theological understanding what Segundo has done for theological method and what Miranda has done for biblical studies Jon Sobrino has now done for Christology He has provided a substantial and enduring theological contribution from a Third World perspective This book will have long life since it not only argues for the necessity of a Christology from the underside of history but offers an extensive example of how such a Christology should be constructed showing the basic connection between the radical historicity of Jesus and the suffering and pain of oppressed people The thoroughness of the author's survey of other positions the fullness of his documentation and the pervasive power of his own affirmations make clear that Christology at the Crossroads will not leave us stranded at the crossroads but will start us down exciting and demanding new paths Robert McAfee Brown Professor of Ecumenics and World Christianity Union Theological Seminary The publication of Christology at the Crossroads in English is most opportune It is not only the Christology presented in this book but the Christology of the church at large indeed of the churches that stands at the crossroads at present Those of us who have been working in this field know that in order to break through some deadlocked situations we need a Christology more soberly rooted in soteriology more honestly founded upon the historical Jesus and more realistically turned towards a future yet to be realized Yet in the affluent and basically contented northern nations of the western world this kind of Christology has not so far been written To find it one must turn to the Third World theologians for the present and among these Jon Sobrino's book is a landmark Monika K Hellwig Associate Professor of Theology Georgetown University
