The role of fisheries in food security and rural development Dr Priyanka Jha,

Ancient Fishing Methods Nakoa Rainfall, AI, 2025-03-29 Ancient Fishing Methods explores the ingenious and sustainable fishing techniques developed by indigenous cultures worldwide Long before modern technology these societies relied on aquatic resources crafting strategies that ensured both effective harvesting and ecological balance Consider for example the sophisticated trap systems used in some cultures designed to selectively catch certain species while allowing others to pass unharmed or the seasonal restrictions implemented to protect spawning grounds The book investigates diverse fishing methods spearfishing netting angling and trapping categorized by geographic region It highlights how these practices reflect a deep understanding of local ecosystems and resource management By examining archaeological records ethnographic studies and traditional ecological knowledge the book reveals how these ancient practices shaped historical economies and offer valuable lessons for modern environmental challenges especially in fisheries management Progressing from core concepts to detailed descriptions the book examines the sustainability of these practices their economic impact and their relevance to contemporary conservation It showcases how traditional techniques often dismissed embody a profound understanding of ecological balance providing vital insights for addressing today's environmental concerns

Artifacts from Ancient Egypt Barbara Mendoza, 2017-10-05 Primary source documents and detailed entries reveal what ancient Egypt was like using the objects and artifacts of daily life from the period covering the Predynastic era through the Greco-Roman period 5000 BCE to 300 CE Historians have found that valuable knowledge about long ago civilizations can be derived from examining the simple routines of daily life This fascinating study presents a collection of everyday objects and artifacts from ancient Egypt shedding light on the social life and culture of ancient Egyptians The work starts with a popular notion of ancient Egyptian beauty and gradually moves on to address various aspects of life including home work communication and transition and afterlife Organized by topics the work contains the following sections beauty adornment and clothing household items furniture and games food and drink tools and weapons literacy and writing death and funerary equipment and religion ritual and magic Each object holds equal importance and dates from the Predynastic era to the Greco-Roman period of ancient Egypt 5000 BCE to 300 CE A special section provides guidance on evaluating objects and artifacts by asking questions Who created it Who used it What did it do what was its purpose When and where was it made Why was it made to help assess the historical context of the object

Ancient Egypt and the East, 1920 Encyclopaedia of the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine in Non-Western Cultures Helaine Selin, 2008-03-12 Here at last is the massively updated and augmented second edition of this landmark encyclopedia It contains approximately 1000 entries dealing in depth with the history of the scientific technological and medical accomplishments of cultures outside of the United States and Europe The entries consist of fully updated articles together with hundreds of entirely new topics This unique reference work includes intercultural articles on broad topics such as mathematics and astronomy as well as thoughtful philosophical articles on concepts and ideas related to the study of non Western Science such as rationality objectivity and method You ll also find material on religion and science East and West and magic and science A History of Fishing Dietrich Sahrhage, Johannes Lundbeck, 2012-12-06 Described here are the origin and general trends in the development of fishing from the earliest times up to the present in various parts of the world The techniques applied and the economic and social problems involved are covered Fishing methods have not changed much since the Stone Age but continuous technical improvements like the construction of sea worthy ships more efficient gear and finally mechanization of fishing have led to enormous development and a high fish production of now 100 million tons per year Extensive utilization has caused heavy overexploitation of the resources and consequently growing concern The book concludes with an evaluation of perspectives for the future utilization of living resources Fishing Brian Fagan, 2017-09-26 An archaeologist examines humanity s last major source of food from the wild and how it enabled and shaped the growth of civilization In this history of fishing not as sport but as sustenance archaeologist and best selling author Brian Fagan argues that fishing was an indispensable and often overlooked element in the growth of civilization It sustainably provided enough food to allow cities nations and empires to grow but it did so with a different emphasis Where agriculture encouraged stability fishing demanded movement It frequently required a search for new and better fishing grounds its technologies centered on boats facilitated movement and discovery and fish themselves when dried and salted were the ideal food lightweight nutritious and long lasting for traders travelers and conquering armies This history of the long interaction of humans and seafood tours archaeological sites worldwide to show readers how fishing fed human settlement rising social complexity the development of cities and ultimately the modern world A tour de force Achieves its goal of putting fishing on par with hunter gathering and agriculture in the history of human civilization Leon Vlieger Natural History Book Service A valuable book as well as an interesting one Fagan succeeds in providing an admirable primer for the enthusiast and a welcome tool for the historian Economist A unique panoramic survey of the field Laurence A Marschall Natural History Gently scholarly elegant A compelling picture of how fishing was so integral in each society s development A multilayered nuanced tour of fishing societies throughout the world and across millennia Kirkus Reviews The Manners and Customs of the Ancient Egyptians John Gardner Wilkinson, 1847 Human and Aquatic Beings: Interactions in and beyond the Eastern Mediterranean (3rd—1st Millennia BCE) Christina Tsouparopoulou, Lærke Recht, 2025-01-01 This volume examines the role of fish and molluscs in everyday life as well as in terms of their impact on social structures and as part of ideological and symbolic expression Given the prevalence of and dependence on water in various forms in all regions of the Eastern Mediterranean Egypt and Western Asia it is no wonder that fish and other aquatic species made an impact on human lives Yet this topic remains rather understudied Until recently ongoing projects in marine and freshwater species and their interaction with humans and the environment either focus on the European marine ecosystem or on themes other than the social interactions of humans and aquatic species The chapters in this volume explore questions related to fishing practices and technologies social status human fish mollusc relations including potential over exploitation and fish molluscs in ritual practices e g as temple offerings festival consumption burial offerings and ideology and religion e g associated with supernatural beings or sacred space as hybrid creatures and as represented in luxury goods The volume also examines aquatic species as a nonalimentary resource for example as jewellery inlays dyeing and medicinal purposes The material under investigation includes faunal remains worked and unworked fishing gear and related tools iconography and written sources Many chapters also integrate multiple lines of evidence ranging from stylistic contextual and iconographic analyses to zooarchaeological investigations This volume is relevant to archaeologists zooarchaeologists biologists and anyone interested in human animal relations and or the archaeology of the early Eastern Mediterranean and surrounding regions

