health and social workers to skilled laborers, journalists, and educators; it's a situated call for a pragmatics of reading that makes of each book an intervention into the fabric of the real Harnessing sources in affect theory trauma studies ethics and cognitive science Alexandre Gefen performs a critically reparative act all his own reminding us that the notion of literature as autonomous object was itself a historical construct in short an ideology Reading and writing have always conjoined care for the self and care for others and it is upon that reciprocity that the communities of sense of tomorrow can flourish in a spirit of reparative humanism Derek Schilling Professor of French Director of the Centre Louis Marin Department of Modern Languages and Literatures Johns Hopkins University USA Alexandre Gefen's wide ranging thought provoking study takes stock of a paradigm shift in contemporary French literature away from a model of autonomy and intransitivity to ways of writing and reading that seek to repair restore reassure and rebuild From the varied forms of expressivity found in self narratives to the empathetic projections of fiction Repair the World maps out an expanding literary territory that seeks not critical negativity but rather the power to intervene for good in individual and collective life While reserving judgment on the actual extent of literature's effects Gefen demonstrates that contemporary projects and discourses undeniably center the therapeutic and remediative uses of literature With its nuanced readings and keen insights Repair the World has been rightly influential in France its powerful diagnosis of contemporary sensibilities resonates far beyond revealing both the promises and predicaments of literature in the twenty first century Alison James Professor of French and Chair of the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures at the University of Chicago USA What would it mean to ask Sartre's post war question What is literature in the 21st century In this wonderful essay Alexandre Gefen argues convincingly that the main purpose of literature today is to repair a broken world and memorialise forgotten lives Taking examples from predominantly contemporary French literature he proposes that literature as therapy has replaced religions of salvation a politics of emancipation and formal experimentation Today literature's mission is to heal traumatised individuals and communities resurrect the lives of the vulnerable and commemorate their deeds in the face of the forces of oblivion For Gefen Patrick Modiano's Dora Bruder 1997 is the contemporary literary archetype of these lost identities to be rehabilitated and reinhabited Gefen describes this new role for literature without taking sides the writing is lucid compelling and non partisan In an age of victimhood testimony empathy self expression and identity Gefen's reparative paradigm is as persuasive as Sartre's political version in the age of ideology Max Silverman Professor of Modern French Studies University of Leeds UK

A Bibliography for the Study of French Literature and Culture Since 1885 Sheri Dion, 2012-09 Translating Holocaust Lives Jean Boase-Beier, Peter Davies, Andrea Hammel, Marion Winters, 2017-01-26 For readers in the English speaking world almost all Holocaust writing is translated writing Translation is indispensable for our understanding of the Holocaust because there is a need to tell others what happened in a way that makes events and experiences accessible if not perhaps comprehensible to other communities Yet what this means is only beginning to be explored by Translation Studies scholars This book aims to bring together the insights of Translation Studies and Holocaust Studies in order to show what a critical understanding of translation in practice and context can contribute to our knowledge of the legacy of the Holocaust The role translation plays is not just as a facilitator of a semi transparent transfer of information Holocaust writing involves questions about language truth and ethics and a theoretically informed understanding of translation adds to these questions by drawing attention to processes of mediation and reception in cultural and historical context It is important to examine how writing by Holocaust victims which is closely tied to a specific language and reflects on the relationship between language experience and thought can or cannot be translated This volume brings the disciplines of Holocaust and Translation Studies into an encounter with each other in order to explore the effects of translation on Holocaust writing The individual pieces by Holocaust scholars explore general theoretical questions and individual case studies and are accompanied by commentaries by translation scholars

Decolonizing Translation Kathryn Batchelor, 2014-04-08 The linguistically innovative aspect of Francophone African literature has been recognized and studied from a variety of angles over recent decades yet little attention has been paid to what happens to such literature when it is translated into another language Taking as its corpus all sub-Saharan Francophone African texts that have ever been published in English this book explores the ways in which translators approach innovative features such as African language borrowings neologisms and other deliberate manipulations of French depictions of sociolinguistic variation and a variety of types of wordplay The implications of their translation decisions are drawn out with reference to the broader significances that are often accorded to postcolonial literature and earlier critics calls for a decolonized translation practice are explored from both a practical and theoretical angle These findings are used to push towards a detailed investigation of the postcolonial turn in translation studies drawing on the work of key postcolonial theorists such as Homi K Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak This is a timely and incisive critical assessment of contemporary discourses on the ethics and politics of translation

L'histoire littéraire Alain Vaillant, 2010-04-07 Alors que l'histoire littéraire est en plein renouveau il manquait encore une synthèse générale offrant un bilan théorique et méthodologique une présentation concrète des voies nouvelles de la discipline le premier objet de ce livre est de combler cette lacune Il doit donc se confronter aux grandes notions que rencontre toute théorie littéraire la littérature l'auteur le genre le lecteur la mimésis etc Mais son orientation est aussi résolument pluridisciplinaire Considérant la littérature comme un système culturel parmi d'autres l'histoire littéraire entre en résonance avec la sociologie Se définissant elle-même comme histoire de la communication littéraire elle croise l'histoire culturelle et la médiologie Visant à définir une poétique historique des formes littéraires elle porte la même attention aux inventions et aux pratiques esthétiques que l'histoire de l'art Au fil des chapitres il esquisse enfin une interprétation historique globale des grandes phases de la littérature française et de façon plus précise des bouleversements majeurs esthétiques et institutionnels qu'elle a connus de la Révolution jusqu'au XXI^e siècle
