Dzimba,1998-01-01 South Africa s Apartheid regime saw Zimbabwean independence and black majority rule in 1980 as a major threat to its interests security and regional hegemony John Dzimba explains how and why Pretoria sought to destabilise Zimbabwe and other front line states examining the successes and failures of destabilisation against Zimbabwe s economic and political vulnerabilities and attempted responses He shows why P W Botha s crisis ridden regime had to drop the policy in 1989 Economic Interdependence in Southern Africa ,1989 Interdependence in Southern Africa Leif Egeland,1978

African International Relations Mark W. DeLancey,2019-03-13 African International Relations is a thoroughly revised and updated bibliography that contains annotated entries for international books and journal articles in the field of African international relations The Southern African Development

Community (SADC) and the European Union (EU) Johannes Muntschick,2017-10-09 This book explores regionalism in the Southern African Development Community SADC and highlights the influence of the European Union EU as an extra regional actor on the organization and integration process The analysis is guided by theory and explains the emergence institutional design and performance of SADC s major integration projects in the issue areas of the economy security and infrastructure It provides in this way a profound assessment of the organization as a whole The study shows that South Africa plays a regional key role as driver for integration while external influence of the EU is ambivalent in character because it unfolds a supportive or obstructive impact The author argues that the EU gains influence over regional integration processes in the SADC on the basis of patterns of asymmetric interdependence and becomes a game changer insofar as it facilitates or impedes solutions to regional cooperation problems Regional Integration in the Global South Sebastian

Krapohl,2016-11-23 This book presents a theory of economic integration in developing regions where the level of intraregional economic interdependence is low and the dependence on extra regional economic relations is high It argues that the success or failure of regional integration in the Global South is to a large degree dependent on the reaction of extra regional actors in Europe North America and Northeast Asia In doing so it demonstrates that longstanding European integration theories cannot be successfully applied to other world regions where economic conditions are fundamentally different By providing detailed empirical analyses that are systematic in their use of a common theoretical and methodological framework the authors fill a significant lacuna in our understanding of these issues This edited volume will appeal to students and scholars of comparative regionalism area studies and global governance

South Africa's Foreign Policy James Barber, John Barratt, 1990-04-19 An exceptionally thorough study of South African foreign policy and the factors influencing its formation

Opportunities and Dangers of Soviet-Cuban Expansion Richard J. Payne, 1988-07-08 Combined with aggressive rhetoric and ideological hostility the conventional approach to crisis resolution generates only military options and diminishes our prospects for less dangerous solutions This book explains how a workable pragmatic and efficient foreign policy in relation to Soviet Cuban activities in the Third World can evolve through negotiation that de emphasizes ideology The focus is on problems within less developed countries problems that provide opportunities for Soviet Cuban involvement The book examines several Third World conflicts in which the Soviet Union and Cuba are involved The Horn of Africa Afghanistan Nicaragua Southern Africa and the Commonwealth Caribbean and suggests a pragmatic policy tailored to each regional conflict An objective assessment of Soviet Cuban activities discovers opportunities for cooperation and mutual restraint

Citizenship, Diversity, and Pluralism Alan Cairns, 1999 Annotation Citizenship is a linking mechanism that in its most perfect expression binds the citizenry to the state and to each other In Citizenship Diversity and Pluralism leading scholars assess the transformation of these two dimensions of citizenship in increasingly diverse and plural modern societies both in Canada and internationally Subjects addressed include the changing ethnic demography of states social citizenship multiculturalism feminist perspectives on citizenship aboriginal nationalism identity politics and the internationalization of human rights
