Struggling Times Louis Simpson, 2016-09-05 Pulitzer Prize winning poet Louis Simpson has been a leading figure in American letters for more than half a century Born in the West Indies Simpson immigrated to the United States at the age of seventeen He studied at Columbia University then served the US Army in active duty in Europe during World War II After the war he continued his studies at Columbia and at the University of Paris While living in France he published his first book of poems The Arrivistes 1949 The poems in Struggling Times find Simpson's distinct imaginative voice working at its full poetic power Both timely and personal the poems reveal Simpson's ongoing quarrel with suburban America as well as the American government's struggle to retain its integrity and honor in the midst of its own aggression and worldwide strife You have to be careful what you hear or see In Afghanistan I saw the man and the woman who were caught in adultery buried up to their heads Their children were brought and told to throw stones I can still see the heads twisting on the ground The poor devil in Papillon with his head in the guillotine but Goya's half buried dog looking up at the sky I think was the worst of all This is the Jamaican born Simpson's 18th collection its dry trimeters and tragic resignations should certainly please the faithful fans Yet the new poems as much as any in his oeuvre leave room for unexpected happiness Simpson believes in endurance and the rewards of the ordinary He can at his best make his readers believe in those things too Publishers Weekly Louis Simpson's last book The Owner of the House New Collected Poems 1940-2001 BOA Editions Ltd 2003 was finalist for the National Book Award and the Griffin Poetry Prize His other honors include the Prix de Rome Guggenheim Foundation fellowships and the Columbia Medal for Excellence

Sky Country Christine Kitano, 2017-08-21 Christine Kitano's second poetry collection elicits a sense of hunger an intense longing for home and an ache for human connection Channeling both real and imagined immigration experiences of her own family her grandmothers who fled Korea and Japan and her father a Japanese American who was incarcerated during WWII Kitano's ambitious poetry speaks for those who have been historically silenced and displaced Christine Kitano's first collection of poetry Birds of Paradise was published by Lynx House Press She lives in Ithaca NY where she is an assistant professor of creative writing poetry and Asian American literature at Ithaca College

Carpathia Cecilia Woloch, 2015-06-20 Her traveling poetics are striking in the way that she defies the borders of narrative and lyric she combines the two seamlessly an enviable gift Sacramento News Review These poems move through love and death sadness and euphoria and across European and American landscapes encountering lovers strangers and beloved ghosts They arrive finally in a place of beauty mystery grief and joy Poems from this collection were selected by Marie Howe as winner of the 2006 Tupelo Press Snowbound Chapbook Award Cecilia Woloch was named 2004 Georgia Author of the Year in Poetry for her last collection Late BOA Editions Ltd 2003 She is founding director of the Summer Poetry Workshop in Idyllwild California She lives in Atlanta Georgia and Los Angeles California and travels extensively in Europe From Devils Lake Journal Cecilia Woloch's collection Carpathia is about distance both physical and emotional Her poems occupy a lush landscape where the natural world succumbs to loss where fat bees fall into the wine and the ghost swans have wings of death The highlights of this collection are her numerous postcard poems which feel balanced in their attempts to be both strange and authentic without becoming burdened with ironic oddity that I've seen so much in recent poetry Her postcards move making leaps with each new sentence and their prose poem form opens these poems up to be more peculiar in a way that's all together successful From The Cosmopolitan Review One of the joys of Cecilia Woloch's poetry is that it so beautifully and skilfully intermingles humour with emotional intensity sensuality and existential profoundness Underneath it all there lies a clear conviction that each of us could have been somebody else could have been born and lived somewhere else and yet We all dwell in one country O stranger the world

Off-season in the Promised Land Peter Makuck, 2005 Poetry from an everyday paradise on the coastal waters of North Carolina

