Political Life in the Wake of the Plantation Deborah A. Thomas, 2019-11-08 In 2010 Jamaican police and military forces entered the West Kingston community of Tivoli Gardens to apprehend Christopher Dudus Coke, who had been ordered for extradition to the United States on gun and drug running charges. By the time Coke was detained somewhere between seventy-five and two hundred civilians had been killed. In Political Life in the Wake of the Plantation, Deborah A. Thomas uses the incursion as a point of departure for theorizing the roots of contemporary state violence in Jamaica and in post-plantation societies in general.

Drawing on visual, oral, historical, and colonial archives, Thomas traces the long-term legacies of the plantation system and how its governing logics continue to shape and replicate forms of violence She places affect at the center of sovereignty to destabilize disembodied narratives of liberalism and progress and to raise questions about recognition repair and accountability In tying theories of politics colonialism race and affect together with Jamaica's history Thomas presents a robust framework for understanding what it means to be human in the plantation's wake Jah Kingdom Monique A. Bedasse, 2017-08-11 From its beginnings in 1930s Jamaica the Rastafarian movement has become a global presence While the existing studies of the Rastafarian movement have primarily focused on its cultural expression through reggae music art and iconography Monique A Bedasse argues that repatriation to Africa represents the most important vehicle of Rastafari's international growth Shifting the scholarship on repatriation from Ethiopia to Tanzania Bedasse foregrounds Rastafari's enduring connection to black radical politics and establishes Tanzania as a critical site to explore gender religion race citizenship socialism and nation Beyond her engagement with how the Rastafarian idea of Africa translated into a lived reality she demonstrates how Tanzanian state and nonstate actors not only validated the Rastafarian idea of diaspora but were also crucial to defining the parameters of Pan Africanism Based on previously undiscovered oral and written sources from Tanzania Jamaica England the United States and Trinidad Bedasse uncovers a vast and varied transnational network including Julius Nyerere Michael Manley and C L R James revealing Rastafari's entrenchment in the making of Pan Africanism in the postindependence period Living with the Gods Neil MacGregor, 2018-09-17 Following the award winning BBC Radio 4 series a panoramic exploration of peoples objects and beliefs from the celebrated author of A History of the World in 100 Objects and Germany's riveting extraordinary tells the sweeping story of religious belief in all its inventive variety The emphasis is not on our differences but on shared spiritual yearnings Rachel Campbell Johnston The Times Books of the Year One of the central facts of human existence is that every society shares a set of beliefs and assumptions a faith an ideology a religion that goes far beyond the life of the individual These beliefs are an essential part of a shared identity They have a unique power to define and to divide us and are a driving force in the politics of much of the world today Throughout history they have most often been in the widest sense religious Yet this book is not a history of religion nor an argument in favour of faith It is about the stories which give shape to our lives and the different ways in which societies imagine their place in the world Looking across history and around the globe it interrogates objects places and human activities to try to understand what shared beliefs can mean in the public life of a community or a nation how they shape the relationship between the individual and the state and how they help give us our sense of who we are For in deciding how we live with our gods we also decide how to live with each other The new blockbuster by the museums maestro Neil MacGregor The man who chronicles world history through objects is back examining a new set of objects to explore the theme of faith in society Sunday Times Messianic 'I' and Rastafari in New Testament Dialogue Delano Vincent Palmer, 2010-04-13 Anyone familiar with the Rastafari movement and its connection with the Bible is struck by the prevalence of messianic I locution found in both As the phenomenon is important in the canonical Testaments more so within the New Testament this study seeks to investigate its significance in certain epistolary pieces Romans 7 14 25 15 14 33 the bio Narratives and the Apocalypse in their historical and cultural milieu The next stage of the investigation then compares the findings of the aforementioned New Testament books with corresponding statements of the Rasta community in order to determine their relevance for the ongoing Anglophone theological enterprise In sum this study seeks to bring into critical dialogue the permutative messianic I of the New Testament with the self understanding of Rastafari

Cosmopolitanism from the Global South Shelene Gomes, 2021-09-14 This is a book about the power of the imagination to move persons from the Global South as they reinvent themselves This ethnography focuses on Caribbean Rastafari who have undertaken a spiritual repatriation to Ethiopia over several decades particularly though not exclusively from Jamaica Shelene Gomes traces the formation of a Rastafari community located in the multicultural Jamaica Safar or Jamaica neighbourhood in the Ethiopian city of Shashamane following a twentieth century grant of land from the former Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie I In presenting narratives of spiritual repatriation everyday behaviours and ritualised events Gomes provides an ethnographic account of Caribbean cosmopolitan sensibilities Situated in the historical conditions of colonial West Indian plantations and the asymmetries of freedom and bondage within modernity a recognition of global positionalities and local situatedness characterises this case of cosmopolitanism from the Global South Shifting the centre of worldviews from Europe to Africa Rastafari both challenge global disparities as well as reproduce hierarchies in the local space of the Jamaica Safar In positioning Ethiopia as the spiritual birthplace of humanity Rastafari also engage in ontological and epistemological reinvention This spiritual repatriation in its emic sense foregrounds the Caribbeanist contribution to anthropology Ethnographies of the Caribbean have been at the forefront of anthropological enquiries into global interconnections This discussion of spiritual repatriation is both specific to the diasporic Caribbean and relevant to wider world making processes and representations
