The Great War in American and British Cinema, 1918-1938 Ryan Copping, 2020-11-10 This book recounts the reception of selected films about the Great War released between 1918 and 1938 in the USA and Great Britain It discusses the role that popular cinema played in forming and reflecting public opinion about the War and its political and cultural aftermath in both countries Although the centenary has produced a wide number of studies on the memorialisation of the Great War in Britain and to a lesser degree the USA none of them focused on audience reception in relation to the Anglo American circulatory system of Trans Atlantic culture A History of Horrors Denis Meikle, 2001-09-24 New in paperback Most critics historians and filmmakers agree that no single entity has had more influence over the genre of horror and fantasy film than Hammer Film Productions a small independent British film company This volume traces the life and spirit of the House of Hammer from its fledging days of the late 1940s through its successes of the 1950s and 60s to its decline in the 1970s Paperback edition available 2001

Hank and Jim Scott Eyman, 2017-10-24 A remarkably absorbing supremely entertaining joint biography The New York Times from bestselling author Scott Eyman about the remarkable friendship of Henry Fonda and James Stewart two Hollywood legends who maintained a close relationship that endured all of life's twists and turns Henry Fonda and James Stewart were two of the biggest stars in Hollywood for forty years but they became friends when they were unknown They roomed together as stage actors in New York and when they began making films in Hollywood they were roommates again Between them they made such classic films as The Grapes of Wrath Mister Roberts Twelve Angry Men and On Golden Pond and Mr Smith Goes to Washington The Philadelphia Story It's a Wonderful Life Vertigo and Rear Window They got along famously with a shared interest in elaborate practical jokes and model airplanes among other things But their friendship also endured despite their differences Fonda was a liberal Democrat Stewart a conservative Republican Fonda was a ladies man who was married five times Stewart remained married to the same woman for forty five years Both men volunteered during World War II and were decorated for their service When Stewart returned home still unmarried he once again moved in with Fonda his wife and his two children Jane and Peter who knew him as Uncle Jimmy For his breezy entertaining Publishers Weekly Hank and Jim biographer and film historian Scott Eyman spoke with Fonda's widow and children as well as three of Stewart's children plus actors and directors who had worked with the men in addition to doing extensive archival research to get the full details of their time together This is not just another Hollywood story but a fascinating richly documented biography Kirkus Reviews starred review of an extraordinary friendship that lasted through war marriages children careers and everything else

Lew Ayres Lesley L. Coffin, 2012-10-18 Lew Ayres 1908-1996 became known to the public when he portrayed the leading character in the epic war film All Quiet on the Western Front The role made him a household name introduced him to his closest friends brought him to the attention of his first two wives and would overshadow the rest of his career To be a movie star was his first and only ambition as a child but once he found success he was never fully satisfied in his choice of profession Although lacking a formal education Ayres spent the rest of his life pursuing dozens of intellectual studies interests and hobbies He even considered ending his acting career after just a few years to pursue a more respectable and fulfilling path as a director Ayres was given not one but two comeback opportunities in his acting career in 1938 and 1945 He was cast in the film series Dr Kildare where he showed his abilities in comedy and his unique strength at bringing a level of sincerity to even the most outlandish or idealist character But he was willing to give up his star status to follow his moral compass first as a conscientious objector and ultimately as a noncombat medic during World War II To everyone's surprise he was welcomed back to Hollywood with open arms and new opportunities despite his objector status Biographer Lesley L Coffin presents the story of a man of quiet dignity constantly searching for the right way to live his life and torn between the public world of Hollywood and secluded life of spiritual introspection

George Arliss Robert M. Fells, 2004 By any reasonable expectation George Arliss should not have succeeded as a star either on stage or in film Yet he achieved a career enjoyed by very few in the performing arts An actor author playwright and filmmaker George Arliss won acclaim for his work first on the stage and then later most improbably as a Hollywood movie star His films achieved the rare distinction of being both artistic and financial successes Though he was neither young nor handsome Arliss found popular acclaim for his many historical characterizations such as Voltaire Nathan Rothschild Cardinal Richelieu and Benjamin Disraeli Robert Fells traces Arliss's life and times through his film work providing a thoroughly researched and entertaining view of one of the most important yet neglected figures in film history The book also reviews the actor's uneasy relationship with screenwriters his clashes with British film producer Michael Balcon his championing of young unknowns such as Bette Davis and James Cagney and his prosecution by the British Government during World War II It also includes a complete filmography and a selected stageography of Arliss's work Includes 20 photos

