The Old Farmer's Almanac 2004 Robert Bailey Thomas, 2003-09 In 1792 Robert B. Thomas a schoolteacher bookseller and amateur astronomer living near Boston Massachusetts began a North American institution when he published the first issue of his Farmer's Almanac The word Old was added in 1832 He was confident of his skills and knowledgeable about his readers In one of the early issues he wrote We must strive always to be useful but with a pleasant degree of humor

That timeless formula of providing useful advice and entertaining information has contributed greatly to making The Old Farmer's Almanac an indispensable reference for generations of readers The Best of the Old Farmer's Almanac Will Forpe, 1977 Wisdom from the Old Farmer's Almanac Judson Hale, 2005-07 The New Farmer's Almanac, Volume IV Greenhorns, 2019 In the fourth volume of this loved publication dedicated to the Greater We ninety contributing writers and artists explore the social, technological and ecological processes of diversification. The New Farmer's Almanac Vol IV features essays and stories and poems from farmers, ranchers, ecologists, educators, food bank managers, grocers, gardeners, researchers and advocates bound by their care for the land, the food system and the survival of the natural world. There are folk stories, reports on the racialized distribution of farmland, recipes for hickory nut milk and foraged teas, Toolboxes for seed saving, indigenous land repatriation and creating liberated space. Advice from old timers and insights from the new. Meditations on failure, loved crops and the wisdom of farm dogs. Here are stories about leaving and of returning home to work the land, essays on the geography of self-discovery, reflections on trauma, both climatic and personal, and some practical guidance for farmers. Add to this hundreds of unique images from woodcuts to inked watersheds to fine and historic photographs. Created by the Greenhorns, The New Farmer's Almanac is a place for public thinking and proactive literary inquiry into the future we share on the land and at the table. Shifting practices is a team sport and with its original artwork, moon charts, songs and old time manifestos, this is just the compendium to inspire your own part in the mix. The New Farmer's Almanac, Volume 2 Greenhorns, 2015-02-16 The theme of the second New Farmers Almanac is Agrarian Technology. With contributions from more than a hundred authors, artists and other contributors, the Almanac holds a civil lived testimony from thoughtful agrarians across the continent whose work life and behavior patterns beamingly contradict normative values of the macro economy called America. Agriculture in principle a pre-requisite for what we now call civilization seems to have become a portal for deliberate cultural and joyous retort against it. Historians cite very few agricultural societies that managed without servitude and hierarchy necessary in order to maintain the irrigation water works and infrastructures. Exceptions in commons based land governance abound in the literature, if not in the prime ecosystems of human habitation: the conical land sharing of the Hawaiian aina, the 10,000 year corn culture of the Abenaki, the perennial water gardens and spiritual algorithms of paisley shaped rice paddies. Greenhorns are dedicated to the project of holding space for producer not consumer culture; this volume is the sequel to our commitment in this direction. Essays in this volume shoot out like spider webs across the wide chasm of impossibility, the glorious rescue mission whose daily requirements keep us human, hopeful and operating inside the scale of possibility. What future can we realistically build together? Will it need electricity? Will it need globalization? Will it continue to require the power of history on our side of exploitation? These practices we've found: biodynamics, permaculture, resilience, breeding state change in the soil, reformats of ownership, reclaiming the value chain, retooling for diversity, committing to lifetimes of partnership. How long before they allow us to reach steady state? Do they require interns? Do they require servants making silicon chips Do they require absolutely require the internet Which technologies are relevant to appropriate to and gestating within the new agrarian mind Through the threshold of our email box and into the pages of this volume some answers have come to this question In this volume you will find answers to practical questions about institutional forms and future making restoration agro forestry reclaiming high desert urban farmland starting a co op pickup truck maintenance pirate radio utopia cheap healthcare farming while pregnant worksonging farm terraces and quite a few more
