Modern Chinese Foodways Jia-Chen Fu, Michelle T. King, Jakob A. Klein, 2025-03-04 An edited collection that explores the multifaceted experiences of Chinese culinary modernity both within and outside of mainland China from the mid 19th century to present Modern Chinese Foodways defines some of the major processes by which Chinese food and foodways have become modern with a focus on the period from the mid nineteenth to the twenty first century The editors Jia Chen Fu Michelle T King and Jakob A Klein highlight four prominent areas of change commodification of food production the scientization of expertise and the development of new food technologies the creation of new culinary identities based on gender ethnicity and nation and the circuits of migration taking place since the nineteenth century This collection argues that Chinese food and foodways are very much modern not a given in the face of the chorus of voices that insists on emphasizing its ancient roots in ways that both recall the experiences of other cultures as well as in ways unique to China's own historical trajectory The book combines incisive original scholarship by thirteen leading voices in the field with editorial essays on the past and future of Chinese food studies to frame the field of inquiry for the next generation of Chinese food studies scholars Demonstrating the significance of modern Chinese foodways to the phenomenon of culinary modernity writ large which is still largely shaped by Euro American perspectives and priorities Modern Chinese Foodways is the first book of its kind

Portraits of "primitives" Susan Debra Blum, 2001 Ethnicity is a highly politicized issue in contemporary China Twentieth century nation building has been intimately involved with classification of China's fifty five ethnic minorities and with fostering harmony and unity among nationalities Officially sanctioned social science classifies the majority group the so called Han at the pinnacle of modernization and civilization and most other groups as Primitive In post socialist China popular conceptions of self person and nation intersect with political and scholarly concerns with identity sometimes contradicting them and sometimes reinforcing them In Portraits of Primitives Susan D Blum explores how Han in the city of Kunming in southwest China regard ethnic minorities and by extension themselves She sketches portraits or cognitive prototypes of ethnic groups in a variety of contexts explaining the perceived visibility of each group which almost never correlates with size of population Ideas of Haness can be understood in part through Han desire to identify unique characteristics in ethnic minorities and also through Han celebration of the differences that distance minorities The book considers questions of identity alterity and self in the context of a complex nation state employing methods from linguistic anthropology and psychological anthropology as well as other forms of cultural analysis Providing nuanced views of relationships among political scholarly and popular models of identity this book will be an invaluable guide for those working in China studies anthropology and ethnic studies

Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond Tan Chee-Beng, 2012-08-01 Chinese cuisine has had a deep impact on culinary traditions in Southeast Asia where the lack of certain ingredients and access to new ingredients along with the culinary knowledge of local people led Chinese migrants to modify traditional dishes and to invent new foods This process brought the cuisine of southern China considered by some writers to be the finest in the world into contact with a wide range of local and global cuisines and ingredients When Chinese from Southeast Asia moved on to other parts of the world they brought these variants of Chinese food with them completing a cycle of culinary reproduction localization and invention and globalization The process does not end there for the new context offers yet another set of ingredients and culinary traditions and the embedding and fusing of foods continues creating additional hybrid forms Written by scholars whose deep familiarity with Chinese cuisine is both personal and academic Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond is a book that anyone who has been fortunate enough to encounter Southeast Asian food will savour and it provides a window on this world for those who have yet to discover it

Commensality: From Everyday Food to Feast Susanne Kerner, Cynthia Chou, Morten Warmind, 2015-02-26 Throughout time and in every culture human beings have eaten together Commensality eating and drinking at the same table is a fundamental social activity which creates and cements relationships It also sets boundaries including or excluding people according to a set of criteria defined by the society Particular scholarly attention has been paid to banquets and feasts often hosted for religious ritualistic or political purposes but few studies have considered everyday commensality Commensality From Everyday Food to Feast offers an insight into this social practice in all its forms from the most basic and mundane meals to the grandest occasions Bringing together insights from anthropologists archaeologists and historians this volume offers a vast historical scope ranging from the Late Neolithic period 6th millennium BC through the Middle Ages to the present day The sixteen chapters include case studies from across the world including the USA Bolivia China Southeast Asia Iran Turkey Portugal Denmark and the UK Connecting these diverse analyses is an understanding of commensality s role as a social and political tool integral to the formation of personal and national identities From first experiences of commensality in the sharing of food between a mother and child to the inaugural dinner of the American president this collection of essays celebrates the variety of human life and society

Enduring Socialism Harry G. West, Parvathi Raman, 2009 Against the historical backdrop of successive socialist and post socialist claims to have completely remade society the contributors to this volume explore the complex and often paradoxical continuities between diverse post socialist presents and their corresponding socialist and pre socialist pasts The chapters focus on ways in which pre socialist economic political and cultural forms in fact endured an era of socialism and have found new life in the post socialist present notwithstanding revolutionary socialist claims continuities with a pre socialist past have been produced within the historical imaginary of post socialism and socialist economic political and cultural forms have in fact endured in a purportedly postsocialist era despite the claims of neo liberal reformers Publisher s website Tourism in Bangladesh: Investment and Development Perspectives Azizul Hassan,2022-01-05 This edited volume uniquely explores the extensive themes and frameworks of tourism development and investment in Bangladesh The book focuses on outlining the present investment and development scenario of Bangladesh in order to suggest some solutions to current issues Considering that Bangladesh has a population of over 170 million the country possesses an abundance of possibilities for tourism In recent years Bangladesh has experienced steady growth in its economy and socio cultural developments Currently there is very limited knowledge of or research into tourism in Bangladesh even though it is a multifaceted and fast growing industry This book makes an important contribution to representing and exploring diverse aspects of tourism in Bangladesh for local and international benefit This book provides insights into the stronghold of a social class having the ability to spend for tourism and leisure activities which has prompted the country to pay further attention to the development of its tourism industry This book emphasizes that the importance of tourism is undeniably on a continuous rise in Bangladesh which in turn deserves the appropriate attention from academic research
