Issues in New Political Economy Stuart Sayer, 2002-01-21 This is the third volume in the series Surveys of Recent Research in Economics The series is intended to help busy academics and practitioners keep abreast of important developments that relate to without necessarily being narrowly focussed on their own more specific interests This particular volume should be of interest to academic economists political scientists and indeed other social scientists as well as practitioners engaged in policy making and implementation The contributions are accessible to advanced undergraduates and provide useful supplementary readings for a wide variety of courses in both Economics and Political Science Public Choice David B. Johnson, 1991 Bristlecone books Includes bibliographical references and index The New Political Capitalism Joe Zammit-Lucia, 2022-02-03 A fascinating insight into the influence that politics has upon business practices and consumer behaviour and the development opportunities that this can provide The New Political Capitalism bridges the gap between the reality of the relationship between business and politics and the lack of familiarity of the business community even at the most senior levels with political thinking The book demonstrates how businesses that develop effective political antennae can enhance their performance in the emerging age of Political Capitalism it challenges the notion that business is or can ever be apolitical and argues that politics the visible reflection of social values and cultural trends shapes the environment in which business operates More and more people are becoming politicised in the sense that they have strong views about how our societies should function and the role that business must play Socio political issues increasingly affect purchasing decisions with the marketplace becoming one way in which citizens express their political identity the rise of what some have called political consumerism Markets themselves are politically constructed and investors increasingly focus on corporations political positions Drawing upon extensive research and case studies this book weaves together socio political trends with business purpose strategy and operations From why businesses exist at all to the importance of diversity and what a company stands for both culturally and politically The New Political Capitalism dissects the new opportunities available for those businesses that can develop effective political antennae The Political Economy of South Africa's Post-apartheid Transition Benjamin Fine, 2025-05-26 South Africa's post apartheid transition has proven disastrous It is marked by the emergence of a black elite of enriched capitalists out of the globalisation neoliberalisation and financialisation of the economy in general and of its Minerals Energy and Financial Complex in particular By contrast inequalities poverty and failing social provision have persisted Recent attention has shifted to how this disastrous trajectory was initiated some suggesting a lack of available alternative policy options at the time of transition This is shown to be false with a full range of progressive alternatives being rejected with corresponding consequences from state capture to electoral defeat

The Political Economy of Policy Reform John Williamson,1994 Policymakers around the world have increasingly agreed that macroeconomic discipline microeconomic liberalization and outward orientation are prerequisites for economic success But what are the political conditions that make economic transformation possible At a conference held at the Institute for International Economics leaders of economic reform recounted their efforts to bring about change and discussed the impact of the political climate on the success of their efforts In this book these leaders explore the political conditions conducive to the success of policy reforms Did economic crisis strengthen the hands of the reformers Was the rapidity with which reforms were instituted crucial Did the reformers have a honeymoon period in which to transform the economy The authors answer these and other questions as well as providing first hand accounts of the politically charged atmosphere surrounding reform efforts in their countries

Structural Adjustment, Global Trade, and the New Political Economy of Development Biplab Dasgupta,1998 The changes in the global economy are so profound this book argues that the world is now confronted with nothing less in both institutional and policy terms than a new political economy of development The author provides an intellectually commanding survey of this new terrain He subjects its economic and ideological assumptions to trenchant critique and shows how the rules of the game primarily reflect the interests of the rich and powerful countries of the North He also surveys the economic performance of the various regions of the South and explores the real reasons for the success of certain Asian economies reasons which run counter to so many of the policy prescriptions laid down by the West for the rest of the South NEW POLITICAL ECONOMY John Milton 1822-1898
