Food Insecurity And The Social Division Of Labour In Tanzania 1919 1985:

Food Insecurity and the Social Division of Labour in Tanzania, 1919-85 D. Bryceson, 1990-07-08 Most studies of famine and the African food crisis stress how the socio economic context influences the occurrence of food shortages By contrast this book argues that food insecurity itself influences the social and economic organization of the society Through this approach the author provides a new interpretation of the causes and consequences of Tanzania s present economic crisis The book examines the effects of changing food availability on the functioning of the state the market and clientage networks over the past seven decades The conclusion is that clientage is no less important than the state and market as an organizational force in Tanzanian society and under heightened food insecurity the state and market lose ground to clientage

Food Insecurity and the Social Division of Labor in Tanzania, 1919-85 Deborah Fahy Bryceson, 1990 Several aspects of the social division of labour and food insecurity in Tanzania 1919 1985 are studied in this book These range from maize and millet shifting cultivation of woodland and wooded grassland areas to government labour policy and the male migrant bachelor wage labour system

Urban Food Systems Governance and Poverty in African Cities Jane Battersby, Vanessa Watson, 2018-08-22 As Africa urbanises and the focus of poverty shifts to urban centres there is an imperative to address poverty in African cities This is particularly the case in smaller cities which are often the most rapidly urbanising but the least able to cope with this growth This book argues that an examination of the food system and food security provides a valuable lens to interrogate urban poverty Chapters examine the linkages between poverty urban food systems and local governance with a focus on case studies from three smaller or secondary cities in Africa Kisumu Kenya Kitwe Zambia and Epworth Zimbabwe The book makes a wider contribution to debates on urban studies and urban governance in Africa through analysis of the causes and consequences of the paucity of urban scale data for decision makers and by presenting potential methodological innovations to address this paucity As the global development agenda is increasingly focusing on urban issues most notably the urban goal of the new Sustainable Development Goals and the New Urban Agenda the work is timely The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.tandfebooks.com/doi/view/10.4324/9781315191195> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Mining and Social Transformation

in Africa Deborah Fahy Bryceson, Eleanor Fisher, Jesper Bosse Jønsson, Rosemarie Mwaipopo, 2013-10-15 After more than three decades of economic malaise many African countries are experiencing an upsurge in their economic fortunes linked to the booming international market for minerals Spurred by the shrinking viability of peasant agriculture rural dwellers have been engaged in a massive search for alternative livelihoods one of the most lucrative being artisanal mining While an expanding literature has documented the economic expansion of artisanal mining this book is the first to probe its societal impact demonstrating that artisanal mining has the potential to be far more democratic and emancipating than preceding modes Delineating the paradoxes of artisanal miners working alongside the expansion of large scale mining investment in Africa Mining and Social Transformation in Africa concentrates on the Tanzanian experience Written by authors with fresh research insights focus is placed on how artisanal mining is configured in relation to local regional and national mining investments and social class differentiation The work lives and associated lifestyles of miners and residents of mining settlements are brought to the fore asking where this historical interlude is taking them and their communities in the future The question of value transfers out of the artisanal mining sector value capture by elites and changing configurations of gender age and class differentiation all arise Food and Famine in Colonial Kenya James Duminy, 2022-10-19 This book offers a genealogical critique of how food scarcity was governed in colonial Kenya With an approach informed by the analysis of government the study accounts for the emergence and persistence of dominant approaches to promoting food security in Kenya and elsewhere in Africa policies and practices that prioritize increased agricultural production as the principal means of achieving food security Drawing on a range of archival sources the book investigates how those tasked with governing colonial Kenya confronted food as a particular kind of problem It emphasizes the ways in which that problem shifted in conjunction with the emergence and consolidation of the colonial state and economic relations in the territory The book applies a novel conceptual approach to the historical study of African food systems and famine and provides the first longitudinal and in depth analysis of the dynamics of food scarcity and its government in Kenya The Oxford Handbook of Food History Jeffrey M. Pilcher, 2012-10-16 Food matters not only as a subject of study in its own right but also as a medium for conveying critical messages about capitalism the environment and social inequality to diverse audiences Recent scholarship on the subject draws from both a pathbreaking body of secondary literature and an inexhaustible wealth of primary sources from ancient Chinese philosophical tracts to McDonald s menus contributing new perspectives to the historical study of food culture and society and challenging the limits of history itself The Oxford Handbook of Food History places existing works in historiographical context crossing disciplinary chronological and geographic boundaries while also suggesting new routes for future research The twenty seven essays in this book are organized into five sections historiography disciplinary approaches production circulation and consumption of food The first two sections examine the foundations of food history not only in relation to key developments in the discipline of history itself such as the French

