Language and Power. The Implications of Language for Peace and Development Birgit Brock-Utne, Gunnar Garbo, 2009-09-15 Language is a tool used to express thoughts to hide thoughts or to hide lack of thoughts It is often a means of domination The question is who has the power to define the world around us This book demonstrates how language is being manipulated to form the minds of listeners or readers Innocent words may be used to conceal a reality which people would have reacted to had the phenomena been described in a straightforward manner The nice and innocent concept cost sharing which leads our thoughts to communal sharing and solidarity may actually imply privatization The false belief that the best way to learn a foreign language is to have it as a language of instruction actually becomes a strategy for stupidification of African pupils In this book 33 independent experts from 16 countries in the North and the South show how language may be used to legitimize war making promote Northern interests in the field of development and retain colonial speech as languages of instruction languages of the courts and in politics The book has been edited by two Norwegians Birgit Brock Utne is a professor at the University of Oslo and a consultant in education and development From 1987 until 1992 she was a professor at the University of Dar es Salaam Gunnar Garbo author and journalist and former member of the Norwegian Parliament was the Norwegian Ambassador to Tanzania from 1987 to 1992 phenomena      Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities James A. Inman, Cheryl Reed, Peter Sands, 2003-10-03 This volume provides an informed view of how information technology is shaping the contemporary humanities. It specifically reflects five ideals: humanities scholars with all levels of access are doing important work with technology; humanities scholars' projects with technology reflect significant diversity both across and within disciplinary bounds; using information technology in the humanities is a continuous conversation; information technology offers new options for humanities education; and just as collaboration changes the nature of any project, so does information technology change the nature of collaboration, its speed, character, methods, and possible implementations. The first to explore new and important ways for humanities scholars to collaborate across disciplines via electronic media, this book redefines electronic collaboration, presents insightful models of student collaboration, provides important models of faculty collaboration with special emphasis on professional development, and offers a look at the future of electronic collaboration and the overall future of the humanities. Featuring the voices of humanities teacher-scholars at all stages of their professional careers, the chapters emphasize pedagogy, outlining contemporary issues and options. Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities speaks directly to anyone involved with interdisciplinary initiatives in colleges and universities, such as writing across the curriculum and communication across the curriculum programs, and to specific populations within the humanities, including literacy and technology, language and literature, literacy studies, professional writing, and English education.      Key Issues in E-Learning Norbert Pachler, Caroline Daly, 2011-04-21      English in the Disciplines Christoph Hafner, Lindsay Miller, 2018-08-06 The context for the teaching and learning of English for specific disciplinary purposes is undergoing profound changes under the influence of economic globalization and new digital communication technologies. English in the Disciplines demonstrates how fundamental principles of ESP to tailor language learning materials to the needs of specific groups of learners can be adapted to new contexts of learning in the digital age. Based on sustained research into students' experiences in an ESP context in Hong Kong, this volume provides an empirically grounded and practical methodology to ESP learning and course design and features mixed method case studies, links between theory and practice with plentiful examples of teaching materials and learning activities, recognition of the effect of new technologies and globalization on the practice of ESP, highlighting problems and providing practical solutions, a new pedagogical model for ESP course design addressing multiple dimensions relevant to today's ESP learners, including learner autonomy, genre, multimodality, and digital literacies, plurilingual practices, and project-based learning and collaboration. English in the Disciplines provides key reading for anyone studying and researching this topic.      Contemporary Computer-Assisted Language Learning Michael Thomas, 2012-12-27 A state-of-the-art reference volume on contemporary computer-assisted language learning, including chapters on research and methodology by leading international figures in the field.      The Handbook of Applied Linguistics Alan Davies, Catherine Elder, 2008-04-15 The Handbook of Applied Linguistics is a collection of newly commissioned articles that provide a comprehensive and up-to-date picture of the field of Applied Linguistics Provides a comprehensive and current picture of the field of Applied Linguistics Contains 32 newly commissioned articles that examine both the applications of linguistics to language data and the use of real world language to ameliorate social problems Valuable resource for students and researchers in applied linguistics language teaching and second language acquisition Presents applied linguistics as an independent discipline that unifies practical experience and theoretical understanding of language development and language in use Global Crises, Social Justice, and Education Michael W. Apple, 2009-12-16 These programs are designed to assist migrant students to become proficient in English L2 Writing in Secondary Classrooms Luciana C. De Oliveira, Tony Silva, 2013 Second language writers and the teaching of writing at the secondary level have received little attention compared with other skills such as reading Addressing this gap this volume uniquely looks at both adolescent L2 writing and the preparation of secondary teachers to work with this population of students Part I on adolescent L2 writers includes case studies looking at their literacy identities their trajectories in mainstream content area classes and their transition from high school to college Part II looks at academic issues The focus in Part III is L2 writing teacher education Taking a theoretically eclectic approach that can support a variety of pedagogies this book contributes significantly to understanding adolescent second language writers and to educating teachers to address these students specific needs
