

ELEGY

O CAPTAIN! MY CAPTAIN!

BY WALT WHITMAN

O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done,
The ship has weather'd every rack, the prize we sought is won,
The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting,
While follow eyes the steady keel, the vessel grim and daring;
But O heart! heart! heart!
O the bleeding drops of red,
Where on the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

O Captain! my Captain! rise up and hear the bells;
Rise up- for you the flag is flung- for you the bugle trills,
For you bouquets and ribbon'd wreaths- for you the shores a-
crowding,
For you they call, the swaying mass, their eager faces turning;
Here Captain! dear father!
This arm beneath your head!
It is some dream that on the deck,
You've fallen cold and dead.

My Captain does not answer, his lips are pale and still,
My father does not feel my arm, he has no pulse nor will,
The ship is anchor'd safe and sound, its voyage closed and done,
From fearful trip the victor ship comes in with object won;
Exult O shores, and ring O bells!
But I with mournful tread,
Walk the deck my Captain lies,
Fallen cold and dead.

First Fours Of Poems:

The Eclogues Heather J. Williams, 1986 Although editions of Nemesianus have been surprisingly numerous very few have contributed appreciably to our understanding of this author and most texts have been based on a very limited number of manuscripts There has been no commentary of any length since that of Burman 1731 and there has never before been one in English covering the whole corpus This book is an attempt to remedy those deficiencies The text is the first to have been based on an examination of all the known manuscripts and a detailed and accurate apparatus criticus is provided The textual history of both poems is thoroughly discussed The question of the authenticity of the Eclogues is examined and Nemesianus authorship is held to be proved The commentary is mainly concerned with textual and grammatical matters There is also a bibliography

Producing Women's Poetry, 1600-1730 Gillian Wright, 2013-04-18 Producing Women's Poetry is the first specialist study to consider English language poetry by women across the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries. Gillian Wright explores not only the forms and topics favoured by women but also how their verse was enabled and shaped by their textual and biographical circumstances. She combines traditional literary and bibliographical approaches to address women's complex use of manuscript and print and their relationships with the male-generated genres of the traditional literary canon as well as the role of agents such as scribes, publishers and editors in helping to determine how women's poetry was preserved, circulated and remembered. Wright focuses on key figures in the emerging canon of early modern women's writing: Anne Bradstreet, Katherine Philips and Anne Finch alongside the work of lesser-known poets Anne Southwell and Mary Monck to create a new and compelling account of early modern women's literary history
