Farmers Organizations:

Cultivating Cooperation Raymond A. Young, 1995 As one of the most successful farm organizations in the United States the Missouri Farmers Association brought together farm clubs from all over the state to serve as the central body through which farmer owned businesses could compete with investor owned businesses In Cultivating Cooperation Raymond A Young follows the fascinating history of MFA from its grass roots beginning in a schoolhouse in 1914 through the upheaval that led to only the second leadership change in the organization s history in 1979 William Hirth was responsible for the early success of MFA At the age of fifteen Hirth became interested in farming and started lecturing on the benefits of building a cooperative of farm clubs He continued to advocate this idea by publishing The Missouri Farmer a magazine that informed subscribers on legislative issues and farm club news and later became MFA s house organ Hirth believed that the farm clubs should capitalize not only on the economic advantages of joining together as a cooperative but on the political and social advantages as well Upon Hirth s death in 1940 Fred Heinkel took over leadership of MFA Under his guidance the cooperative grew at a feverish rate Supply companies such as oil refineries feed mills and seed plants were acquired or built whenever it proved advantageous to the farmers A sister cooperative was created to expand into neighboring states and a national alliance was created to establish a stronger representation in Washington D C MFA was also instrumental in securing a four year medical school in its hometown of Columbia in order to ensure medical care for farmers and their families in rural areas In addition MFA has played a role in helping Third World countries develop cooperatives of their own With intimate knowledge of the organization Raymond Young involves the reader in the intricacies of the formation and development of the Missouri Farmers Association enlivening his account with liberal use of anecdotes from the pages of The Missouri Farmer An introduction by Michael L Cook places the story of MFA within the context of the history of the cooperative movement nationwide Students and scholars of Missouri history as well as farmers and those interested in agriculture will find this comprehensive examination of MFA an invaluable resource

Gêmo, Hélder R., Babu, Suresh Chandra, 2019-02-21 The role and impact of non state extension services providers have not been studied adequately In this paper we assess the performance of the non State extension service provision through farmers organization FOs in Mozambique Using participating methods focused group discussions and key informant interviews we provide an assessment of extension services provision to FOs The result indicates only 3% of the 1264 surveyed FOs were categorized as type A the highest FOs rating scale used by services providers SPs in the three regions of the country Effective monitoring and evaluation regular analytical participatory at field level and close working interaction between the Public Agricultural Extension Services PAES and the SPs were of paramount importance to track the progress made in empowering the FOs SPs pro activeness and competence were critical factors to adequately address the various training needs of the different categories of FOs and local services providers SPs financial autonomy was key to compensate for the delays in the disbursements by the PAES The selection criteria for the participating farmers trainees from targeted FOs makes a difference Younger and more literate farmers including women have shown greater motivation and engagement in the training sessions Outsourcing can be a valuable alternative for the provision of extension services if it targets specific intervention areas for example training for FOs a limited number of activities well defined deliverables including quality and sustainability issues and timelines Post training and post project actions at the policy level and extension services providers are required to contribute to the sustainability of the investment made Based on these findings the paper documents several operational lessons from the implementation of the program Farm Organizations United States. Department of Labour,1921 Bygone Utopias and Farm Protest in the Rural Midwest Daniel Jaster,2021-04-09 This book explores those who long for bygone utopias times before rapid culturally destructive social change stripped individuals of their perceived agency The case of the wave of foreclosure protests that swept through the rural American Midwest during the 1930s illustrates these themes These actions embodied a utopian understanding of agrarian society that had largely disappeared by the late 19th century hundreds to thousands of people fixed public auctions of foreclosed farms returning owners property and giving them a second chance to save their farm Comparisons to later movements including the National Farmers Organization and the protests surrounding the 1980s Farm Crisis highlight the importance of culturally catastrophic social change occurring at a breakneck pace in fomenting these types of bygone utopian actions These activists and movements should cause scholars to re think what it means to be conservative and how we view conservatism helping us better understand why we re seeing a contemporary resurgence in nationalist and reactionary movements across the globe
