

The painting depicts a woman with dark hair, wearing a long, flowing yellow robe, standing centrally and looking directly at the viewer. She holds the hands of two young children. The child on the left is a girl with dark hair, wearing a green and white dress. The child on the right is a boy with dark hair, wearing a red and white garment. They are set against a background of soft, billowing white and yellow clouds. The overall style is characteristic of the Tonalist movement, with a focus on light and atmosphere.

Father Of The Orphans:

Children of the Father King Bianca Premo, 2006-05-18 In a pioneering study of childhood in colonial Spanish America Bianca Premo examines the lives of youths in the homes schools and institutions of the capital city of Lima Peru Situating these young lives within the framework of law and intellectual history from 1650 to 1820 Premo brings to light the colonial politics of childhood and challenges readers to view patriarchy as a system of power based on age caste and social class as much as gender Although Spanish laws endowed elite men with an authority over children that mirrored and reinforced the monarch's legitimacy as a colonial Father King Premo finds that in practice Lima's young often grew up in the care of adults such as women and slaves who were subject to the patriarchal authority of others During the Bourbon Reforms city inhabitants of all castes and classes began to practice a new politics of the child challenging men and masters by employing Enlightenment principles of childhood Thus the social transformations and political dislocations of the late eighteenth century occurred not only in elite circles and royal palaces Premo concludes but also in the humble households of a colonial city

From Father's Property to Children's Rights Mary Ann Mason, 1994 The book gracefully combines historical and legal scholarship in an unusually rich perspective on the history of children and their parents Mason consistently draws on this history to illuminate contemporary issues the current emphasis on biological parenthood the proliferation of reproductive technologies and the growing use and misuse of the social sciences

Waiting for a Father Gary Stephens, Carmen Radley, 2013-04-11 The heart cry of every child without parents a cry to be loved and to belong told through the story of one boy named Jacob For over two decades Gary Stephens his wife Helen and their four biological children lived in Hong Kong There they worked with Vietnamese refugees then founded several homes for orphans and assisted with local and international adoptions Later their work spilled into mainland China when they learned of baby girls being abandoned in alarming numbers innocent victims of the one child policy Gary and Helen acted helping to found an orphanage in a city in southern China But the heart of this story is their son Jacob who was born without eyes and subsequently abandoned Underweight and sickly two year old Jacob had lived in four different institutions before they found him and brought him to their home for children with special needs They adopted him in 1998 and have spent the last sixteen years reclaiming what was lost in those first two Waiting for a Father is a story of hope and reconciliation of people who did not look away who instead opened their hearts to a child who needed them This inspiring message is a call to action to help empty the orphanages of the world one child at a time

A Better World Pope Francis, 2022-09-26 We live today in an unstable and dangerous world Countless people are plagued by war and fear and are oppressed by hatred and intimidation The world is hungry for peace Pope Francis has made great efforts to stop violence and hatred and continually calls the world to peace A Better World is another invitation from the Holy Father to love one another and to work diligently for peace In the homilies addresses and writings collected in this book Pope Francis reminds us as children of God to be kind in our daily actions and compassionate toward others even those who are different from us and whom we must accept with love When conflicts arise we are called to resolve them through dialogue and the quest for peace not through hatred and war Lasting peace is not the result of violent means but is achieved through dialogue and fraternity
