Baroque Spain and the Writing of Visual and Material Culture Alicia R Zuese, 2015-11-20 By examining the pictorial episodes in the Spanish baroque novella this book elucidates how writers create pictorial texts how audiences visualise their words what consequences they exert on cognition and what actions this process inspires To interrogate characters mental activity internalisation of text and the effects on memory this book applies methodologies from cognitive cultural studies Classical memory treatises and techniques of spiritual visualisation It breaks new ground by investigating how artistic genres and material culture help us grasp the audience's aural material visual and textual literacies which equipped the public with cognitive mechanisms to face restrictions in post Counter Reformation Spain. The writers examined include prominent representatives of Spanish prose: Cervantes, Lope de Vega, Mar a de Zayas and Luis V lez de Guevara as well as Alonso de Castillo Sol rzano, Gonzalo de Cspedes y Meneses and an anonymous group in C rdoba.

Love Poetry in the Spanish Golden Age Isabel Torres, 2013. This work engages with a broader evaluation of early modern poetics that foregrounds the processes rather than the products of thinking. The locus of the study is the Imperial home space where love poetry meets early modern empire at the inception of a very conflicted national consciousness and where the vernacular language Castilian emerges in the encounter as a strategic site of national and imperial identity. The political is therefore a pervasive presence teased out where relevant in recognition of the poet's sensitivity to the ideologies within which writing comes into being. But the primary commitment of the book is to lyric poetry and to poets individually and in their dynamic interconnectedness. Moving beyond a re-evaluation of critical responses to four major poets of the period: Garcilaso de la Vega, Herrera, G ngora and Quevedo, this study disengages respectfully with the substantial body of biographical research that continues to impact upon our understanding of the genre and renegotiates the Foucauldian concept of the epistemic break often associated with the anti-mimetic impulses of the Baroque. This more flexible model accommodates the multiperspectivism that interrogated Imperial ideology even in the earliest sixteenth-century poetry and allows for the exploration of new horizons in interpretation. Writing for the Eyes in the Spanish Golden Age Frederick A. Minding Animals in the Old and New Worlds Steven Wagschal, 2018-11-05 Minding Animals in the Old and New Worlds employs current research in cognitive science and the philosophy of animal cognition to explore how humans have understood non human animals in the Iberian world from the Middle Ages through the early modern period Using texts from European and Indigenously informed sources Steven Wagschal argues that people tend to conceptualize the minds of animals in ways that reflect their own uses for the animal the manner in which they interact with the animal and the place in which the animal lives Often this has little if anything to do with the actual cognitive abilities of the animal However occasionally early authors made surprisingly accurate assumptions about the thoughts and feelings of animals Wagschal explores a number of ways in which culture and human cognition interact including the utility of anthropomorphism the symbolic use of animals in medieval Christian texts attempts at understanding the minds of animals in Spain s early modern farming and hunting books the effect of novelty on animal conceptualizations in New World histories and how Cervantes navigated the forms of anthropomorphism that preceded him to create the first embodied animal minds in fiction

