Feathered Serpent Xu Xiaobin, 2009-02-10 ONE OF THE FOREMOST WORKS OF TWENTIETH CENTURY CHINESE LITERATURE This beautifully portrayed epic family history spans one hundred years from the 1890s during the later stages of the Qing Dynasty to the 1990s traversing the experiences of five generations of women Yu is the central character whose life story is woven through the lives of her grandmother mother sisters and niece She loves her parents but at a tender age realizes they do not love her After committing two unforgivable sins she is sent away to live in the city but is soon abandoned Yu s life becomes a quest for love she is fragile but resilient lonely but determined Now in the 1980s Yu becomes caught up in the political storm and comes close to love but falls short Her last chance at getting what she desires will ultimately come at a tragic cost A political satirist in the guise of a mystical writer Xu Xiaobin masterfully creates an atmosphere where distinctions are blurred memories of the past and present are intertwined realities and illusions are fused without a clear trace and events occur in unspecified places but tinted with fairylike imaginations Xu Xiaobin is a rare talent with a vast knowledge of history religion and culture and occupies a unique place in modern Chinese literature When Feathered Serpent won China s inaugural Creative Writing Award for women s literary fiction it was described as a breakthrough a record setting novel in China s women s literature and the best fiction at the end of the century in China

Teotihuacan Esther Pasztory, 1997 This book is the first comprehensive study and reinterpretation of the unique arts of Teotihuacan including architecture sculpture mural painting and ceramics Comparing the arts of Teotihuacan not previously judged artistic with those of other ancient civilizations Ester Pasztory demonstrates how they created and reflected the community s ideals Most people associate the pyramids of central Mexico with the Aztecs but these colossal constructions antedate the Aztecs by more than a thousand years The people of Teotihuacan who built the pyramids as part of a city of unprecedented size remain a mystery

Human Sacrifice, Militarism, and Rulership Saburo Sugiyama, 2005-03-10 Teotihuacan was one of the earliest and more populous preColumbian cities and the Feathered Serpent was its vital monument erected circa 200 AD This work explores the religious meanings and political implications of the pyramid with meticulous and thorough analyses of substantially new excavation data Challenging the traditional view of the city as a legendary sacred or anonymously governed centre the book provides significant new insights on the Teotihuacan polity and society It provides interpretations on the pyramid s location architecture sculptures iconography mass sacrificial graves and rich symbolic offerings and concludes that the pyramid commemorated the accession of rulers who were inscribed to govern with military force on behalf of the gods This archaeological examination of the monument shows it to be the physical manifestation of state ideologies such as the symbolism of human sacrifice militarism and individual centred divine authority ideologies which were later diffused among other Mesoamerican urban centres

Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz, 2010-01-01 El Taj n an ancient Mesoamerican capital in Veracruz Mexico has long been admired for its stunning pyramids and ballcourts decorated with extensive sculptural programs Yet the city's singularity as the only center in the region with such a wealth of sculpture and fine architecture has hindered attempts to place it more firmly in the context of Mesoamerican history In Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz undertakes the first extensive treatment of El Tajín's iconography in over thirty years allowing us to view its imagery in the broader Mesoamerican context of rising capitals and new elites during a period of fundamental historical transformations Koontz focuses on three major architectural features the Pyramid of the Niches Central Plaza ensemble the South Ballcourt and the Mound of the Building Columns complex and investigates the meanings of their sculpture and how these meanings would have been experienced by specific audiences Koontz finds that the iconography of El Tajín reveals much about how motifs and elite rites growing out of the Classic period were transmitted to later Mesoamerican peoples as the cultures centered on Teotihuacan and the Maya became the myriad city states of the Early Postclassic period By reexamining the iconography of sculptures long in the record as well as introducing important new monuments and contexts Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents clearly demonstrates El Tajín's numerous iconographic connections with other areas of Mesoamerica while also exploring its roots in an indigenous Gulf lowlands culture whose outlines are only now emerging At the same time it begins to uncover a largely ignored regional artistic culture of which Tajín is the crowning achievement

The Maya and Teotihuacan Geoffrey E. Braswell, 2009-07-21 The contributors to this volume present extensive new evidence from archaeology iconography and epigraphy to offer a more nuanced understanding of the interaction between the Early Classic Maya and Teotihuacan Winner Choice Outstanding Academic Book 2005 Since the 1930s archaeologists have uncovered startling evidence of interaction between the Early Classic Maya and the great empire of Teotihuacan in Central Mexico Yet the exact nature of the relationship between these two ancient Mesoamerican civilizations remains to be fully deciphered Many scholars have assumed that Teotihuacan colonized the Maya region and dominated the political or economic systems of certain key centers perhaps even giving rise to state level political organizations Others argue that Early Classic rulers merely traded with Teotihuacan and skillfully manipulated its imported exotic goods and symbol sets to increase their prestige Moving beyond these traditional assumptions the contributors to this volume present extensive new evidence from archaeology iconography and epigraphy to offer a more nuanced understanding of the interaction between the Early Classic Maya and Teotihuacan Investigating a range of Maya sites including Kaminaljuyu Cop n Tikal Altun Ha and Oxkintok they demonstrate that the influence of Teotihuacan on the Maya varied in nature and duration from site to site requiring a range of models to explain the patterns of interaction Moreover they show that the interaction was bidirectional and discuss how the Maya in turn influenced Teotihuacan
