Learning foreign languages: experiences of persons with disabilities and special educational needs and their teachers Ewa Domagala-Zysk, Jitka Sedláčková, Katarzyna Karpińska-Szaj, 2025-09-22 In many parts of the world it is not a person's native language but a foreign one which is used for education work or entertainment This is true for many European countries whose inhabitants need to learn English as a foreign language if they want to participate in education or among diverse fields in the workforce In other parts of the world it might be Spanish Hindi Mandarin Chinese Arabic or other languages which will be serving a similar role This need for learning a second language is understood well in many educational programs including those for students with special educational needs However to date there is not much research of the experiences of persons with diverse additional needs as learners of foreign languages The most robust literature covers the field of additional language acquisition among Deaf and Hard of Hearing DHH people cf Domagala-Zysk and Podlowska-Moritz 2021 and others Goals methods and forms of teaching are fairly well described and DHH students' needs have been documented extensively

Learning Chinese in a Multilingual Space Peiru Tong, Linda Tsung, 2022-05-25 This book examines the benefits of an Australian in-country study ICS in China programme and explores ways to maximise the short-term ICS experience in a multilingual space The book employs an ecological perspective which has seldom been used to examine the study abroad context It emphasises the importance of the space itself as an arena of interaction belonging and power where conduct and modes of communication are often regulated by political authorities and societal expectations Specifically the book focuses on the following: the extent to which the ICS facilitated interaction in different settings; the way in which interaction during ICS contributed to language learning; the degree in which the interaction during ICS contributed to culture learning; and the role of identity in the learning process in the ICS The main argument of the book is that while the ICS promoted multilingual learning space for in-class and out-of-class interactions which further facilitated language and culture learning to a great extent Australian students' identities and self-concepts also played a core mediating role throughout individual learning trajectories

Educational Development in Western China John Chi-kin Lee, Zeyuan Yu, Xianhan Huang, Edmond Hau-Fai Law, 2016-03-22 In 2000 the Western Development plan of the Chinese Mainland attracted attention of educators and policy makers Around that period the Chinese government also launched large-scale and systemic curriculum reforms in basic education and secondary education in achieving quality education across the vast country Despite significant progress that has been made in educational investments and attainments in China issues of quality and regional disparities across China remain especially in the less developed western part of China where the significance of ethnic diversity urban-rural disparity and variations in school development exists In addition there have been entrenched problems of teacher and teaching quality resources inadequacy and left behind children Written by a group of Chinese and international scholars the book provides an updated analysis and discussion of educational development and related issues in the less developed part of Western China These chapters cover broad contextual issues of educational development and reforms issues of quality and equality in different sectors of education as well as curriculum implementation teaching innovations and professional development of teachers Resources in Education ,1982-04
