Digital Footprint 101 Emily Rivers, 2025-09-16 Every post like and share becomes part of a teenager's digital footprint a record that can shape friendships reputations and even future opportunities Yet most teens don't fully understand the permanence of their online actions Parents have a unique role to play guiding their kids to navigate the digital world with clarity and responsibility Digital Footprint 101 is a workshop style guide designed for parents educators and family coaches who want to teach teens about online identity in a structured engaging way This professional resource includes step by step workshop outlines conversation prompts interactive exercises and real world scenarios that make abstract concepts tangible for teens You'll learn how to lead sessions on digital reputation privacy settings and the long term impact of online choices while keeping the tone non judgmental and collaborative With adaptable modules you can use this guide for one on one conversations at home or larger parent teen workshops in schools and communities This isn't about scaring teens into silence it's about empowering them to own their digital story

Humanity's Footprint Walter K Dodds, 2008-02-06 For the first time in history humans have exceeded the sustaining capacity of Earth's global ecosystems Our expanding footprint has tremendous momentum and the insidious explosion of human impact creates a shockwave that threatens ecosystems worldwide for decades possibly centuries Walter K Dodds depicts in clear nontechnical terms the root causes and global environmental effects of human behavior He describes trends in population growth resource use and global environmental impacts of the past two centuries such as greenhouse effects ozone depletion water pollution and species extinctions and introductions Dodds also addresses less familiar developments such as the spread of antibiotic resistant genes in bacteria and the concentration of pesticides in the Arctic and other remote ecosystems He identifies fundamental human activities that have irreversible effects on the environment and draws on recent social science and game theory results to explain why people use more than their share Past behavior indicates that as resources grow scarce humans will escalate their use of what remains instead of managing their consumption Humanity's Footprint paints a lively but ultimately sobering picture of our environmental predicament Dodds calls for a consilient approach to socioenvironmental restoration that draws on new thinking from across disciplines to develop sustainable solutions to global environmental problems

Carbon Footprints as Cultural-Ecological Metaphors Anita Girvan, 2017-10-10 Through an examination of carbon footprint metaphors this book demonstrates the ways in which climate change and other ecological issues are culturally and materially constituted through metaphor The carbon footprint metaphor has achieved a ubiquitous presence in Anglo North American public contexts since the turn of the millennium yet this metaphor remains under examined as a crucial mediator of political responses to the urgent crisis of climate change Existing books and articles on the carbon footprint typically treat this metaphor as a quantifying metric with little attention to the shifting mediations and practices of the carbon footprint as a metaphor This gap echoes a wider gap in understanding metaphors as key figures in mediating more than human relations at a time when such relations profoundly matter As a timely intervention this book addresses this gap by using insights from environmental humanities and political ecology to discuss carbon footprint metaphors in popular and public texts This book will be of great interest to researchers and students of environmental humanities political ecology environmental communication and metaphor studies