Tigris and Euphrates Rivers: Their Environment from Headwaters to Mouth Laith A. Jawad, 2021-09-12 The system of the Tigris Euphrates Rivers is one of the great river systems of southwestern Asia It comprises the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers which follow roughly parallel courses through the heart of the Middle East The lower portion of the region that they run through is known as Mesopotamia was one of the cradles of civilisation There are several environmental factors that govern the nature of the two rivers and shape the landscape the two rivers running through Geological events create rivers climate monitor the water supply the surrounding land influences the vegetation and the physical and chemical features of water The Tigris Euphrates system runs through the territory of four countries Iraq Iran Turkey and Syria Therefore any scientific approach to the environment of these two rivers should include the natural history events in these countries The book Tigris and Euphrates Rivers Their Environment from Headwaters to Mouth will be divided into nine parts These parts deal with the issues of the environment the status of the flora and fauna the abiotic aspects ecology hydrological regime of the two rivers the biotic aspects Water resources stress of the environment conservation issues Since the book of Julian Rzoska Euphrates and Tigris Mesopotamian Ecology and Destiny in 1980 no book or major reference has been published that includes between its cover the facts and information that the present book will present Therefore the importance of the present book falls in stating the present status of the environment of the two rivers and the comparison of their environment between now and that of 37 years ago as given by J Rzoska 1980 The recent studies showed that there are a large number of natural and political events that happened within the last three decades in the area of the Tigris Euphrates river system that for sure have done a great change to the environment of the two rivers and consequently changing the biological and non biological resources of the two rivers This book will be a reference book to both Academic and students across the Middle East in different disciplines of knowledge to use in their researches on Tigris Euphrates river system The scholars interested in this area will use this book as a guide to compare this freshwater system with other areas in Asia and the world

Life in Ancient Egypt Adolf Erman,1894 The Last Fish Swimming Gohar A. Petrossian,2019-05-17 This book examines the global local and specific environmental factors that facilitate illegal fishing and proposes effective ways to reduce the opportunities and incentives that threaten the existence of the world s fish Humans are deeply dependent on fishing globally fish comprise 15 percent of the protein intake for approximately 3 billion people and 8 percent of the global population depends on the fishing industry as their livelihood The global fishing industry is plagued by illegal fishing however and many highly commercial species such as cod tuna orange roughy and swordfish are extremely vulnerable Through criminological analysis The Last Fish Swimming emphasizes the importance of looking at specific environmental factors that make illegal fishing possible It examines such factors as proximity to known ports where illegally caught fish can be landed without inspection i e ports of convenience fisheries monitoring control and surveillance efforts formal surveillance and resource attractiveness in 53 countries that altogether represent 96 percent of the world s fish catch The book calls upon the global community to address the illegal depletion of the world s fish stock and other similar threats to the world s food supply and natural environment in order to ensure the sustainability of the planet s fish and continuation of the legal fishing industry for generations to come

Ptolemaic and Early Roman Egypt John S. Kloppenborg,2020-08-10 Private associations organized around a common cult occupation ethnic identity neighborhood or family were among the principal means of organizing social and economic life in the ancient Mediterranean They offered opportunities for sociability cultic activities mutual support and contexts in which to display and recognize virtuous achievement This volume collects 140 inscriptions and papyri from Ptolemaic and early Roman Egypt along with translations notes commentary and analytic indices The dossier of association related documents substantially enhances our knowledge of the extent activities and importance of private associations in the ancient Mediterranean since papyri unavailable from most other locations in the Mediterranean preserve a much wider range of data than epigraphical monuments The dossier from Egypt includes not only honorific decrees membership lists bylaws dedications and funerary monuments but monthly accounts of expenditures and income correspondence between guild secretaries and local officials price and tax declarations records of legal actions concerning associations loan documents petitions to local authorities about associations letters of resignation and many other papyrological genres These documents provide a highly variegated picture of the governance structures and practices of associations membership sizes and profiles and forms of interaction with the State
