Once Too Many Times Oliver E Cadam, 2015-07-31 As Old Flo sat there watching and listening she became easily convinced of several important observations The first was that her daughter in law seemed uncharacteristically distracted even remote from the events around her Secondly she understood with complete clarity that her own son was infatuated with the pretty little thing sitting opposite She could see the longing in his eyes and trace it through every behavioural tick on show She felt sure that the others including the girl herself must surely have registered such transparency and she wondered what fireworks lay ahead Another intriguing factor was the big blonde lad who sat there apparently comfortable and confident and yet in some way preoccupied Something there required further investigation Flo just couldn't see why the man's attractive wife would ever find anything worth straying for in her own son's rather tawdry realm Time would tell but she knew her son wanted that girl Spanning a generation this mystery thriller moves between the City of London and Cape Town rural Kent and the hills of Girona in north eastern Spain weaving a tale of lust and deception romance and retribution

This volume brings together studies from various disciplines of the social sciences and humanities: anthropology, sociology, cultural studies, history and literary theory that shed light on the equestrian world as a historically gendered and highly dynamic field of contemporary sport and culture. From high-level international dressage and jumping, polo and the turf to the rodeo world of the Americas and popular forms of equestrian sport and culture, we are introduced to a range of issues that are played out at local and global, national and international levels. Students and scholars of gender, culture and sport will find much of interest in this original look at contemporary issues such as engendered women's and men's identities, subjectivities as equestrians, representations of girls, horses and the world of adventure in juvenile fiction, the current feminization of particular equestrian activities and where boys and men stand in relation to this, how broad forms of social inequality and stratification play themselves out within gendered equestrian contexts, men and women and their relation to horses within the framework of current discussions on the relation of animals to humans which may include not only love and care but also exploitation and violence among others Singular contributions show how equestrian activities contribute to historical and current constructions of embodied femininities and masculinities reflecting a world that has been moving beyond the binaries while continuing to be enmeshed in their persistent and contradictory legacy
