McNeill, 2022-03-01 This volume brings together a set of key articles from the last 30 years pertaining to the environmental history of the Pacific basin It aims to treat the islands and waters of the Pacific as well as the lands around the Rim from New Zealand to Japan to California to Chile and is the first work of environmental history to take this inclusive view of the Pacific basin The focus is mainly on recent centuries but as environmental history requires at times the work also takes the very long view of millennia Several of the articles seek to bring a broad Pacific perspective to bear on their subjects while others use Pacific basin examples to try to establish broader theoretical points of interest to all who are drawn to the study of the interactions between nature and culture The book includes a bibliography of Pacific basin environmental history and an introduction that aims to sketch the contours and possible future directions of the field Environmental History and the American South Paul Sutter, Christopher J. Manganiello, 2009 This reader gathers fifteen of the most important essays written in the field of southern environmental history over the past decade Ideal for course use the volume provides a convenient entrance into the recent literature on the region as it indicates the variety of directions in which the field is growing As coeditor Paul S Sutter writes in his introduction recent trends in environmental historiography a renewed emphasis on agricultural landscapes and their hybridity attention to the social and racial histories of environmental thought and practice and connections between health and the environment among them have made the South newly attractive terrain This volume suggests then that southern environmental history has not only arrived but also that it may prove an important space for the growth of the larger environmental history enterprise The writings which range in setting from the Texas plains to the Carolina Lowcountry address a multiplicity of topics such as husbandry practices in the Chesapeake colonies and the aftermath of Hurricane Andrew The contributors varied disciplinary perspectives including agricultural history geography the history of science the history of technology military history colonial American history urban and regional planning history and ethnohistory also point to the field's vitality Conveying the breadth diversity and liveliness of this maturing area of study Environmental History and the American South affirms the critical importance of human environmental interactions to the history and culture of the region Contributors Virginia DeJohn Anderson William Boyd Lisa Brady Joshua Blu Buhs Judith Carney James Taylor Carson Craig E Colten S Max Edelson Jack Temple Kirby Ralph H Lutts Eileen Maura McGurty Ted Steinberg Mart Stewart Claire Strom Paul Sutter Harry Watson Albert G Way

The Turning Points of Environmental History Frank Uekötter, 2010-11-21 From the time when humans first learned to harness fire cultivate crops and domesticate livestock they have altered their environment as a means of survival In the modern era however natural resources have been devoured and defiled in the wake of a consumerism that goes beyond mere subsistence In this volume an international group of environmental historians documents the significant ways in which humans have impacted their surroundings throughout history John McNeill introduces the collection with an overarching account of the history of human environmental impact Other contributors explore the use and abuse of the earth's land in the development of agriculture commercial forestry and in the battle against desertification in arid and semi arid regions Cities which first appeared some 5 500 years ago have posed their own unique environmental challenges including dilemmas of solid waste disposal sewerage disease pollution and sustainable food and water supplies The rise of nation states brought environmental legislation which often meant selling off natural resources through eminent domain Perhaps the most damaging environmental event in history resulted from a perfect storm of effects cheap fossil fuels especially petroleum and the rapid rise of personal incomes during the 1950s brought an exponential increase in energy consumption and unforeseen levels of greenhouse gases to the earth's atmosphere By the 1970s the deterioration of air land and water due to industrialization population growth and consumerism led to the birth of the environmental and ecological movements Overall the volume points to the ability and responsibility of humans to reverse the course of detrimental trends and to achieve environmental sustainability for existing and future populations