Subject Stages María Mercedes Carrión,2010-01-01 Subject Stages argues that the discourses and practices of marital legislation litigation and theatrics informed each other in early modern Spain in ways that still have a critical bearing on contemporary events in Spain such as the legalization of divorce in 1978 and of same sex marriage in 2005 Imagining Arcadia in Renaissance Romance Marsha S. Giles, Steven Wagschal, 2018-01-18 Beyond Sight edited by Ryan D Giles and Steven Wagschal explores the ways in which Iberian writers crafted images of both Old and New Worlds using the non visual senses hearing smell taste and touch The contributors argue that the uses of these senses are central to understanding Iberian authors and thinkers from the pre and early modern periods Medievalists delve into the poetic interiorizations of the sensorial plane to show how sacramental and purportedly miraculous sensory experiences were central to the effort of affirming faith and understanding indigenous peoples in the Americas Renaissance and early modernist essays shed new light on experiences of pungent bustling ports and city centres and the exotic musical performances of empire This insightful collection covers a wide array of approaches including literary and cultural history philosophical aesthetics affective and cognitive studies and theories of embodiment Beyond Sight expands the field of sensory studies to focus on the Iberian Peninsula and its colonies from historical literary and cultural perspectives     The Arts of Encounter Catherine Infante, 2022-03-01 Images of crosses the Virgin Mary and Christ among other devotional objects pervaded nearly every aspect of public and private life in early modern Spain but they were also a point of contention between Christian and Muslim cultures Writers of narrative fiction theatre and poetry were attuned to these debates and religious imagery played an important role in how early modern writers chose to portray relations between Christians and Muslims Drawing on a wide variety of literary genres as well as other textual and visual sources including historical chronicles travel memoirs captives testimonies and paintings Catherine Infante traces the references to religious visual culture and the responses they incited in cross confessional negotiations She reveals some of the anxieties about what it meant to belong to different ethnic or religious communities and how these communities interacted with each other within the fluid boundaries of the Mediterranean world Focusing on the religious image as a point of contact between individuals of diverse beliefs and practices The Arts of Encounter presents an original and necessary perspective on how Christian Muslim relations were perceived and conveyed in print

Representing War and Violence Joanna Bellis, Laura Slater, 2016 An examination of written and other responses to conflict in a variety of forms and genres from the thirteenth to the seventeenth century War and violence took many forms in medieval and early modern Europe from political and territorial conflict to judicial and social spectacle from religious persecution and crusade to self mortification and martyrdom from comedic brutality to civil and domestic aggression Various cultural frameworks conditioned both the acceptance of these forms of violence and the protest that they met with the elusive concept of chivalry Christianity and just war theory political ambition and the machinery of propaganda literary genres and the expectations they generated and challenged The essays here from the disciplines of history art history and literature explore how violence and conflict were documented depicted narrated and debated during this period They consider manuals created for and addressed directly to kings and aristocratic patrons romances whose affective treatments of violence invited profoundly empathetic even troublingly pleasurable responses diaries and autobiographies compiled on the field and redacted for publication and self promotion The ethics and aesthetics of representation as much as the violence being represented emerge as a profound and constant theme for writers and artists grappling with this most fundamental and difficult topic of human experience

Visions of Empire in Colonial Spanish American Ekphrastic Writing Kathryn M. Mayers, 2012

The process of shaping and asserting cultural identity in viceregal Spanish America occurred as much through the medium of pictures as through the medium of writing. Focused on writing that references visual texts, ekphrasis, Visions of Empire in Colonial Spanish American Ekphrastic Writing examines the way words about pictures in the writing of three Spanish American Creoles: Hernando Domínguez Camargo, Juan de Espinosa Medrano, and Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz negotiate the challenges that confronted the American-born ruling elite in Spanish America during the contentious transitional period between the Conquest and Independence. In Spanish America, pictures have long served as a crucial medium for cultural communication. In vast rural and urban regions where print culture is not deeply rooted and being cultured is not synonymous with being literate, visual texts ranging from pre-Hispanic pictographic codices to Baroque architectural surfaces to postmodern painted murals have played an essential role in shaping and asserting cultural identity. During the viceregal era, texts that referenced such visual texts proliferated in Latin America, particularly among Creole elites who found themselves trapped in an ambiguous political and social position between Spain and America. At the level of content, Creole ekphrases bear little obvious connection to categories of social privilege. On the level of form, however, these ekphrases engage conventions of representation that reveal the social contingencies of the poetic gaze. They refract the visual object through an ideologically charged language that invokes differentials of race, class, gender, sexuality, nationality, and position within the colonial power structure. Visions of Empire brings recent scholarship on visuality and ekphrasis to bear on twenty-first-century reexaminations of criollismo to explore how cultural productions of the Spanish American Creole elite exercised relations of power, mediated social differences, and presented symbolic organizations of social space. Focusing on the way Creole adaptations of Gongoran ekphrases placed the Creoles in a position of epistemological, economic, or moral authority over peninsular Spaniards and Amerindian and casta majorities around them, this book illustrates how Creole words about pictures propose alternate visions of empire, symbolically reordering Spain's empire in the Americas around the figure of the Creole.
