

was no agreement among respondents' ranking of the constraints is reported. The coefficient of concordance (W) showed that 72% of the respondents were in agreement with the rankings of the constraints. Insufficient supply of chemicals was identified as the most critical constraint, followed by inadequate spraying personnel. Favoritism by the spraying personnel was the least constraint.

The results are consistent with the findings of Abukwah et al (2018) who identified strategies to the cocoa mass spraying program to include insufficient supply of chemicals, misting of pesticides by sprayers and inadequate funds for spraying machines. They also reported that the government spraying program to control pests and diseases has not reached its full potential because it has not been able to fulfill its mandate of ensuring that cocoa farms are sprayed four times a year between July and November.

Another problem was inadequate spraying personnel. According to the farmers' the number of spraying personnel in the area is too small compared to the size of cocoa farms in the area. As much as 74% of the farmers mentioned the need for additional spraying personnel in their communities.

Constant breakdown of spraying machines delays spraying. In some instances, farmers are given the chemicals to spray their cocoa farms at their own cost. In addition, some farmers also reported that because the gangs were paid on the basis of area covered, they tended to spray as much acreage as possible instead of targeting the capids (insects) on the canopies. Farmers also identified theft of chemical sprays as a constraint. Discrimination and favoritism was the least constraint.

8. Conclusion

From a farmers' perspective, the government spraying program which was introduced to eradicate pests and diseases affecting cocoa production in the country has been ineffective in the study area as a result of problems facing the implementation of the program. Logistical problems, poor spraying and failure to follow the recommended spraying regime pose a big challenge to the successful implementation of the government spraying program in the district. There is therefore the need for the Government to ensure that right quantities of chemicals are made available at the right time to ensure an effective spraying regime. In addition, CODAPED must closely monitor the work of the spraying personnel to ensure that they do a thorough job.

Africa Victor Adetula, Redie Bereketeab, Cyril Obi, 2020-12-30 This book outlines challenges to the effective operation of regional economic communities RECs with regards to peacebuilding in Africa. Critically examining these issues from an interdisciplinary perspective with a focus on comparative analysis of the status role and performances of the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and Intergovernmental Authority on Development IGAD, it examines particular constraints to their effective participation in regional initiatives. Focussing on inadequate technical capabilities, the complicity of state and non-state actors in conflicts within a region, the domestic politics of member states, it additionally addresses related theories and practices of peacekeeping, security, development and the peacebuilding nexus. It also engages provisioning regionalism and regional peacekeeping interventions, the legal and institutional framework of RECs and civil society and peacebuilding. Fundamentally, the book asks how effective the alliances and partnerships are in promoting regional peace and security and how much they are compromised by the intervention of external powers and actors, exploring new ideas and actions that may strengthen capacities to address the peacebuilding challenges on the continent effectively. This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of African politics and studies, peace and security studies, regionalism studies, policy practitioners in the field of African peacebuilding and more broadly to international relations. Goldman, 2024-11-29 This book examines the new geopolitical economy of football, exploring the intersection of money, politics and power in the world's most popular sport. Against a background of international conflict and the emergence of powerful new state actors in world sport, the book considers how football investments and events have become instruments of soft power and industrial development and how football plays an increasingly significant role in global politics and international relations. Featuring the work of leading researchers from around the world and case studies from five continents, the book examines key contemporary issues such as the Gulf States' interests in European soccer and debates around sportswashing and human rights, the global politics of artificial intelligence, AI in football and football's complex relationship with migration and identity in Africa and Latin America. It considers the seismic impact of Russia's invasion of Ukraine on the geopolitics of football, on the shifting landscape of the governance of football in Europe, the rise of Major League Soccer and the Messi effect, and how the development of China and India into global economic superpowers is reflected in their vision for their domestic football leagues. The book also considers the importance of Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) and their commercial partners and stakeholders as geopolitical actors on the world stage. This is a fascinating read for anybody with an interest in sport, political economy, international politics, globalisation or development. Labour and Economic Change in Southern Africa c.1900-2000 Rory Pilosof, Andrew Cohen, 2021-06-03 This book explores the social and economic development of Zimbabwe, Zambia and

Malawi over the course of the twentieth century These three countries have long shared and interconnected pasts All three were drawn into the British Empire at a similar time and the formation of the ill fated Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland formally linked these countries together for a decade in the mid twentieth century This formal political relationship created dynamics that resulted in yet closer economic and social links After Federation the economic realities of industry transport and labour supplies meant that these three countries continued to be intricately interconnected Yet despite these connected pasts comparative work on the economic histories of Malawi Zambia and Zimbabwe and how these change over time is rare This book addresses the gap by providing the first comprehensive collection of labour and census data across the twentieth century for these three countries The different economic models and performances of these states offer good comparison allowing researchers to look at different models of development and how these played out over the long term The book provides data on population growth and change industrial and occupational structure and the various shifts in what the economically active population did It will be useful for historians economists development studies scholars and non governmental organisations working on twentieth century and contemporary southern Africa
