Food for Thought Ray Morgan, 2011-03-24 One of the greatest secrets you can ever learn is that you have the power to heal yourself Perhaps you have thought of this statement yourself If you have then you were right on target Maybe you have come to the conclusion that this special gift belongs only to certain persons the most spiritually advanced or the most brilliant in the practice of medicine or psychotherapy Perhaps you believe that there is something mysterious even mystical about healing Throughout the ages the word healing has been associated with superstition and even strange practices Today we hear a lot about spiritual healing as a result of prayer the laying on of hands and healing services at church or revival meetings With all of this awareness most people still think their health is dependent upon some source other than themselves We must come to the understanding that many illnesses come not only from a lack of life giving food but from our ill thoughts and feelings about ourself others our Creator and the world in which we live These ill thoughts constrict the life force within us causing dis ease or lack of ease It is very interesting to note that the word ill derives from the words evil wrong or incorrect It is literally our evil disagreeable out of balance incorrect thoughts and feelings These feelings are located in your body and plays havoc with your health Food for Thought Lionel R. Food For Thought Deborah Hollimon, 2018-04-09 Greetings I am a family nurse practitioner with a doctorate degree in nursing I first embarked on this journey of living and being healthy to be the best I could be in loving myself I felt that by loving me I was getting connected and closer to God I no longer wanted to go through the motion of losing weight but to reach for something more that will last a life time physically as well as spiritually My strength came by putting God first in my daily life I wanted to teach others that they too can be healthier have peace of mind and joy in their lives I am educating my patients and others that one can lose the weight by living a healthy lifestyle I am living proof as a diabetic that it can be done I have lost fifty eight lbs It was not easy As we all know nothing in life worth doing is easy I still go back and forth but the frequency is lesser When I do get off track I am aware and have the discipline in getting back on track It takes consistency and daily discipline where your old habits are replaced by new ones I educate my patients and others that when you change how you think you change your direction on how you live My patients would give me feedback that it was a continual struggle for them in keeping the pounds off As soon as problems would surface the weight they had lost would be erase when old eating habits usual for comfort would return Many patients just gave up feeling that this is their norm I am teaching my patients that caring for themselves is to be proactive in the daily decisions they make in promoting their health and well being The journey of health is not about taking just the weight off but embarking on a life long journey in being the best they can be mind body and spirit By bringing all these three elements together they become the complete healthy vibrant version of self In conclusion I realized the battle was not between myself and food but what was in my mind I accepted the fact that how I felt about myself was a reflection of what I ate that it begins in the mind To change this direction I had to change my thinking This is where the book entitled Food for Thought was written to reach out to others on this life long journey of getting back to healthy living As a practitioner in internal medicine I have seen by helping others that thinking and eating healthy has turned their lives around not only in losing weight but also in feeling good about themselves I have patients who are losing the weight getting their diabetes blood pressures and cholesterol under control In addition these same patients are using less medications having more energy and having happier moods So let us start by doing this journey together in reading the book entitled Food for Thought Thank you Dr Deborah Hollimon DNP FNP C
