For Love Of Matter A Contemporary Panpsychism Suny Series In Environmental Philosophy And Ethics:

For Love of Matter Freya Mathews, 2012-02-01 In For Love of Matter Freya Mathews challenges basic assumptions of Western science modern philosophy and environmental philosophy arguing that the environmental crisis is a symptom of a larger metaphysical crisis Western science rests on the premise that the world is an inert backdrop to human presence rather than a communicative presence in its own right one capable of dialogical congress with us Mathews explores the transformative effects of a substitution of the latter panpsychist premise for the former materialist one She suggests that to exist in a dialogical modality is to enter an expanded realm of eros in which the self and world are mutually kindled into a larger more incandescent state of realization She argues that any adequate philosophical response to the so called environmental crisis cannot be encompassed within the minor discipline of environmental philosophy but must instead address the full range of existential questions

Journeying and Journalling Giselle Bastin, 2010 In December 2004 the town of Penneshaw Kangaroo Island provided the backdrop for an international conference titled Journeying and Journalling The conference created a space for creative and critical meditations on travel writing Collectively the essays in this collection provide a snapshot of current directions and preoccupations in contemporary travel writing scholarship They function as a reminder of the work that has been done on representations of Indigeneity and of writing marginalised narratives into the travel canon However these chapters also remind us of the important work that remains particularly in relation to travel writing as form of reconciliation for example between Indigenous people and colonisers and between colonisers and neo colonials Scholars also bear the responsibility of considering the complexities of representing culture and place in a post colonial even post traumatic world This collection includes essays by Tim Youngs Helen Tiffin and Paul Sharrad and many other leading writers in the field of travel writing

Reinhabiting Reality Freya Mathews, 2005-02-03 Argues that the environmental crisis is symptomatic of much deeper crises in modern civilization

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003-04

Reinhabiting Reality Freya Mathews, 2012-02-01 In this sequel to For Love of Matter A Contemporary Panpsychism also published by SUNY Press Freya Mathews argues that replacing the materialist premise of modern civilization with a panpsychist one transforms the entire fabric of culture in profound ways She claims that the environmental crisis is a symptom of deeper issues facing modern civilization arising from the loss of the very meaning of culture To come to grips with this crisis requires a change in the metaphysical premise of modernity deeper than any as yet envisaged even by the radical ecology movement This is a change with profound implications for the full range of existential questions and not merely for questions regarding our relationship with nature

Theology, Science and Life Carmody Grey, 2023-01-26 Offering a bold intervention in the ongoing debate about the relationship between theology and science Theology Science and Life proposes that the strong demarcation between the two spheres is unsustainable theology occurs within and not outside what we call science and science occurs within and not outside theology The book applies this in a penetrating way to the most topical contentious and philosophically charged science of late modernity biology Rejecting the easy dualism of expressions such as theology and science theology or science modern biology is examined so as to illuminate the nature of both In making this argument the book achieves two further things It is the first major English language reception and application of the thought of philosopher Hans Jonas in theology and it makes a decisive contribution to the unfolding reception of Radical Orthodoxy one of the most influential schools in contemporary Anglophone theology Hans Jonas's Ethic of Responsibility Theresa Morris,2013-11-01 Despite his tremendous impact on the German Green Party and the influence of his work on contemporary debates about stem cell research in the United States Hans Jonas's 1903-1993 philosophical contributions have remained partially obscured In particular the ontological grounding he gives his ethics based on a phenomenological engagement with biology to bridge the is-ought gap has not been fully appreciated Theresa Morris provides a comprehensive overview and analysis of Jonas's philosophy that reveals the thread that runs through all of his thought including his work on the philosophy of biology ethics the philosophy of technology and bioethics She places Jonas's philosophy in context comparing his ideas to those of other ethical and environmental philosophers and demonstrating the relevance of his thought for our current ethical and environmental problems Crafting strong supporting arguments for Jonas's insightful view of ethics as a matter of both reason and emotion Morris convincingly lays out his account of the basis of our responsibilities not only to the biosphere but also to current and future generations of beings SUNY Series in Environmental Philosophy and Ethics,20?? A World Not Made for Us Keith R. Peterson,2020-09-01 In A World Not Made for Us Keith R Peterson provides a broad reassessment of the field of environmental philosophy taking a fresh and critical look at three classical problems of environmentalism the intrinsic value of nature the need for an ecological worldview and a new conception of the place of humankind in nature He makes the case that a genuinely critical environmental philosophy must adopt an ecological materialist conception of the human a pluralistic value theory that emphasizes the need for value prioritization and a stratified categorical ontology that affirms the basic principle of human asymmetrical dependence on more than human nature Integrating environmental ethics with the latest work in political ecology Peterson argues it is important to understand that the world is not made for us and that coming to terms with this fact is a condition for survival in future human and more than human communities of liberation and solidarity Value, Beauty, and Nature Brian G. Henning,2023-12-01 Much of early environmental ethics was born out of the belief that the ecological crisis can only truly be solved by overcoming a pernicious worldview that limits all intrinsic value to human beings Returning to this originating impulse Value Beauty and Nature contends that to make progress within environmental ethics philosophers must explicitly engage in environmental metaphysics Grounded in an organicist process worldview Brian G Henning shows that it is possible to make progress in key debates within environmental philosophy including those concerning the nature of intrinsic value anthropocentrism hierarchy