And the Stars Spoke Back Frawley Becker, 2004 Becker reminiscences about his work on the sets and in the dressing rooms of Hollywood personalities providing glimpses into the private lives of a stellar array of actors and actresses Besides these and other stars Becker also discloses fascinating details of working with world famous directors John Huston William Wyler Nicholas Ray Anatole Litvak Ren Clement and Vittorio de Sica

Back Lot Maurice Rapf, 1999 Son of pioneer movie producer Harry Rapf Maurice

Rapf grew up in Hollywood in that city's golden age. After moving from independent filmmaking to Warner Bros in 1924, the senior Rapf joined Louis Mayer and became one of the founding members of MGM. Hence movies were a huge influence in Maurice Rapf's early life. After graduating from college, Rapf worked as a screenwriter for major Hollywood studios but in 1947 he left Hollywood never to work for a major studio again. On numerous occasions he was called before the House Un-American Activities Committee as an alleged communist although he never made a public confession or denial. As a result he was blacklisted from the industry and forced to begin a new career in the East. He eventually became a movie critic and film studies professor. Maurice Rapf knows movies and the movie business as an insider from first-hand experience, not from books. His autobiography is the story of one person's interaction with an evolving Hollywood. Rapf witnessed the historical progression of movie production from silents to sound, from a fun-loving frontier community to a huge and fiercely competitive industry, from an apolitical never-never land to a community very much aware of and nervous about its social responsibility in a period of economic depression and in a period of world peace seriously threatened by the aggression of fascism. Of interest to students and teachers of film studies, of American history, and of American popular culture, as well as anyone who loves movies.

Confessions of a Hollywood Director Richard L. Bare, 2001. The excitement then continues as Bare takes us through the highs and lows of his life and career, always with humor. BOOK JACKET

Actors on Red Alert Anthony Slide, 1999. The anti-Communist hysteria that began in the 1930s was further empowered in 1938 when the House of Representatives established the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Soon thereafter the creation of the blacklist in the late 1940s brought the Hollywood film and television community into the fold. Provocatively capturing the controversy and sentiments surrounding this period of political imbalance, Actors on Red Alert explores the repercussions of the blacklist through career interviews with five prominent actors and actresses.

Designing for the Movies Laurence Irving, 2005. Irving's time in Hollywood marked the end of the silent film years, and these memoirs depict the effect on the industry with astute and penetrating portraits of those who felt the change dramatically. Anyone with even the slightest interest in the history of filmmaking and its early characters will not want to miss this insightful account. BOOK JACKET

Rungs on a Ladder Christopher Neame, 2003-06-24. Rungs on a Ladder looks at part of the movie industry from a unique perspective. Christopher Neame, son of director Ronald Neame, started his career in the early 1960s at the very bottom but determinedly made his way to the top. Neame fondly recalls his learning years at Bray Studios and beyond. Simply and often amusingly, he recounts his days with Hammer Films and observes many of the characters both in front of and behind the camera, names synonymous with those classic tales of Gothic horror: director Terence Fisher, producers Anthony Hinds, Michael Carreras, and Anthony Nelson Keys, screenwriter-producer Jimmy Sangster, and of course Peter Cushing and Christopher Lee. Along the way, he encounters those less obviously connected to Hammer, like Joan Fontaine, Joseph Cotten, Norman Lloyd, and Bette Davis. Never the one to reserve his critical eye for others alone, Neame willingly says mea culpa when deserved. The book begins with his rude awakening to the string and sealing wax world of Dracula Prince of Darkness and follows his journey through sixteen subsequent productions including three Frankensteins The Devil Rides Out which American distributors thought was going to be a Western and a couple of Mummy films Neame also shares stories of his participation in non genre ventures like Quatermass and the Pit The Anniversary Demons of the Mind and Fear in the Night Includes 16 pages of photos

Twentieth Century-Fox Aubrey Solomon,2002 Unlike any previous volume on a film studio this in depth history is told from a corporate viewpoint covering the trends that influenced film making profit making incentives and the creative policies resulting in films like The Grapes of Wrath The Snake Pit The Robe Cleopatra The Towering Inferno and Star Wars The book spans the birth of the movies the rise of the studio system the coming of sound the Consent Decrees the development of CinemaScope the growth of independent production and the video revolution Available in paperback 2001     Leo McCarey Wes D. Gehring,2005 This first full length biography of a legendary and award winning Hollywood writer producer and director Duck Soup My Favorite Wife An Affair to Remember Going My Way and The Bells of St Mary s explores the director s life as filtered through his art Gehring maintains that McCarey s films were often a reworking of his antiheroic self In addition the apparent diversity of his films actually represents an interrelated web of various comedy genres and a pattern of antiheroic characters and themes
