Fattigvården i den Svenska Landsbygden Fr 1829 Rapport I Socialt Arbete:

Life under Pressure Tommy Bengtsson, Cameron Campbell, James Z. Lee, 2009-01-23 A pioneering work in comparative history and social science that compares population behavior in response to adversity in Europe and Asia This highly original book the first in a series analyzing historical population behavior in Europe and Asia pioneers a new approach to the comparative analysis of societies in the past Using techniques of event history analysis the authors examine 100 000 life histories in 100 rural communities in Western Europe and Asia to analyze the demographic response to social and economic pressures In doing so they challenge the accepted Eurocentric Malthusian view of population processes and demonstrate that population behavior has not been as uniform as previously thought that it has often been determined by human agency particularly social structure and cultural practice The authors examine the complex relationship between human behavior and social and economic environment analyzing age gender family kinship social class and social organization climate food prices and real wages to compare mortality responses to adversity Their research at the individual household and community levels challenges the previously accepted characterizations of social and economic behavior in Europe and Asia in the past The originality of the analysis as well as the geographic breadth and historical depth of the data make Life Under Pressure a significant advance in the field of historical demography Its findings will be of interest to scholars in economics environmental studies demography history and sociology as well as the general reader interested in these subjects

Family and Aging Policy Francis G. Caro, 2014-05-01 Learn how public policies can help families provide the care their elderly relatives need Family and Aging Policy examines how public initiatives to assist the elderly in the United States Canada Singapore Denmark and Sweden can impact families who provide them with long term care For the majority of older people the aging experience involves their families directly and indirectly affecting income security housing and health care This unique book addresses the aging issues that matter most to families struggling to deal with the demands of care giving and provides answers on how the public sector can help As the traditional nuclear family becomes a memory and the notion of extended family disappears the need for public interventions to help the elderly increases A significant number of people grow old without families they can depend on Others have families who want to help but lack the financial means or the housing needed to provide care Family and Aging Policy offers options on how families and formal services can share responsibilities including how families can juggle jobs and care giving the effects of the Family and Medical Leave Act consumer directed service options community based care programs accessory dwelling units and zoning ordinances and provisions for caregiver support in each of the 50 United States and the District of Columbia Family and Aging Policy examines extensive welfare programs in Sweden publicly funded home care programs in Denmark family oriented social policies in Singapore shared responsibilities of families and formal services in Canada the Administration on Aging's National Family Caregiver Support program in the United States California Caregiver Resource Centers and much more Family and
