Women Poets in the Victorian Era Fabienne Moine, 2016-03-09 Examining the place of nature in Victorian women's poetry Fabienne Moine explores the work of canonical and long neglected women poets to show the myriad connections between women and nature during the period At the same time she challenges essentialist discourses that assume innate affinities between women and the natural world Rather Moine shows Victorian women poets mobilised these alliances to defend common interests and express their engagement with social issues While well known poets such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Christina Rossetti are well represented in Moine's study she pays particular attention to lesser known writers such as Mary Howitt or Eliza Cook who were popular during their lifetimes or Edith Nesbit whose verse has received scant critical attention so far She also brings to the fore the poetry of many non professional poets Looking to their immediate cultural environments for inspiration these women reconstructed the natural world in poems that raise questions about the validity and the scope of representations of nature ultimately questioning or undermining social practices that mould and often fossilise cultural identities

Wang,2020-03-05 Wishing to expand on the minimal scholarship on the topic of Metaphysical and Mid Late Tang poets under the general category of Baroque this book offers a comparative analysis of poems from the Metaphysical poets John Donne Andrew Marvell and Richard Crashaw and a selection of Tang poetry by Meng Jiao Li He and Li Shangyin By following Nietzsche s definition of Baroque as a poetic style found in any period and country and the concept of art as allegory the author approaches the analysis of these poems using allegorical reading The application of this non traditional method of investigation and analysis has produced ground breaking implications in the area of literary criticism paving the way for future additions to the growing body of work on Baroque poetry Therefore it is likely to hold great appeal to literature researchers and scholars as well as those studying Tang poetry Metaphysical poetry and Comparative Studies      Critical Companion to Emily Dickinson Sharon Leiter,2007 Critical Companion to Emily Dickinson is an encyclopedic guide to the life and works of Emily Dickinson one of the most famous and widely studied American poets of the 19th century
