Foodculture Tasting Identities And Geographies In Art:

Foodculture Barbara Fischer,1999 The writers and artists in this anthology have addressed this question by taking a renewed interest in the symbolic value of food and eating as well as in the rituals of preparation and consumption In their interrogation of foodculture in art they investigate food in all its materiality its social value and its power to transform our culture from the role of food in aesthetic concepts throughout history to modern concerns with global food production and distribution Foodculture focuses on food as a site of negotiation in the relations between East and West between colonizer and colonized as well as in the formation of cultural and personal identity in an increasingly globalized world The

Multisensory Museum Nina Levent,Alvaro Pascual-Leone,2014-03-06 Recent research in the cognitive sciences gives us a new perspective on the cognitive and sensory landscape In The Multisensory Museum Cross Disciplinary Perspectives on Touch Sound Smell Memory and Space museum expert Nina Levent and Alvaro Pascual Leone professor of neurology at Harvard Medical School bring together scholars and museum practitioners from around the world to highlight new trends and untapped opportunities for using such modalities as scent sound and touch in museums to offer more immersive experiences and diverse sensory engagement for visually and otherwise impaired patrons Visitor studies describe how different personal and group identities color our cultural consumption and might serve as a compass on museum journeys Psychologists and educators look at the creation of memories through different types of sensory engagement with objects and how these memories in turn affect our next cultural experience An anthropological perspective on the history of our multisensory engagement with ritual and art objects especially in cultures that did not privilege sight over other senses allows us a glimpse of what museums might become in the future Education researchers discover museums as unique educational playgrounds that allow for a variety of learning styles active and passive exploration and participatory learning Designers and architects suggest a framework for thinking about design solutions for a museum environment that invites an intuitive multisensory and flexible exploration as well as minimizes physical hurdles While attention has been paid to accessibility for the physically impaired since passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act making buildings accessible is only the first small step in elevating museums to be centers of learning and culture for all members of their communities This landmark book will help all museums go much further Eating on the Move from the Eighteenth Century to the Present Rita d'Errico,Stefano Magagnoli,Peter Scholliers,Peter J. Atkins,2023-06-07 This book focuses on food and meals consumed during travel since the transport revolution and examines the ways in which the introduction of new forms of transport propelled by steam and petrol engines not only affected the way people travel but also led to a transformation in the way we eat Eating on board a train is different from eating on a ship and the same is true for other forms of transport Such differences are not simply a question of quality or variations of menu a unique history has defined each of these different situations a history which is still largely to be studied This volume contains contributions from a mix of established

food historians and young researchers Social and economic history overlap with cultural history approaches and forays into the fields of linguistics and art confirming that the field of food history and more generally food studies is by definition a field of transdisciplinary and border research This volume will be of interest for scholars within the field of food history food studies and food culture as well as social and cultural historians dealing with industrialization or social policy Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies Ken Albala, 2013-05-07 Over the past decade there has been a remarkable flowering of interest in food and nutrition both within the popular media and in academia Scholars are increasingly using foodways food systems and eating habits as a new unit of analysis within their own disciplines and students are rushing into classes and formal degree programs focused on food Introduced by the editor and including original articles by over thirty leading food scholars from around the world the Routledge International Handbook of Food Studies offers students scholars and all those interested in food related research a one stop easy to use reference guide Each article includes a brief history of food research within a discipline or on a particular topic a discussion of research methodologies and ideological or theoretical positions resources for research including archives grants and fellowship opportunities as well as suggestions for further study Each entry also explains the logistics of succeeding as a student and professional in food studies This clear direct Handbook will appeal to those hoping to start a career in academic food studies as well as those hoping to shift their research to a food related project Strongly interdisciplinary this work will be of interest to students and scholars throughout the social sciences and humanities