the moral significance of beauty the nature of individuality teleology and the naturalistic fallacy and worldview reconstruction A Whiteheadian fallibilistic naturalistic event ontology allows for the recovery of systematic speculative metaphysical thought without a revanchist movement toward a necessitarian philosophia perennis Thus in contrast to the claims of environmental pragmatists Value Beauty and Nature demonstrates that environmental ethics would greatly benefit from an adequate metaphysical foundation and of the candidate metaphysical systems Alfred North Whitehead s philosophy of organism is the most adequate The Incomplete Eco-Philosopher Anthony Weston,2009-01-15 Collected essays present Weston s pragmatic environmental philosophy calling for reconstruction and imagination rather than deconstruction and analysis Environmental Philosophy Christopher Belshaw,2014-12-18 This introduction to the philosophy of the environment examines current debates on how we should think about the natural world and our place within it The subject is examined from a determinedly analytic philosophical perspective focusing on questions of value but taking in attendant issues in epistemology and metaphysics as well The book begins by considering the nature extent and origin of the environmental problems with which we need to be concerned Chapters go on to consider familiar strategies for dealing with environmental problems and then consider what sort of things are of direct moral concern examining in turn at animals non sentient life forms natural but non living things and deep ecology The final part of the book investigates notions of value natural beauty and the place of human beings in the scheme of things A Companion to Environmental Philosophy Dale Jamieson,2003 This is a pioneering work in the burgeoning field of environmental philosophy This ground breaking volume contains original articles written by international scholars exemplifying the rich diversity of scholarship in this field Traces the roots of environmental philosophy through the exploration of cultural traditions from around the world Brings environmental philosophy into conversation with other fields and disciplines such as literature economics ecology and law Discusses environmental problems that stimulate current debates Companion To Environmental Philosophy Dale Jamieson,2003-02-01 NULL Eco-Phenomenology Charles S. Brown,Ted Toadvine,2012-02-01 This groundbreaking collection explores the intersection of phenomenology with environmental philosophy It examines the relevance of Husserl Heidegger Merleau Ponty and Levinas for thinking through the philosophical dilemmas raised by environmental issues and then proposes new phenomenological approaches to the natural world The contributors demonstrate phenomenology s need to engage in an ecological self evaluation and to root out anthropomorphic assumptions embedded in its own methodology Calling for a reexamination of beliefs central to the Western philosophical tradition this book shifts previously marginalized environmental concerns to the forefront and blazes a trail for a new collaboration between phenomenologists and ecologically minded theorists Nature, Value, Duty Christopher J. Preston,Wayne Ouderkirk,2009-09-03 This is a collection of contemporary writings on the work of Holmes Rolston III The authors contributing to this volume are a mixture of senior scholars in environmental ethics and new voices in philosophy and in literature Together they provide an in depth evaluation of many of the topics discussed by Rolston Rolston himself in a detailed reply to each of his critics at the end of the volume reveals where some of these criticisms sting him the most An Invitation to Environmental Philosophy Anthony Weston, David Abram, 1999 This short accessible and provocative work is a perfect invitation to the burgeoning field of environmental ethics It motivates the basic questions tells compelling stories and offers a range of philosophical responses not as antagonists but as complementary exploratory strategies central to this growing topic The book is built around five individually authored chapters each a unique contribution by a major author in the field Responding to readers actual questions and concerns An Invitation to Environmental Philosophy offers a compelling and intriguing gateway into the field
