Alapack,2012-01-12 Lately I have been re acquainting myself with the writings of Rich Alapack through his latest books Loves Pivotal Relationships Sorrows Profiles and White Hot True Blue These reminded me of the lucid beauty of Alapacks writing style and of the deep and penetrating insights that he shares with his reader I recognize myself and others in the vignettes these books provide and have been incorporating his texts into my recent graduate classes Alapacks writings mark a return to the original form in which phenomenologists used to communicate with their readers via straightforward reflection drawing upon a lifetime of experience speaking in simple descriptive language and capturing the essence of human experience by mastering the art of speaking truthfully and authentically It takes a certain kind of free courageousness to engage in such writing today in an intellectual climate where demands for methodological rigor in the form of operationalism run amok have compromised manuscripts submitted for review in favor of half hearted statements of methodological orthodoxy followed by statements of findings that amount to little more than summaries of raw data What Alapack has achieved in his recent writings and especially in his latest venture The Splendor of Seeing and the Magic of Touch is a truth speaking both from the authors heart and from his lifetime of authentic dialogue with the interlocutors he has found along his own lifes journey The gift that he gives to his reader is the gift of inviting us to join him on his own path to enlightenment Scott D Churchill PhD Professor and Graduate Program Director University of Dallas Editor in Chief The Humanistic Psychologist This book is heart warming joyful and insightfully brilliant This authors newest publication once again
