For All Generations Making World Agriculture More Sustainable:

For All Generations J. Patrick Madden, Scott G. Chaplowe, 1996 The public has begun to challenge the wisdom of industrialized farming systems that promise short term gains but yield long term destruction deplete and ruin natural resources and threaten the health of both the people and their ecosystems Donors and government officials are turning more often to non governmental organizations NGOs and innovative farmers in efforts to develop and encourage adoption of more sustainable farming methods Successful efforts are highlighted and persistent barriers are explored Part 1 includes 13 chapters on topics such as Expanding the vision of sustainable agriculture Farmer centered development Overcoming hunger and food insecurity Urban agriculture Public policies promoting sustainable agriculture Community Supported Agriculture Dominance by transnational corporations The increasing role of NGOs Can organic agriculture feed the world Amazon com edit desc Sharing the Harvest Elizabeth Henderson, Robyn Van En, 2007-11-01 To an increasing number of American families the CSA community supported agriculture is the answer to the globalization of our food supply The premise is simple create a partnership between local farmers and nearby consumers who become members or subscribers in support of the farm In exchange for paying in advance at the beginning of the growing season when the farm needs financing CSA members receive the freshest healthiest produce throughout the season and keep money jobs and farms in their own community In this thoroughly revised and expanded edition of a Chelsea Green classic authors Henderson and Van En provide new insight into making CSA not only a viable economic model but the right choice for food lovers and farmers alike Thinking and buying local is quickly moving from a novel idea to a mainstream activity The groundbreaking first edition helped spark a movement and with this revised edition Sharing the Harvest is poised to lead the way toward a revitalized agriculture Vegetables and Fruits: A Guide to Heirloom Varieties and Community-Based Stewardship. Volume 2, Resource Organizations, Special Reference Briefs Series No. SRB 98-06, September 1998, 1998 Vegetables and Fruits: Resource organization, 1998 Vanishing Borders Hilary French, 2013-11-05 National governments are ill equipped for tackling transnational environmental problems from ozone depletion to soaring trade in commodities like timber and shrimp As these issues climb higher on the political agenda industrial and developing countries are on a collision course over climate change and water shortages Goods money microbes pollution people and ideas are crossing global boundaries evermore frequently The implications for our future and for the health of the planet are profound This text describes what we need to do to cope with the challenge African Gender Studies Oyeronke Oyewumi, 2016-09-27 This is the first comprehensive reader that brings African experiences to bear on the ongoing global discussions of women gender and society Bringing together the essential writing on this topic from the last 25 years these essays discuss gender in Africa from a multi disciplinary perspective Vegetables and Fruits, 1998 Special Reference Briefs, 1983 Remaking the North American Food System C. Clare Hinrichs, Thomas A. Lyson, 2007 Examines the resurgence of interest in rebuilding the links between agricultural production and food consumption With examples from Puerto Rico to Oregon to Quebec this work offers a North American perspective attuned to trends toward globalization at the level of markets and governance and shows how globalization affects specific localities Using the Agricultural, Environmental, and Food Literature Barbara S. Hutchinson,Antoinette Paris-Greider,2002-07-17 This text discusses a wide range of print and electronic media to locate hard to find documents navigate poorly indexed subjects and investigate specific research topics and subcategories It includes a chapter on grey and extension literature covering technical reports and international issues Food Security and Environmental Quality in the Developing World Rattan Lal,David O. Hansen,Norman Uphoff,2016-04-19 Can developing countries meet the food requirements of their growing populations without jeopardizing a natural resource base that is already under great stress Can increases in food production achieved in the past two decades be sustained in the next two decades Can developing countries achieve freedom from hunger and malnutrition Cultivating an Ecological Conscience Frederick L. Kirschenmann,2010-04-14 A superb collection of essays one of the wisest sanest most practical and most trusted voices in the movement to reform the American food system Michael Pollan 1 New York Times bestselling author of This is Your Mind on Plants Theologian academic and third generation organic farmer Frederick L Kirschenmann is a celebrated agricultural thinker who has tirelessly promoted the principles of sustainability for three decades Cultivating an Ecological Conscience documents Kirschenmann s evolution and his lifelong contributions to the new agrarianism in a collection of his greatest writings on farming philosophy and sustainability Working closely with agricultural economist and editor Constance L Falk Kirschenmann recounts his intellectual and spiritual journey In a unique blend of personal history philosophical discourse spiritual ruminations and practical advice Kirschenmann interweaves his insights with discussion of contemporary agrarian topics This collection serves as an invaluable resource to agrarian scholars and introduces readers to an agricultural pioneer whose work has profoundly influenced modern thinking about food We re past the moment when agriculture was something we could forget about in a warming world there s no more crucial topic and here s the short course in how to think about it Bill McKibben author of Falter Genetically Altered Foods and Your Health Ken Roseboro,2004 This book examines how genetic engineering is radically changing our food at great risk to human health and the environment Why are scientists genetically altering foods Are they safe Why arent genetically engineered foods labelled as such Author Ken Roseboro addresses these and other issues concerning genetically altered foods and explains why organic foods are practical and safe alternatives to this risky technology International Law and Agroecological Husbandry John W. Head,2016-11-25 Remarkable advances are being made in life science and agricultural research to reform the methods of food production particularly with regard to staple grain and legume crops in ways that will better reflect ecological realities However advances in science may be insufficient to ensure that these possibilities for agricultural reform are realized in practice and in a sustainable way This book shows how these can only be achieved through changes in legal norms and institutions at the global level Interdisciplinary in character the book draws from a range of issues involving agricultural innovation international legal history and principles treaty commitments global institutions and environmental challenges such as climate change to propose broad legal changes for transforming global agriculture It first shows how modern extractive agriculture is unsustainable on economic environmental and social grounds It then examines the potential for natural systems agriculture especially perennial polyculture systems for overcoming the deficiencies of modern extractive agriculture especially to offset climate change Finally it analyses closely the legal innovations that can be adopted at national and international levels to facilitate a transition from modern extractive agriculture to a system based more on ecological principles In particular the author argues for the creation of a Global Convention on Agroecology

