Education, Dominance and Identity Diane B. Napier, Suzanne Majhanovich, 2013-02-11 This volume is a collection of research cases illustrating the interrelationships among education dominance and identity in historical and contemporary contexts The cases reflect particular ways in which local group and indigenous identities have been affected by a dominant discourse how education can support or undermine identity and how languages including dominant and sub dominant languages and the language of instruction in schools are at the centre of challenges to hegemony and domination in many situations Examining the issues in their research the contributors reveal how members of minority disadvantaged or dominated groups and the teachers and parents of children in their schools struggle for recognition for education in their own language for acceptance within larger society or for recognition of the validity of their responses to reform initiatives and policies that address a wider agenda but that fail to take into account key factors such as perceptions and subaltern status Collectively the chapters document research employing a variety of methodological approaches and theoretical perspectives illustrating an array of universal and global issues in the field of comparative and international education However each of the cases its own unique character as research findings and as personal reflections based on the authors experiential knowledge in particular social cultural and political contexts The contexts and regional settings include Chile Canada the United States Hungary and elsewhere in East Central Europe France Germany Spain Malaysia Tanzania South Africa Cyprus Tunisia Egypt Iran and elsewhere in the Middle East

Teaching Each Other, Enhanced Edition Linda M. Goulet,Keith N. Goulet,2024-11-15 In recent decades educators have been seeking ways to improve outcomes for Indigenous students Yet most Indigenous education still takes place within a theoretical framework based in Eurocentric thought In Teaching Each Other Linda Goulet and Keith

Goulet provide an alternative framework for teachers working with Indigenous students one that moves beyond acknowledging Indigenous culture to one that actually strengthens Indigenous identity Drawing on Nehinuw Cree concepts such as kiskinaumatowin or teaching each other Goulet and Goulet provide a new approach to teaching Indigenous students Kiskinaumatowin transforms the normally hierarchical teacher student relationship by making students and teachers equitable partners in education Enriched with the success stories of educators who are applying Nehinuw concepts in Saskatchewan Canada this book demonstrates how this framework works in practice The result is an alternative teaching model that can be used by teachers anywhere who want to engage with students whose culture may be different from the mainstream This enhanced edition also includes audio pronunciations of each Cree word as well as a glossary of Cree words and their meanings

Science Education in Canada Christine D. Tippet, Todd M. Milford, 2019-07-01 This book offers a meso level description of demographics science education and science teacher education Representing all 13 Canadian jurisdictions the book provides local insights that serve as the basis for exploring the Canadian system as a whole and function as a common starting point from which to identify causal relationships that may be associated with Canada's successes The book highlights commonalities consistencies and distinctions across the provinces and territories in a thematic analysis of the 13 jurisdiction specific chapters Although the analysis indicates a network of policy and practice issues warranting further consideration the diverse nature of Canadian science education makes simple identification of causal relationships elusive Canada has a reputation for strong science achievement However there is currently limited literature on science education in Canada at the general level or in specific areas such as Canadian science curriculum or science teacher education This book fills that gap by presenting a thorough description of science education at the provincial territorial level as well as a more holistic description of pressing issues for Canadian science education

Citizen Youth J. Kennelly, 2011-07-04 What are the ties that bind the good youth citizen and the youth activist in the twenty first century Contemporary young people are encouraged through education and other cultural sites to save the world via community projects that resemble activism yet increasingly risk arrest for public acts of dissent Citizen Youth goes to the heart of these contradictions exploring the dilemmas and cultural dynamics of being young and politically engaged Through an ethnographic study of young people working on activist causes across the three largest urban centres in one of the wealthiest nations in the world Toronto Montreal and Vancouver Canada this book draws on Bourdieusian cultural sociology feminist theories of agency phenomenology and political theories of the state and neoliberalism to understand what it means to be a certain kind of youth citizen in the twenty first century Accessibly written yet theoretically engaged the book will be of interest to individuals both within academia and in the wider world of social movements and youth engagement

Resiliency and Capacity Building in Inner-city Learning Communities Dawn Leigh Sutherland, Laura Sokal, 2003 The voices that are represented in this book offer differing perspectives on ways to support inner city children and families Each essay offers a unique contribution to our understanding of the interdependence of the people in these communities yet all share the common message that inner city children and families have strengths that can be built on to maximize their positive outcomes This book is especially relevant to teachers who work with children and families with challenges

A National Crime John S. Milloy, 2011-08-01 I am going to tell you how we are treated I am always hungry Edward B a student at Onion Lake School 1923 If I were appointed by the Dominion Government for the express purpose of spreading tuberculosis there is nothing finer in existence than the average Indian residential school N Walker Indian Affairs Superintendent 1948 For over 100 years thousands of Aboriginal children passed through the Canadian residential school system Begun in the 1870s it was intended in the words of government officials to bring these children into the circle of civilization the results however were far different More often the schools provided an inferior education in an atmosphere of neglect disease and often abuse Using previously unreleased government documents historian John S Milloy provides a full picture of the history and reality of the residential school system He begins by tracing the ideological roots of the system and follows the paper trail of internal memoranda reports from field inspectors and letters of complaint In the early decades the system grew without planning or restraint Despite numerous critical commissions and reports it persisted into the 1970s when it transformed itself into a social welfare system without improving conditions for its thousands of wards A National Crime shows that the residential system was chronically underfunded and often mismanaged and documents in detail and how this affected the health education and well being of entire generations of Aboriginal children
