Transitions Philippe Hamman, 2021-12-26 This book explores the intrinsically multiscale issue of renewable energy transition from a local national and transnational perspective and provides insights into current developments in the Upper Rhine Region that can serve as an international model Organised around the exploration of stakeholder issues the volume first describes a framework for public action and modelling and then articulates a triple complementary focus from the viewpoint of law economics and sociology This multidisciplinary approach is anchored in the social sciences but also explores the ways in which technological issues are increasingly debated in the implementation of the ecological transition With a focus on the Upper Rhine Region of France Germany and Switzerland the contributions throughout analyse how concrete regional projects emerge and whether they are carried out by local authorities private energy groups network associations or committed citizens From this it appears that real world energy transition modes can be best understood as permanent transactional processes involving institutional regulations economic levers and barriers and social interactions This book will be of interest to advanced students and scholars focusing on renewable energy transition stakeholder issues environment and sustainability studies as well as those who are interested in the methodological aspects of the social sciences especially