Seeds of the Kingdom Anna L. Peterson, 2005-11-17 In these skeptical and disillusioned times there are still groups of people scattered throughout the world who are trying to live out utopian dreams These communities challenge the inevitability and morality of dominant political and economic models By putting utopian religious ethics into practice they attest to the real possibility of social alternatives In Seeds of the Kingdom Anna L Peterson reflects on the experiences of two very different communities one inhabited by impoverished former refugees in the mountains of El Salvador and the other by Amish farmers in the Midwestern U S What makes these groups stand out among advocates of environmental protection political justice and sustainable development is their religious orientation They aim without apology to embody the reign of God on earth The Salvadoran community is grounded in Roman Catholic social thought while the Amish adhere to Anabaptist tradition Peterson offers a detailed portrait of these communities history social organization religious life environmental values and agricultural practices She discovers both practical and ideological commonalities in these two comparatively successful and sustainable communities including a strong collective identity deep attachment to local landscapes a desire to preserve non human as well as human lives and perhaps unexpectedly a utopian horizon that provides both goals and the hope of reaching them By examining the process by which people struggle to live according to a transcendent value system she sheds light on both the actual and the potential place of religion in public life Peterson argues that the Amish and Salvadoran communities geographically and culturally removed from the industrialized West have relevance for the political and environmental problems of the developed world These communities have succeeded in the face of significant internal and external challenges offering important practical and theoretical lessons on how to achieve ecological sustainability and social justice in the wider world

Administering and Managing the U.S. Food System A. Bryce Hoflund, John C. Jones, Michelle C. Pautz, 2021-06-11 Food and the systems that produce disrupt prepare it are central to all human life Yet scholarly analysis of the food systems that support human life are highly fragmented across a variety of disciplines Public administration with its focus on the doing of public policy would seem to be a logical home for analysis of food systems in action However food is largely ignored by public administration scholars and scholars from other disciplines can unintentionally draw up established public administration literature The chapters in this edited volume highlight where the lenses and languages of public administration can and should be used to analyze food systems Viewed collectively the editors argue that the lenses and languages of public administration can and should become a common ground for scholars and practitioners to discuss food systems