Annales school and the cultural turn but also in anthropology sociology geography pedagogy and the emerging Critical Nutrition Studies The following three sections sketch various trajectories of food as it travels from farm to table factory to eatery nature to society Each section balances material cultural and intellectual concerns whether juxtaposing questions of agriculture and the environment with the notion of cookbooks as historical documents early human migrations with modern culinary tourism or religious customs with social activism In its vast interdisciplinary scope this handbook brings students and scholars an authoritative guide to a field with fresh insights into one of the most fundamental human concerns

Agricultural Marketing in Tropical Africa H. Laurens van der Laan, Tjalling Dijkstra, Aad van Tilburg, 2018-08-09 First published in 1999 this volume explores how African agriculture has always had a strong appeal for the people of the Netherlands This is due to 1 a long established interest in tropical agriculture going back to the days when Indonesia was a Dutch colony 2 a broad based desire to help the Third World and 3 the view that Tropical Africa is highly dependent on agriculture As practical expertise in Africa and systematic research on African agriculture grew specialization became both possible and necessary This volume reflects the specialization in marketing which has been welcomed by economists geographers and scholars of agricultural marketing In addition to a general introductory chapter this book includes five contributions on staple food grains two on export crops two on cattle and one on horticulture Nine of the chapters are country specific covering Benin Burkina Faso Cameroon Cote d'Ivoire Ghana Kenya Sierra Leone Tanzania and Zambia

Ecology, Civil Society and the Informal Economy in North West Tanzania Charles David Smith,2017-03-02 Based on a decade of first hand experience and secondary research this richly detailed study follows daily life in four villages in Tanzania Funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council this comprehensive account examines the regional economy determinants of civil society and implications for democratization AIDS population growth refugees crops and goods and implications for development Charles David Smith brings together well over 200 interviews and his own experience of everyday events providing a constructive critique of current initiatives and a potent new direction that has so far been under explored by existing bodies An essential text for all serious students and researchers interested in development

Farewell to Farms Deborah Fahy Bryceson,Vali Jamal,2019-05-23 First published in 1997 this volume asks whether Africa s future is necessarily rooted in peasant agriculture The title of this book Farewell to Farms is deliberately intended to challenge the widely held view that Africa is the world s reserve for peasant farming African rural populations are themselves moving away from a reliance on agriculture De agrarianisation takes the form of urban migration as well as the expansion of non agricultural activities in rural areas providing new income sources occupations and social identities for rural dwellers Using recent continent wide case study evidence the authors assess the impact of de agrarianisation on household welfare business performance and national development Their findings which reveal new economic trajectories and social patterns emerging from a period of accelerated change call into question assumptions about Africa s future place in the world division of labour

Tanzania in Transition Kjell J. Havnevik,Aida C. Isinika,2010 This book is the first comprehensive contribution to understanding the character of important societal transitions in Tanzania during Benjamin Mkapa s presidency 1995 2005 The analyses of the trajectory of these transitions are conducted against the background of the development model of Tanzanian s first president Julius Nyerere 1961 1985 a model with lasting influence on the country This approach enables an understanding of continuities and discontinuities in Tanzania over time in areas such as development strategy an ideology agrarian land gender and forestry issues economic liberalization development assistance corruption and political change The period of Mkapa s presidency is particularly important because it represents the first phase of Tanzania s multi party political system Mkapa s government initially faced a gloomy economic situation Although Mkapa s crusade against corruption lost direction his presidency was characterised by relatively high growth rates and a stable macro economy Rural and agrarian transitions were dominated by diversification rather than productivity growth and transformation Rural attitudes in favour of land markets emerged only slowly but formal land disputes showed more respect for women s rights Some space emerged for widening local participation in forest management but rural dynamics was mainly found in trading settlements feeding on economic liberalization and artisanal mining The transitions documented and analysed of Mkapa s presidency however indicate only limited transformational change Rural poverty is therefore likely to remain deep and the sustainability of economic development to be at risk in the future Mkapa was however able to protect the legacy of peace and political stability of Nyerere but there were nevertheless important challenges to the first multiparty elections and governance and particularly in Zanzibar The post script covering 2005 2010 indicates that the incumbent president Jakaya Kikwete has yet to prove that he can change this legacy of Mkapa The contributions to the eleven chapters of this book are evenly shared between Tanzanian Nordic and other European researchers with a long term commitment to Tanzanian development research The book is dedicated to the youth of Tanzania
