Finding Home Julie K. Ageson, 2020-07-24 For all who know the security of home in all its iterations and for those who don't finding home is complicated Home always is characterized by joy and sorrow grief and gladness the realities of complicated lives What is it like to flee the horrors of war as a refugee in search of home When daily life is unbearable what exactly does home mean How do we learn to be at home in our bodies at home with ourselves What does it mean to be made in the likeness of the Holy One Can we find home in the company of strangers and how do we reclaim our earth home So many images swim just below the surface of my memory all the houses where I came to know home It takes little to retrieve them a shared story the pungent smell of tide flats the sound of rain on a tin roof But home of course is much more than houses These reflections invite readers to explore identity the importance of rootedness discovering home away from home what it means to be home for one another Finding home literally and metaphorically is challenging

Finding Home Tina Reiman, 2020-10-13 Home A word that can be a noun an adjective a verb or an adverb but all suggesting a sense of where one originated and where one belongs This word can be used to describe a position in a game instincts in the animal kingdom a location on a computer screen or the place where family gathers to support and celebrate one another However in our fractured world filled with addiction violence illness and broken relationships too many are just wandering lost with no home even when they find a roof over their heads They look for a sense of belonging in groups and gangs where they hope for acceptance and support Too many turn to drugs and alcohol to medicate their loneliness some being drawn into the most sweeping opioid epidemic we have ever seen What if we could find ways to create a stronger sense of home in our circles of influence What if we learned how to open up the doors of our lives and bring people into the warmth and shelter that they have been looking for What if we knew how to start conversations that would bring the issues of finding home to the forefront and help us find tools to assist those around us in building their own place of belonging In the wake of losing her twenty four year old son Nicolai to a fentanyl overdose Tina Reiman began a journey to understand his struggle to find home This path led her to reexamine what she believed about addiction parenting and love One result was her establishment of a nonprofit dedicated to reducing addiction homelessness and suicide among the young men of her community through the coaching of those who understand home