Antidote for Night Marsha de la O, 2015-09-21 Set in present day Southern California Antidote for Night is a heartbreak lyric a corrido a love song to California's city lights and far flung outskirts the San Diego backcountry the Central Valley the Inland Empire and the Mojave Desert Marsha de la O's voice is a kind of free jazz musically rich with LA noir and the vastness of metropolitan Southern California Marsha de la O's Black Hope won the New Issues Prize from the University of Western Michigan and an Editor's Choice Award. She has taught Spanish speaking children in Los Angeles and Ventura County for thirty years. Refuge Adrie Kusserow, 2013-04-19. Deeply cross cultural humanitarian political and global poems about how humans deal with suffering across the world. These are poems about cultures rubbing up against each other, war, refugees, child soldiers, spiritual refugees trying to find a home, and a mother who is witnessing these firsthand. Rare ethnographic poetry by a world traveling cultural anthropologist and human rights activist. The Second O of Sorrow Sean Thomas Dougherty, 2018-04-10. Sean Thomas Dougherty celebrates the struggles, the dignity, and the joys of working class life in the Rust Belt. Finding delight in everyday moments: a night at a packed karaoke bar, a father and daughter planting a garden, a biography of LeBron James as a metaphor for Ohio. These poems take pride in the people who survive despite all odds, who keep going without any concern for glory, fighting with wit and grace for justice, for joy every god-damned day. Transfer Naomi Shihab Nye, 2011-08-23. In the current literary scene, one of the most heartening influences is the work of Naomi Shihab Nye. Her poems combine transcendent liveliness and sparkle along with warmth and human insight. She is a champion of the literature of encouragement and heart. Reading her work enhances life. William Stafford's Dusk, where is the name no one answered to, gone off to live by itself beneath the pine trees separating the houses without a friend or a bed without a father to tell its stories, how hard was the path it walked on all those years belonging to none of our struggles drifting under the calendar page elusive as residue when someone said how have you been, it was strangely that name that tried to answer. Naomi Shihab Nye has spent thirty-five years traveling the world to lead writing workshops and inspire students of all ages. In her newest collection Transfer, she draws on her Palestinian American heritage, the cultural diversity of her home in Texas, and her extensive travel experiences to create a poetry collection that attests to our shared humanity. Among her awards, Naomi Shihab Nye has been a Lannan Fellow, a Guggenheim Fellow, and a Witter Bynner Fellow. She has received a Lavan Award from the Academy of American Poets, the Isabella Gardner Poetry Award, the Paterson Poetry Prize, and four Pushcart prizes. In January 2010, she was elected to the board of chancellors of the Academy of American Poets. And Michael Blumenthal, 2016-09-05. Through Michael Blumenthal's eyes, we gain a renewed childlike wonder at everything from plants, trees, and relationships to the most fundamental word in our vocabulary: AND. Blumenthal uses the conjunction to unify this collection and create a chanting, sonorous rhythm to his work. The result is a book of poems as hymns, praising Michael. Blumenthal holds the Mina Hohenberg Darden Endowed Chair in Creative Writing at Old Dominion University. His other books include the memoir All My Mothers and Fathers (HarperCollins Publishers, 2002) and the poetry collection Dusty Angel (BOA Editions Ltd, 1999) for which he was awarded the Isabella Gardner Poetry Award. Blumenthal's new collection of poems, titled And, is the closest that the stoicism of Ecclesiastes will come to getting a 21st century makeover. In it, there's a time to laugh and cry, scatter stones, and gather them up, and all the rest. There's no point, though, in toil and hope beyond that. After reading these poems which are designed with a cosmic sweep you get the feeling that Blumenthal's plan is as in Dylan Thomas's poem eventually just to go gentle into that good night Rage rage against the dying of the light be damned THE JEWISH DAILY FORWARD Michael Blumenthal's stunning new book And is an Eliotic celebration of life in the world as continuum and progress He achieves this through a simple and seductive meditation upon the conjunction and and the way it enriches the complexity of language as it shapes lived experience The Montserrat Review The Hoopoe's Crown Jacqueline Osherow, 2005 Poems dealing with the land of Israel and inconsistencies and mysteries in Biblical texts Theophobia Bruce Beasley, 2012-09-18 Theophobia is the latest volume in Bruce Beasley's ongoing spiritual meditation which forms a kind of postmodern devotional poetry in a reinvention of the tradition of John Donne George Herbert Emily Dickinson Gerard Manley Hopkins and T S Eliot Theophobia is structured around a series of poems called Pilgrim's Deviations and forms a deviant and deviating pilgrimage through science history politics and popular culture Beasley seeks the Biblical Kingdom of God among Dolly the cloned sheep the wonders and horrors of extremophilic creatures living in astonishing intensities of temperature robotic phone operators and Wikipedia's explanation of the mysteries of the Holy Spirit Bruce Beasley is the author of six poetry collections most recently The Corpse Flower New and Selected Poems University of Washington Press 2007 He has won fellowships from the NEA and the Artist Trust of Washington and three Pushcart Prizes I'm No Longer Troubled by the Extravagance Rick Bursky, 2015-09-21 I'm No Longer Troubled by the Extravagance is a collection of poems that assign new meanings to the people and things of the past The book moves in three sections through a fantastic landscape that maps human fragility The poems in the first section speak to matters of the heart intimacy and loss punctuated by lovers who leave The second section is comprised of prose poems chronicling misadventures and conspiracies Russian spies on Wilshire Boulevard artichokes that mate for life and secret photographs of God Finally the third section pans out from individual experience hosting the collective in fable like reflections Together the poems in Extravagance mark with fragile acceptance the surreal extravagance of being alive The Relentless One day we'll know how long the dead have to be dead before they feel hunger One day it'll be summer forever In the meantime the weather looking for its cue keeps an eye on me and I keep whatever money's in my pocket crumpled in a ball A relentless responsibility dogs me and the funny thing is these are the lyrics to a happy song Go ahead tap your foot snap your fingers We're roasting a pig in the yard Rick Bursky is the author of Death Obscura Sarabande Books 2010 and The Soup of Something Missing Bear Star Press 2004 winner of the Dorothy Brunsman Poetry Prize He lives in Los Angeles where he works in advertising and teaches poetry in the UCLA Extension Writer's Program Ennui Prophet Christopher Kennedy, 2011-06-21 Singular and deeply pleasurable Christopher Kennedy's prose poetry is a lonely anarchic nation state unto itself half vacation funspot half eerie purgatorial layover Dave Eggers The poems in Ennui Prophet Christopher Kennedy's fourth collection range from deeply personal explorations of relationships with family and friends to examinations of the political climate in the first decade of the