Mothering a Bodied Curriculum Stephanie Springgay, Debra Freedman, 2012-02-10 This collection considers how embodiment mothering and curriculum theory are related to practices in education that silence conceal and limit gendered raced and sexual maternal bodies Advancing a new understanding of the maternal body it argues for a bodied curriculum a practice that attends to the relational social and ethical implications of being with other bodies differently and to the different knowledges such bodily encounters produce Contributors argue that the prevailing silence about the maternal body in educational scholarship reinforces the binary split between domestic and public spaces family life and work one's own children and others children and women's roles as mothers or others Providing an interdisciplinary perspective in which postmodern ideas about the body interact with those of learning and teaching Mothering a Bodied Curriculum brings theory and practice together into an ever evolving conversation

The Cultivated Landscape Craig Pearson, Judith Nasby, 2008-08-11 By the late twentieth century idyllic depictions of eighteenth century manorial landscapes had become artistic expressions of dislocation Western agricultural paradigms had shifted as had the relationship between art and agriculture The Cultivated Landscape uses over seventy illustrations to look at the development of Western agriculture from feudal times to the present Craig Pearson and Judith Nasby discuss the evolution of how we think about agriculture its use of the land and impact on landscape and how landscape has been portrayed historically in art They also offer a wider discussion on the role that science and economics have played in agricultural development and the parallels to changes in art form The Cultivated Landscape ends with a discussion of the complex issues facing agriculture today the need for greater connectivity between agriculture and our environment and options for the future Sensory Arts and Design Ian Heywood,2020-05-27 Artists designers and researchers are increasingly seeking new ways to understand and explore the creative and practical significance of the senses This ground breaking book brings art and design into the field of sensory studies providing a clear introduction to the field and outlining important developments and new directions A compelling exploration of both theory and practice Sensory Arts and Design brings together a wide variety of examples from contemporary art and design which share a sensory dimension in their development or user experience Divided into three parts the book examines the design applications of new technology with sensing capacities the role of the senses in creating new imaginative environments and the significance of the senses within different cultural practices The thirteen chapters cover a highly diverse range of issues from the urban environment architecture and soundscapes to gustatory art multisensory perception in painting music and drawing and the relationship between vision and smell Initiated by Insight a research group at Lancaster Institute for the Contemporary Arts widely recognised as a center of research excellence the project brings together a team of experts from Britain Europe and North America This timely book is destined to make a significant contribution to the scholarly development of this emerging field An important read for students and scholars in sensory studies design art and visual culture Before Dinner M. Korthals,2008-11-09 This book is an extensive original and systematic treatment of many important philosophical and ethical aspects of food consumption and production May we eat just anything Can we do everything with animals even genetic modification If not how can we regulate those processes so that they lead to optimum animal welfare while at the same time producing optimum taste The production of food also causes environmental pollution does the fight against hunger have priority over the care of the environment The care of the environment animal welfare and the quality of food should be in a certain harmony but that is far from granted and hardly easy to achieve These factors are often in conflict with each other and a balance will thus need to be searched for Other factors to take into consideration are the issue of global famine the care for a farming class that is able to keep its head above water in a decent way and a fair trade system that does not throw up unnecessary barriers for newcomers or small market participants and that promotes good nutrition Famine continues to be a widespread phenomenon that violates human rights causing nearly a billion people to suffer from hunger or malnutrition At the same time deliberate hunger abundance and obesity are prevalent in the Western world Both issues refer to the social and cultural aspects of food Scientific and technological developments like genetic modification and functional food also play an increasingly important role almost every bite that we take is determined by scientific developments An extra difficulty is that scientific information is often contradictory or that it relies on statistical probabilities that are difficult to translate into everyday certitudes All of these factors deserve attention but it is the mix that is most important In the land of food either or does not exist only both and The adequate measure of both and serves as the starting point for this philosophical reflection Before Dinner is a must read for all people interested in contemporary ethical issues of food such as university students and researchers of food agricultural and life sciences as well as policymakers in these fields such as members of professional organisations focusing on food and agriculture f e EURSAFE European Society for Agriculture and Food Ethics the Agriculture Food and Human Values Society USA and European Federation of Biotechnology

