Famous People Of Png Alice Wedega:

Dame Alice Wedega Eric Johns,2001-11 Labour Lines and Colonial Power Victoria Stead,Jon Altman,2019-08-16

Today increases of so called low skilled and temporary labour migrations of Pacific Islanders to Australia occur alongside calls for Indigenous people to orbit from remote communities in search of employment opportunities These trends reflect the persistent neoliberalism within contemporary Australia as well as the effects of structural dynamics within the global agriculture and resource extractive industries They also unfold within the context of long and troubled histories of Australian colonialism and of complexes of race labour and mobility that reverberate through that history and into the present The contemporary labour of Pacific Islanders in the horticultural industry has sinister historical echoes in the blackbirding of South Sea Islanders to work on sugar plantations in New South Wales and Queensland in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as well as in wider patterns of labour trade and colonisation across the Pacific region The antecedents of contemporary Indigenous labour mobility meanwhile include forms of unwaged and highly exploitative labouring on government settlements missions pastoral stations and in the pearling industry For both Pacific Islanders and Indigenous people though labour mobilities past and present also include agentive and purposeful migrations reflective of rich cultures and histories of mobility as well as of forces that compel both movement and immobility Drawing together historians anthropologists sociologists and geographers this book critically explores experiences of labour mobility by Indigenous peoples and Pacific Islanders including M ori within Australia Locating these new expressions of labour mobility within historical patterns of movement contributors interrogate the contours and continuities of Australian coloniality in its diverse and interconnected expressions Political Life Writing in the Pacific Jack Corbett,Brij V. Lal,2015-07-29 This book aims to reflect on the experiential side of writing political lives in the Pacific region The collection touches on aspects of the life writing art that are particularly pertinent to political figures public perception and ideology identifying important political successes and policy initiatives grappling with issues like corruption and age old political science questions about leadership and dirty hands These are general themes but they take on a particular significance in the Pacific context and so the contributions explore these themes in relation to patterns of colonisation and the memory of independence issues elliptically captured by terms like culture and tradition the nature of self presented in Pacific life writing and the tendency for many of these texts to be written by outsiders or at least the increasingly contested nature of what that term means Preparing a Nation? Brad Underhill,2024-08-22 Preparing a Nation based on extensive archival research addresses perennial questions of Australian colonialism in Papua New Guinea To what extent did Australia prepare Papua New Guinea for independence And what were the policies and the ideologies behind colonial development implemented after World War II A key innovation of this book is to take these questions from policy desks in Canberra and Port Moresby to the villages of four administrative areas Chimbu Milne Bay Sepik and New Hanover How successful were Australian colonial planners in designing and implementing programs that could ameliorate the potential harm of market capitalism and develop new socioeconomic structures that would combine a disparate people into an imagined community capable of becoming an independent nation state in the far distant future Colonial intention is contrasted with Indigenous experience Bradley Underhill explores an Australian governmental tendency to prioritise colonial control over Indigenous autonomy in circumstances where subjugated people do not necessarily fit within an expected narrative of compliant or westernised native I expect it will become the standard reference for its subject which covers a pivotal aspect of Australia's colonial administration Bill Gammage

Papua New Guinea Adrian Lipscomb, Rowan McKinnon, Jon Murray, 1998 A guide to enjoying the variety of activities in Papua New Guinea from bushwalking and diving to eating and bird watching Coverage includes information about travel around and between the island's various areas health and safety lodging and Pidgin as well as historical political and cultural background material Includes many color photographs Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Diving & Snorkeling Papua New Guinea Bob Halstead, 1999 Papua New Guinea has one of the most diverse and under explored coral reef regions in the world It has ship wrecks abyss diving and pristine marine conditions with unrecorded sealife This is a guide to diving and snorkelling in the area

Pathways to Independence Dame Rachel Cleland, 1985 Australian responsibility for the administration of Papua New Guinea came formally to an end when that country became an independent state in 1975 The two countries maintain strong and substantial links and common interests they share membership of the Commonwealth of Nations and association in other international and regional bodies This book is the personal story of one who lived in Papua New Guinea and was intimately associated with the life of the country during the last twenty five years of Australian administration Dame Rachel came to join her husband in 1951 in the aftermath of war which had left its heavy mark upon the Territory Her account is an important record of events and developments and of the parts played by many people over these important years From foreword