Posthumanisms, New Materialisms and Education Jessica Ringrose, Katie Warfield, Shiva Zarabadi, 2020-04-28 This edited collection is a careful assemblage of papers that have contributed to the maturing field within education studies that works with the feminist implications of the theories and methodologies of posthumanism and new materialism what we have also called elsewhere PhEmaterialism The generative questions for this collection are what if we locate education in doing and becoming rather than being And how does associating education with matter multiplicity and relationality change how we think about agency ontology and epistemology This collection foregrounds cutting edge educational research that works to trouble the binaries between theory and methodology It demonstrates new forms of feminist ethics and response ability in research practices and offers some coherence to this new area of research This volume will provide a vital reference text for educational researchers and scholars interested in this burgeoning area of theoretically informed methodology and methodologically informed theory The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in Taylor Francis journals

The Ethnic Restaurateur Krishnendu Ray, 2016-02-11 Academic discussions of ethnic food have tended to focus on the attitudes of consumers rather than the creators and producers In this ground breaking new book Krishnendu Ray reverses this trend by exploring the culinary world from the perspective of the ethnic restaurateur Focusing on New York City he examines the lived experience work memories and aspirations of immigrants working in the food industry He shows how migrants become established in new places creating a taste of home and playing a key role in influencing food cultures as a result of transactions between producers consumers and commentators Based on extensive interviews with immigrant restaurateurs and students chefs and alumni at the Culinary Institute of America ethnographic observation at immigrant eateries and haute institutional kitchens as well as historical sources such as the US census newspaper coverage of restaurants reviews menus recipes and guidebooks Ray reveals changing tastes in a major American city between the late 19th and through the 20th century Written by one of the most outstanding scholars in the field The Ethnic Restaurateur is an essential read for students and academics in food studies culinary arts sociology urban studies and indeed anyone interested in popular culture and cooking in the United States

Food and Language Richard Hosking, 2010 Essays on food and language from the Proceedings of the Oxford Symposium on Food and Cooking 2009 Grammar & Not-grammar Gary Kibbins, 2006 There are two kinds of grammarians those who describe and those who prescribe In the academic world the prescribers are usually viewed as the conservative old guard The descriptarians are usually seen as the activists young bucks who believe the task of grammarians is to map or chart how speakers use their language and note its changes over time

Fuse Magazine, 2003 Feltness Stephanie Springgay, 2022-09-23 Stephanie Springgay's concept of feltness which emerges from affect theory queer and feminist theory and feminist conceptions of more than human entanglements is a set of intimate practices of creating art based on touch affect relationality love and responsibility In this book she explores how feltness is a radical pedagogy that can be practiced with diverse publics including children who are often left out of conversations about who can learn in radical ways Springgay examines the results of a decade long project in which researchers artists students and teachers participated in events in North American elementary secondary and postsecondary institutions In projects that ranged from children learning to be critics and artists to university students experimenting with building a public through art participants blended participatory art creation with academic research to address social justice issues Springgay shows how feltness can redefine who is imagined to be capable of complex feeling experiential learning embodied practice social engagement and intimate care In this way feltness fosters learning that disrupts and defamiliarizes schools and institutions knowledge systems values and the legibility of art and research Cured, Smoked, and

Fermented Helen Saberi, 2011 Essays on cured smoked and fermented foods from the Proceedings of the Oxford Symposium on Food and Cooking 2010 A View from the Bottom Tan Hoang Nguyen, 2014-07-29 A View from the Bottom offers a major critical reassessment of male effeminacy and its racialization in visual culture Examining portrayals of Asian and Asian American men in Hollywood cinema European art film gay pornography and experimental documentary Nguyen Tan Hoang explores the cultural meanings that accrue to sexual positions He shows how cultural fantasies around the position of the sexual bottom overdetermine and refract the meanings of race gender sexuality and nationality in American culture in ways that both enable and constrain Asian masculinity Challenging the association of bottoming with passivity and abjection Nguyen suggests ways of thinking about the bottom position that afford agency and pleasure A more capacious conception of bottomhood as a sexual position a social alliance an affective bond and an aesthetic form has the potential to destabilize sexual gender and racial norms suggesting an ethical mode of relation organized not around dominance and mastery but around the risk of vulnerability and shame Thus reconceived bottomhood as a critical category creates new possibilities for arousal receptiveness and recognition and offers a new framework for analyzing sexual representations in cinema as well as understanding their relation to oppositional political projects
